Founders unveil plans for Legacy Community Center

By Randy Keck
The Community News

For three east Parker County stakeholders, a long-time dream is becoming a reality. On Tuesday, Feb. 15, Mary Jean (MJ) Bentley, along with co-founders Mike and Megan Howell, announced the acquisition of property and facilities for the Legacy Community Center near Annetta on Tuesday, Feb. 15.

During a packed-house presentation at Lynch Legacy Real Estate in Willow Park, the three co-founders of the center laid out their plans, describing what the center is and why it is needed.

"When we say the legacy center, a lot of people don't understand what that is, and there's a reason for that. It's because this hasn't ever been done before," Megan Howell said. "In short, the legacy center is going to be a family recreation center, but we're going to be focusing on leadership and character development. So this isn't a daycare. It's not a drop-off center. This is a place where families can come together, spend some time, create some memories through creativity classes, life skills classes. Our messaging is going to be very intentional. So an easy way to think of it might be a leadership school disguised as a recreation center."

ALEDO

Suspected car thief jailed

Fort worth man also a suspect in vehicle burglaries

From the Parker County Sheriff's Dept.

Parker County Sheriff's deputies arrested a man Tuesday following a stolen vehicle/pursuit investigation in eastern Parker County.

Parker County Sheriff Russ Authier said the incident began when a 2014 Jeep Cherokee was reported stolen in 300-Block of Aspen Court West in Aledo around 8 a.m.

The victim's spouse posted a photograph of the stolen vehicle on a social media neighborhood page.

Several Aledo residents who had observed the Jeep in the area began commenting on the post. One witness saw the vehicle in 100-Block of Ranch Hand Lane off of south FM5 with the suspect in the driver's seat and reported it to the Sheriff's Office.

When the suspect saw Sheriff's deputies, he immediately fled the scene eastbound, driving recklessly through residential yards and damaging property on Ranch Meadow Court. The suspect abandoned the vehicle in the 200-Block of East Terrace Court and fled on foot and was able to evade deputies.

A Tip411 alert was distributed, advising citizens the sheriff's office was looking for a suspect in the area and to contact authorities if the suspect was seen.

The alert described the suspect as an unknown male wearing blue jeans, a blue zipper, hooded jacket, white tennis shoes, and having a foreign accent.

As a precautionary measure, Stuard Elementary School was temporarily placed on "secure mode," due to the school being located about three miles away from the incident.

As sheriff's deputies were canvassing the area, they responded to a prowler call in the 1000-Block of South FM 5, advising an individual matching the suspect's description was seen peering through the window of a residence and was last seen running south toward FM 5. Sheriff's deputies located the suspect hiding behind a vehicle parked at a residence near the entrance of the housing addition. The suspect fled east on foot from deputies, jumping four fences and into a coastal field in the 900-Block of South FM 5 where he was apprehended. He was booked into the Parker County Jail and identified as Johnny Preston Smith III, 37, of Fort Worth.

Smith was arrested on charges of felony theft, felony evading with

Where Commissions become Donations

Lori Fowler was living a completely satisfied life as a tenured college professor working alongside the college president when there was a “knock at the door.”

“God kind of plucked me out of my role and said, ‘You’re not doing this anymore,’” Fowler said.

She was teaching a class and the students were challenging her — something she once enjoyed — but it wasn’t working for her this time. She gave in, and immediately thought “oh, no, something changed.”

“I went to the college president that day and I said, ‘I think I have to go, I don’t care anymore. I think my time here is done. And it’s time for me to go.’”

Fowler’s dad had been a real estate broker since 1971, and she had received her license before she quit teaching.

“And in the interim, I had built so much relationship, teaching sociology with nonprofit, that I wanted to continue that and I didn’t really know how to bridge nonprofit with real estate,” Fowler said.

So she formed Charitable Realty, based on the idea that when a person closes on a transaction, they get to choose a charity. And Charitable Realty donates a portion of their commission to that charity.

