Councilperson Foster pleads guilty to drug charges

Proudly serving the community for 163 years

Late last week, Swainsboro City Councilperson Quantavius Foster announced publicly that he had received notice from the City Attorney of Swainsboro of his suspension from his position as a member of the Swainsboro City Council. As more details related to this story have become known, City Attorney Jon Levis provided the following statement: The City of Swainsboro has been recently made aware of the felony guilty plea of Councilperson Quatavious Foster in the United States District Court, Northern District of Georgia. In compliance with O.C.G.A. 45-5-6.1, Councilperson Foster has been immediately and without further action suspended from office. The City of Swainsboro is currently working in accordance with O.C.G.A.45-5-6.1(b) for the appointment of a replacement officer until the resolution of matters affecting the suspension of Foster is concluded. The City of Swainsboro has no further comment at this

Foster's admission of guilt was made in U.S. District Court in Atlanta on April 30, 2024, to a charge of conspiracy to possess and intent to distribute a controlled substance involving at least 50 grams of a mixture and substance containing a detectable amount of methamphetamine. Foster entered the guilty plea before Judge Amy Totenberg and was ordered to appear in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Georgia for sentencing on August 28, 2024. In charges by the U.S. Attorney, Foster's original involvement that led to the guilty plea began on or about January 9, 2018, and continued through on or about April 14, 2019. Information taken Federal Case CR-308 #1:19 states that Foster was arrested in Richmond County on August 30, 2018, based on information obtained by agents of the Drug Enforcement Administration. Following that arrest, documents state that Foster filed a motion for suppression of evidence, but the motion was Foster had previously been employed at Jenkins Correctional Facility. He was elected to a post of the Swainsboro City Council in November of 2023. Officials at City Hall are now in the process of determining the legal procedure called for in the City Charter. The Forest-Blade asked for comments from the Mayor and City Administrator but have not had replies as of press time.

Council questions Administrator and Attorney

Mayor and City Council of Swainsboro convened at 6 p.m. on June 10, 2024 at the Swainsboro Fire Department Headquarters. The invocation was brought by Rev. Brad McKenzie of Jesus Saves Church followed by the Pledge of Allegiance. A proclamation recognizing the late Councilperson former John E. Parker was read as the first order of the meeting. Parker served from 2006 through 2023. Following this, the minutes of the regular meeting of May 6, 2024 were presented and approved. A representative of the Association Georgia of Water Professionals council and addressed presented Clearwater Solutions and the City water department with the GAWP Gold Award for exceptional service during the past year. Next on council's agenda was the unusual action of council's reconsidering twelve motions voted on and passed during the month of May. The measure was characterized as a "revote" by Mayor Bennett but the reason for the action was not clearly explained. In later discussions by the council, it was apparent that the replication of the earlier vote was due to recent developments involving Councilperson Quantavious Foster. The replication vote was taken and motions approved. Council then moved to the next agenda item which dealt with the contract of City Administrator Herman Middlebrooks. Changes in the form of additions to the contract involved issues related to IRS considerations, pension plan vestment of Middlebrooks after one year's employment, and refinement of the pension ordinance dealing with retirement. Councilperson Collins and Davis questioned some points of the contract including the vesting of the Administrator after only one year as opposed to 10-year employment required for pension vesting of other city hall positions. The motion was tabled by a 4-1 vote with Councilpersons Collins, Davis, Sconyers and Staf-(Continued on page 2A)

Parker and Swinney to vacate seats

After dedicating years to education, Johnny Parker and Sandra Swinney announced their plans to vacate their seats on the Emanuel County Board of Education

County Emanuel Schools pays tribute to Mr. Johnny Parker and Ms. Sandra Swinney, who have dedicated a combined total of 88 years to education. Each will vacant his or her seat as of July 9, 2024, citing health issues and recent family losses as reasons for their decisions.