To date they have given away more than $605,000 to everything from Parker County Center of Hope and A Wish With Wings to animal shelters, Cook Children’s Hospital, Alzheimer’s Association, and many more.

“We’ve given to every dog breed organization you can imagine, we’ve given overseas, given to several churches, we give a lot to the local Aledo community,” Fowler said. “We’re big supporters of Cook Children’s Hospital, we’re partners with Habitat for Humanity and Ronald McDonald House. Just this week, we gave to the Pyrenees rescue and Cook Children’s Hospital.”

Fowler said the average real estate transaction is $250,000, so it takes a lot of contributions to a lot of organizations to reach the $605,000 level.

“It’s been super rewarding,” Fowler said. “Tithing back to the community is what we say that we’re doing.”

Charitable Realty has grown to 37 realtors, and now has realtors in Midland-Odessa, an office in Amarillo, and now a reach in Austin in addition to an office in Aledo. There are ten more agents about to sign on with Charitable Realty as well.

“One thing that we do differently is for new realtors, we train them through a mentor program, which is quite a big draw.” Fowler said. “We assign them a mentor who trains them on everything they need to know. And they can go through a track all the way through brokership. We try to help them so they can not only be a really good realtor with lots of experience, but have a lot of support. They can also become a broker and expand the Charitable Realty reach. We have two other associate brokers on the staff, we have an appraiser and we have an inspector on the team.”

The team members truly operate as a family in addition to taking part in quarterly fun events and volunteering in the community. And a glance at their reviews shows numerous happy customers.

For more information about Charitable Realty, call 817-825-8293, visit their office at 405 S. FM 1187 in Aledo, or visit CharitableRealty.org.

a vehicle, felony evading (on foot) with a previous conviction, misdemeanor criminal mischief and an outstanding warrant for burglary of a habitation issued out of Fort Worth.

As of Wednesday, he remained in custody at the Parker County Jail. His bond has not been set.

Parker and Tarrant County investigators were able to link Smith to several vehicle burglaries in Tarrant County. An additional stolen vehicle from Tarrant County was recovered on Aspen Court West. It is believed Smith stole that vehicle and abandoned it before stealing the Jeep Cherokee.

Sheriff Authier said the case is ongoing and additional charges are pending.

Parker County man dies fleeing deputies

A Parker County man died early Tuesday, Feb. 15, while fleeing from a Parker County Sheriff's deputy during a brief high-speed pursuit.

The suspect was operating a 2004 blue and white Suzuki motorcycle while a deputy was conducting speed enforcement operations on FM 920 around 1 a.m.

Sheriff's reports show the pursuit lasted about two minutes. The sheriff's deputy observed the suspect traveling north at a high rate of speed and passed the deputy traveling in excess of 100 miles-per-hour.

Once the deputy caught up to the driver, the suspect turned around in the 6300-block of FM 920, heading southbound. The driver increased his speed estimated between 130 to 140 miles-per-hour in an attempt to evade the deputy.

The driver then turned north onto Johnson Bend Road. As the deputy neared the location, he observed the motorcycle had crashed into a telephone pole, forcing the driver to be thrown from the motorcycle.

Emergency paramedics were summoned to the crash, but the driver was pronounced deceased at the scene.

The Texas Department of Public Safety is conducting the crash investigation. Sheriff Russ Authier said the suspect is not being publicly identified at this time pending next-of-kin notification.

film "Gallows Road" in Aledo a few years ago, explained her participation in the Legacy Community Center project.

"I have a passion, a passion to serve others," Bentley said. "Why are we doing all of this? Because we have kids. But we also see the need to pour into the kids and families, as we are one big community. And together we can accomplish great things. We see the world our kids are growing up in and we look ahead and know that we need to step in and do some heavy lifting in order to create leaders and to raise them in a way that can positively impact the next generation."

Bentley hosts a group of middle-school-aged girls at her home every Wednesday for Bible study and conversation. She described a recent incident that moved her deeply.

"Just the other day a girl was struggling. We were listening. I immediately asked an open-ended question and then realized I needed to address the entire group with an honest but tough question. 13 of my 15 girls sitting in my living room raised their hands when I asked if they had ever thought about taking their lives - 13 out of 15. It broke my heart, but it made me realize they just want to be heard."

Bentley pointed to anxiety, entitlement, identity issues, depression, rage, rejection, and rebellion as issues that arise out of "the breakdown of a healthy family unit and ultimately, from the breakdown of our community."

Bentley then introduced Brad Hunstable, whose 12-year-old son Hayden committed suicide about two years ago.

"As part of the grieving process, Brad has poured his heart into raising awareness about suicide. We produced a film called 'Almost 13' — I encourage parents to watch this. It actually won the silver Telly Award and we weren't even going for that," Bentley said.

A Changed World

"The world has changed so much since we were kids," Hunstable said. "There's more broken families out there. There's less people going to church. The country is more divided certainly in my lifetime than it's ever been. There's this pandemic that has raised the anxiety in the entire world to a height that, certainly again in my generation, I've never seen and my fear is we've started millions of kids down a path of bad decisions that ultimately lead to more pain."

Hunstable said that while teaching core curriculum is a good thing, "we forgot the most fundamental thing about life is to teach them how to live — how to be good people, how to think positive, how to be mindful."

While some children receive that training from teachers, coaches, churches, and parents, Hunstable said his experience in the mental health arena tells him many children do not.

"And my fear is we're going to lose a generation," Hunstable said.

Hunstable spoke of Aledo as being "title town" in football and academics.

"I would argue and submit to you the best thing we can be tittletown on is to make great human beings; human beings that spread positivity, that are that are good people that spread hope in the world, that spread kindness."

LEFT: Brad Hunstable spoke emotionally about the issues young people are facing. | RIGHT: MJ Bentley and Megan Howell described the programs they plan for the Legacy Community Center.

RANDY KECK/THE COMMUNITY NEWS

Hunstable said another challenge youth and adults have today is the cell phone.

"We didn't have social media — it wasn't even a thing when we were kids. When you get bullied on social media, I promise you, it hurts just as bad as being bullied to your face. And, I might even argue, it's even worse. It sits there and lasts and it goes viral."

Hunstable said constant stimulus from, for example, funny videos on social media causes spikes in dopamine levels, which then sends baseline dopamine levels down.

"You know what that looks like? It looks like depression, and anxiety, and ADHD, and impulsiveness. And so what do we do? We take our kids to the doctor, and we give them pharmaceuticals."

"Suicide is the second leading cause of death of 10 to 14-year-olds. Of 15 to 24-year-olds, of 25 to 34-year-olds in the greatest country in the world. How's that acceptable?" Hunstable asked.

He said youth suicide typically breaks down into two categories. About 50% had a previous medical diagnosis and 50% did not have a previous mental health diagnosis.

"And when we look at broadly used suicide, 55% of them are impulsive. How scary is that?" Hunstable said. "When in the last hour, or 45% of them in the last five minutes, decide to kill themselves. And when you look at what they're facing, the backdrop of the algorithms and social media and gaming, combined with maybe a bad household, parents that are struggling or they're seeing drugs or whatever it may be. And then you get a trigger."

"My fear is that we're gonna lose a generation of people, and this is why the Legacy Center is so important," Hunstable added. "Because it's through that we're going to create human beings that can solve these — we're gonna give them the tools to solve this."

Exercises

Mike Howell described the purpose of activities at the Legacy Community Center.

"Hurting people hurt people," he said. "Hurting kids hurt themselves. They hurt other people. They grow up to be hurting adults. [Do you] know what hurting adults do? They hurt other people. There are answers to these questions. Because healthy people help people, right? Healthy people help other people get better, serve other people.

“Kids will do anything if it’s fun, right? They’ll do anything if they’re having fun doing it. That’s why kids quit youth sports is when they stop becoming fun.”