Mr. Parker expressed his gratitude to the citizens for the opportunity to serve as a voice for District 5. Mr.Parker said, "I have served with a number of board members, and I continue to put this group of individuals among the best. We have always put children first in our decision-making and have honored the role of being a board member. I have loved and cherished making Emanuel County a stronger community by doing what's best for children. I am excited about the many great things that are happening in our schools across the district. Emanuel County's future looks very bright!"

Ms. Swinney also

thanked the citizens of Emanuel County for entrusting her with the responsibility to represent them, stating, "Every decision made was in the best interest of our children, and doing what was necessary to ensure that they have the best opportunity for a successful future. I have complete confidence that the board is moving in the right direction, and I am committed to ensuring a smooth transition for my successor. Thank you for the trust you have placed in me. It has been a privilege to work alongside such dedicated individuals. I wish the entire Emanuel County Board of Education continued success."

SWINNEY

In response to the announcement, Superintendent Warnock stated, "We are saddened by the news but respect their decision. We appreciate their years of service to Emanuel County Schools. Both Johnny Parker and Sandra Swinney have been valuable members of our Board of Education, contributing to its cohesion and effectiveness."

special election Α to determine the new members of the Board of Education will be held during the November 5, 2024 election. The qualifying date for candidates to run for these positions is Monday, August 19, through noon on Friday, August 23.

Apparently, confusion resulted when certain members expressed the desire to continue meeting to discuss items not on the agenda. A motion to alter the agenda was approved to allow for discussions concerning the suspension of Councilperson Quantavious Councilperson Collins asked for a statement on the situation. City Attorney Levis reported that he is waiting on a response from the Governor's office as to the indicated appropriate action. For the next 18 minutes, Levis advised council on the different scenarios that could be encountered in the situation. Councilperson Collins questioned Levis as to why council members were not advised in a more timely fashion and indicated her dissatisfaction that council was not better informed and advised by the City Attorney. Councilperson Davis echoed Collin's concern and called for a better spirit of transparency among offices of city hall and the city council. Following this discussion, council was adjourned.

East Georgia State College faculty, staff graduate from USG Executive Leadership Institute

The University System of Georgia (USG) has graduated its 2023-24 Executive Leadership Institute (ELI) cohort, including 34 faculty and staff members from 23 USG institutions and the University System Office. East Georgia State College (EGSC) had a staff and faculty member complete the program. Natasha Goss, associate professor of accounting and business, and Jennifer Fields, director of admissions, completed the 14th cohort of the program that convened on August 29, 2023.

"This group includes some of the best among our faculty and staff across Georgia," USG Chancellor Sonny Perdue said. "As one of the top public university systems in the nation, we are invested in supporting and growing the people already working hard right here in the university system. With this professional development, USG wants to help them reach their full potential."

Since 2009, USG has hosted ELI for faculty and staff to develop new leaders within the university system and offer professional development opportunities to help them grow their careers in Georgia.

"ELI provided us the opportunity to gain knowledge during an intensive and dedicated time for professional and personal growth," stated Fields. "I gained different perspectives of the USG system, networked with fellow institution staff from various areas, and benefited from a unique shadowing experience. Being supported by East Georgia State College in this journey created such a rewarding experience. It is reassuring that the system and my home institution invest in their employees as well as encourages professional growth and development."

University presidents nominate academic and staff leaders to participate. From the nominees, individuals are

GOSS selected for the program and participate in a leadership development curriculum that includes content, personal reflection, job shadowing and cross-mentoring.

"I have learned so much from my experience in this program," said Goss. "I am very grateful for the University System of Georgia and East Georgia State College for the opportunity to participate in the program. It's very important for faculty and staff to gain leadership experience so we can help better our institutions. This program has helped me grow my leadership skills and given me experience that I can bring back to EGSC to help give feedback on important decisions and make positive changes in the future."

How Bad Do You Want It?

by BISHOP BERTHA JONES

Have you ever had a longing for something? No one knew how bad you wanted it but there was a yearning inside. Just think about somethings you wanted really

You then begin to ponder and think within yourself how you can achieve it or how you can make it happen. Yes, you begin to search and ask questions. You have to find a way to achieve your goal.