Using that principle, Mike Howell gave an example of the type of activity-based learning that will be used at the center using archery.

In archery, he said, the target can be described as a goal. “We’re going to teach kids how to create steps to achieve goals. What do I need to have if I want to penetrate that goal? I’ve got to have sharp arrows. That’s a plan of attack to accomplish those steps you just created,” he said.

The tension of pulling back on the bowstring can be likened to obstacles that happen in life.

“But what’s awesome is teaching someone to overcome obstacles. That’s called resilience,” he added.

Additional team-building and esteem-building exercises were demonstrated and then the property where the center will be located was revealed.

“We are currently under contract on an amazing 23-acre retreat style property located here in Parker County,” Bentley told the group, describing the location which is south of Old Annetta Road just after the bend south of Clear Fork Materials.

“We are hoping to close near the end of March and begin to fill our calendar of events over the summer months,” Bentley added.

Physical structures are already in place that will allow the property to be utilized quickly.

“The reason this property is awesome is because we have unlimited outdoor possibilities,” Megan Howell said. “So we can have outdoor fitness, large group gatherings, birthday parties, even weddings, there’s roping arenas and facilities for animals.”

Besides stables and stalls, there is a 2,600-square-foot, three-bedroom house on the property. The bedrooms will be re-purposed, but the kitchen will remain as a teaching area.

There is also an additional smaller home on the property that the public can use.

“The views are inspiring, the atmosphere is relaxing, and we are so excited to have a refreshing outdoor space,” Bentley said. “In all of our planning, we always envisioned a warm environment and a welcoming entry. The phrase ‘make yourself at home’ will be relevant and repeated daily. By the way, the property comes with all the furniture. This is a gift from God. This is a place that can become the heart and hub of the community where families gather to use the village around them to help raise their kids, where birthday parties and showers and precious moments are hosted, where the community gathers in preparation for victories and celebrations when they are accomplished.”

All were excited about the full, wrap-around porch on the main house.

What’s needed

Bentley asked the group of community leaders at the unveiling to “spread the word.” Endeavors of this scale need more than funding, however.

SPECIAL TO THE COMMUNITY NEWS

The 30-acre property includes a 2,600 square foot house, stables, a livestock area, fishing pond, and space for numerous outdoor activities.

“We need local people to volunteer their time to mentor, businessmen and women, parents, anyone with a talent for a special skill set to come teach a life skill or creative class that they enjoy,” Bentley said.

There are opportunities for becoming a founding member, naming some facilities, and permanent sponsorships.

Mail-in ballot applications rejected at high rate

Gary Borders
gborders@texaspress.com

Mail-in ballot applications for the March 1 primary are being rejected by almost 40% — largely because of a missing ID number, which is now required after a new voting bill passed the Legislature last year.

The Houston Chronicle reported that nearly four in 10 Harris County mail ballot applications had been rejected as of last week. Early voting began Feb. 14, and the deadline for mail ballot requests is Feb. 18.

Other counties across Texas also reported high rejection rates, including Travis, Williamson, Hays and Bastrop counties, the Austin American-Statesman reported. Those seeking to vote by mail must include a driver's license number, a state ID number, or in some cases the last four digits of their Social Security number. If what the applicant provides doesn't match the applicant's individual voter registration information, the application must be rejected.

Texas has one of the strictest vote-by-mail requirements in the country. Registered voters are eligible to vote by mail if they are 65 years or older; sick or disabled; out of the county on election day and during the early voting period; expected to give birth within three weeks before or after election day; or confined in jail but otherwise eligible.

Early voting continues through Feb. 25.

Drought conditions improve slightly

The latest drought map for the state shows a slight improvement as of Feb. 1, with 84% of the state experiencing some level of drought, down three percentage points from the previous month. Dr. Mark Wentzel, hydrologist with the Texas Water Development Board, said there were some improvements in the last month, mainly in East Texas. Additional rainfall in early February, mainly in East Texas and Central Texas, should improve conditions by the next report in March.

Wide swaths of the Panhandle and the Great Plains are experiencing the worst drought conditions.

Power generators under increased scrutiny

During early February's winter storm, the state's electrical grid withstood increased demand, with few outages reported. Regulators are crediting increased inspections by the Electric Reliability Council of Texas during December.

The Dallas Morning News reports ERCOT inspected 324 generators and transmission systems in December; the Public Utility Commission handed down $7.5 million in fines for companies not filing weatherization plans by the deadline.

"We've been working for the last year to make sure that this grid is more reliable than it ever has been in the past — and it is," interim ERCOT CEO Brad Jones said a few days before snow and sleet hit.

In addition to increased inspections, legislation passed last regular session required power generators to winterize their plants. Additionally, alternate fuel sources are required if natural gas isn't available. While this year's storm wasn't nearly as severe as Winter Storm Uri in 2021, thus far the grid has stood up to increased demand.

The state's largest power generator, Vistra, is spending up to $80 million to ensure its plants keep generating electricity despite whatever Mother Nature throws at them, The Morning News reported.

Texas top exporting state for 20th year

Data released last week by the U.S. Census Bureau showed Texas as the top exporting state in the nation for the 20th consecutive year. The state exported $375.3 billion in goods last year, more than California and New York combined. The state also led the nation in tech exports for the ninth year in a row.

"Made in Texas is a powerful global brand, and the Lone Star State continues to dominate the nation in exports, thanks to our unrivaled and productive workforce, robust infrastructure and welcoming business environment," Gov. Greg Abbott said.

Funding available for clean school bus program

An estimated $13 million in grant funding is available under the Texas Clean School Bus Program to replace or retrofit school buses to reduce exposure to their diesel exhaust. The Texas Commission on Environmental Quality is accepting applications from school districts statewide.

Grants are given on a first-come, first-served basis. Districts can be reimbursed for all of the costs to retrofit buses, or 80% of the costs to replace older buses with newer, cleaner models, according to TCEQ.

Only buses used daily are eligible. While the deadline is in October, funding typically runs out when enough applications are received. More information can be found at www.terpgrants.org.

COVID-19 cases continue to drop sharply

It is beginning to look as if the omicron variant of COVID-19 really has peaked, with new cases in the state during the past week dropping to 109,990, according to the Coronavirus Resource Center at Johns Hopkins University. That's a decrease of 75% in the past month, while new deaths at 1,398 were essentially unchanged.

The Texas Department of State Health Services reported a total of 8,140 COVID-19 hospitalizations, down 23.6% from the previous week. The number of Texans who are fully vaccinated topped 17 million, or 58.6% of the state's population. Just more than 6 million Texans have also received a booster dose, which has proven effective in preventing more serious symptoms from the omicron variant, researchers say.

Supports Suchocki

I have known Bernard for over 15 years. We both served on the Willow Park Planning & Zoning Committee. I know him to be a man who cares deeply about this community and listens to the people.

He has the most admirable background, i.e., training astronauts at NASA, Board Certified Trial Attorney, B.S. Degree in Physics/Math, Doctor of Jurisprudence and much more. We know we can trust him as Justice of the Peace to assure safety and security for us and our families at home, at work or our children in school. He has a solid Christian foundation and is a strict constructionist of the Constitution...always committed to the Rule of Law. Bernard is the best qualified for this position and he has my vote and I hope yours.

Supports Suchocki

My name is Robbye Penrod and I have lived in Parker County for over 40 years. I wanted to let my fellow Parker County Residents know about my knowledge and experience with Mr. Bernard Suchocki who is running for Judge in Precinct 4, where I currently reside.

I unfortunately was involved in a serious automobile accident a few years ago and hired a local attorney to handle my case. After several months of inaction, I fired that attorney and hired Mr. Suchocki who immediately took control, initiated discovery, took depositions and got me the policy limits on two insurance policies. Mr. Suchocki went above and beyond for me and my family.