Well, this is what happened to Zacchaeus. He had heard about Jesus and he wanted to see him for himself. As Jesus entered Jericho, Zacchaeus did not want to miss his opportunity to see Jesus. Because he was short and the crowd was thick and too much for him, he had to figure out a way to see Jesus.

Zacchaeus could run and he could climb although he was short. So he ran ahead of the crowd and climbed up in a sycamore tree to be able to see Jesus. That made him higher than everyone else. Jesus saw him and went home and ate with him. (Lk.19:1-10)

Now what's keeping you from receiving Jesus in your home and in your life?. What is it you need to change or correct? Maybe the question is how bad do you want him?

The way to look for Jesus is in his Word. For John 1:1 says, "In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God and the Word was God." So today if you are searching for Jesus, get in his Word. Made James Baptist Church. yourself available God's Word.

Editorials Columns _ The "Summer Experience"

One of the staple events of the summer season in this country used to be the experience of the "summer camp". Kids in, let's call it, "more affluent circumstances" might go to fancy private summer camps with wonderful-sounding Indian names and take French lessons and ballroom dancing, but for most of us around here, it was seven to ten days at a church camp with no air conditioning and World War II army bunks or maybe a couple of weeks camping with the Boy Scouts. Looking back on it, we probably now understand that summer camps were good for us in building self-reliance and forming rugged character. This is a widely accepted notion, but summer camps also provided a well-deserved benefit for another large group of society. That group would be our parents. Did you ever notice how supportive and encouraging your parents were when you asked them if you could go, and then if they would pay the registration fee for summer camp? "Well, of course dear, we can manage that, and you might need some new sneakers and blue jeans too." It was almost scary how easy that was! "Let's go talk to your father, right now". It was like the bus was already out in the street with the motor running, but it was okay, your parents needed a break too. Now they had a whole week to themselves to actually talk to each other again and watch TV without you and your brothers or sisters fighting over the channels. When you got back home, they always acted like you had been off on some grand adventure, and so what if you had to move all the Tommy Dorsey and Glenn Miller albums out of Hi-Fi cabinet and bring your Beatles and Elvis 45s back in. That was the least you could do to promote family unity. For most of us, I think the camp experience usually stands out in our memory because, in the final analysis, it was an important marker in our growing-up years. We learned things and met new people and most importantly, we found out more about ourselves. In a gentle but effective way, it was a test, and I think it's too bad that all the kids coming along now days are not offered that or maybe just one day, a little part of a "summer camp" experience can make a big change and create some lasting memories in any life.

Attention all fathers: Your day is coming

I have been called a lot of things in my long life and not all of them flattering. A few years back, I was referred to as an "Obama bed-wetting liberal" and a "racist redneck." Both in the same week. Go figure. What I like being called most of all, however, is Dad, as well as Pa. The former is how I am known to my kids and the latter by the grandkids and the great-grands who have come along in the interim. I bring this up to remind us all that Sunday, June 16, is Father's Day. This is our day, dads. A time to have a well-deserved fuss made over us. We don't get quite the attention as Mother's Day, but every little bit helps. Besides, if it wasn't for fathers, where would all the mothers come from? Unfortunately, you may have noticed how fathers are depicted in television commercials. We always look like a bunch of dodos that have to be rescued from our miscues by a patient and understanding wife and their two bemused kids, all shaking their heads at us and our foibles while we babble nonsense. It makes me wonder if Dad is so stupid, why did Mom marry him in the first place? And why are we always made to look like airheads? My theory is that the twits who create those denigrating commercials collectively hate their fathers for having made them eat everything on their plate before being excused from the dinner table and are now getting even. My daddy made me eat everything on my plate but I sure don't hate him. As a matter of fact, I have spent my adult life trying to measure up to him. I'm not there yet and don't ever expect to be. Earl Yarbrough worked for the Railway