He is honest, trustworthy, and truly one of the smartest people I know. His character is beyond reproach.

I believe Mr. Suchocki will make an excellent, fair judge for the people of Parker County and endorse him 100%.

Get Involved

I received a mailer last night and received phone calls yesterday all about some negative advertising for the upcoming Primary. As for me, I really don't like the half-truths and attacks. I want to hear what they are going to do if elected!

For the current round of negative communications, most are affiliated with Empower Texas: Defend Texas Liberty PAC, Texas Right to Life, Texans for Fiscal Responsibility, Young Conservatives of Texas, Equality Texas, and Environment Texas. They obviously have a right to say whatever they want, but you need to know the source.

To gage your agreement with their positions or not, check out the Scorecard for your favorite Conservative, for the elected official that you know best as a fighter for our cause. Many of our conservative activists score poorly with Texas Scorecard.

Attack ads just run folks off, give "politics" a bad name, but the reality is that "politics," elections determine who represents us at the local, State, and Federal levels. Don't be turned off, don't go away. Let's stand up for truth and respect in campaign advertising rather than act like folks on the other side.

To determine when and where you vote, there are links at keepparkercountygreat.com. Then, after the polls close on March 1, attend your precinct convention which is located at your neighborhood polling place which is identified by the three-digit precinct number on your voter registration card. There, you can vote to be a delegate to the Senatorial District Convention, submit resolutions to be considered by the Senatorial District Convention to be forwarded to the State Convention, considered for the Republican Party of Texas Platform. If you have questions about how to get involved, give me a call.

You can participate! You matter! Your vote matters!

Happy campaigning!

Supports Moorman

When we vote in an election, we get to choose the people who control what happens with our hard-earned tax dollars; people who make decisions that impact our daily lives and the lives of people we love. Often, those decisions will impact us for many years to come.

The County Judge yields a great deal of power in Parker County. He presides at meetings of the County Commissioners and should be the person who sets the example of leadership for all our County employees. That became very evident when the Covid pandemic hit two years ago. More than ever, we needed a County Judge with the education, training, expertise, and demeanor to lead us through a very difficult time.

We have an opportunity now to elect an individual who has all those qualifications and much more. Dr. Thomas Moorman is the man for the job. His professional education, training, leadership, and experience are unmatched by any candidate in the race. His distinguished work at UNT Health Science Center, during which he managed multi-million dollar budgets and worked with a wide range of people to solve complex problems, have prepared him to tackle the short and long range issues of Parker County. In addition, he's a good family man, a Christian, and an active community volunteer. He is just the kind of person we need in public office. He's definitely who we need as our County Judge. We are voting for Dr. Thomas Moorman. We hope you'll do the same.

Do you want a library?

Richard Henderson
richard@rahenderson.com

Citizens of East Parker County, do you want a public library? If yes, we need to pay for it!

The recent guest column by the East Parker County Library (EPCL) President of the Board, Kathy Mason, asked that question, which is the same question I asked in a similar column several years ago when I was EPCL board president. The message is still the same. You want it, you must pay for it.

EPCL belongs to everyone and to no one. It is a non-profit organization and does not belong to any political entity. It is NOT the Aledo Library.

When I went on the board of EPCL in 2003, the doors were about to shut. It was August and there were not enough funds to pay expenses through the end of fiscal year in October. Why?

The folks in charge had received a Lockheed Foundation grant, and volunteer contractors helped build out the old post office where the library is now, from a store front. EPCL had a real presence.

Unfortunately, the board had not crunched the numbers and there were not enough expected funds budgeted to meet everyday operating expenses. The board immediately began having fundraisers. Kyla Rosenberger held a large book sale. Jan Orr-Harter and husband Tom held the Garden Party at their historic home on Jenkins Road for many years.

We went after larger grants to pay off the mortgage and buy good computers. That mission was accomplished by the time I left after six years. We had managed to save $30,000.00 in reserve. We had no mortgage and up-to-date computers and tables. We had DSL thanks to Aledo Broadband.

But, foundations will not donate grants for operating expenses.

The cities, including Aledo, under the leadership of Mayor Kit Marshal, increased their contributions. The largest contributor, Parker County, would not increase their contribution of $20,000.00. The Aledo ISD turned us down. The ISD got the benefit of our books and especially our computers but would not help the EPCL.

At that time we operated on $70,000.00 per year

Today, according to Ms. Mason's column, the budget is $100,000.00. Very low amounts for a library who serves East Parker County and its population.

Bottom line is, there are still not enough funds to support very low operating costs.

In case you are wondering, as I was, is the library needed in this age of computers and Amazon books? I stopped in a couple of years ago at EPCL and introduced myself to ask those questions. To my surprise the computers are used by many students who have no access to them after school hours. There is often a line to use a computer. The library staff keeps a timer to let users know when their time is up.

Senior citizens on a budget and students need the books and computers.

So what can you do to help? Let your elected city leaders in our various cities know. Tell your county commissioner you want the support increased and thank them for support in the past.

And you can write a check to donate. And tell your friends.

The alternative is to shut the doors and sell the very valuable property. If we can't pay low salaries, insurance, electric bills etc, there will eventually come a time when there is no other thing to do.

Texas Prepaid Tuition Program enrollment deadline approaches

Texas families can lock in today's cost of undergraduate resident tuition and schoolwide required fees by purchasing tuition units for a four-year degree, two years of community college, or just a few semesters. For additional flexibility and portability, the plan also can be used at Texas medical and dental institutions; Texas private colleges and universities; out-of-state colleges and universities; career schools; and registered apprenticeship programs, where tuition and schoolwide required fees are not locked in and the benefits and payouts would be based on Transfer Value.

"I'm encouraging Texas families and individuals to remember the upcoming deadline to prepay and lock in today's rates for all or some future tuition at two- and four-year Texas public colleges and universities," Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar said. "It's never too late to start planning for a child's college education. Families will find that when it comes to planning for their children's future education, every little bit adds up."

The Texas Tuition Promise Fund, the state's prepaid college tuition program, allows participants to prepay undergraduate resident tuition and schoolwide required fees by purchasing tuition units for a four-year degree, two years of community college, or just a few semesters. For additional flexibility and portability, the plan also can be used at Texas medical and dental institutions; Texas private colleges and universities; out-of-state colleges and universities; career schools; and registered apprenticeship programs, where tuition and schoolwide required fees are not locked in and the benefits and payouts would be based on Transfer Value.

To enroll children younger than 1 in the program at 2021-22 prices, the deadline is July 31. The next general enrollment period begins on Sept. 1, with new contract prices based on Texas public college tuition and schoolwide required fee costs for the 2022-23 academic year.

Complete plan information — including residency and other requirements, current prices, enrollment forms and more — is available online at TuitionPromise.org, or by calling 800-445-GRAD (4723), option 5.

The program's outreach team also offers free webinars that provide an overview of the plan and discuss the different tuition unit types and payment options, as well as provide information about Texas Match the Promise FoundationSM matching scholarship opportunities.

Visit <https://www.texas-tuitionpromisefund.com/> for information about how to register to attend upcoming webinars.

* Residency restrictions apply.

 Transfer Value applies to tuition redemption at Texas medical and dental schools, Texas private colleges and universities, out-of-state colleges and universities, career schools, and registered apprenticeship programs. Transfer Value is limited to the lesser of (1) the costs the tuition unit would cover at a public college or university or (2) the original purchase price of the tuition unit plus or minus the Plan's net investment earnings or losses on that amount.

 Residency restrictions, age requirements, eligibility criteria, household income restrictions and contribution requirements apply. Match the Promise Foundation scholarships can only be used at Texas public colleges and universities, and Transfer Value cannot be utilized.
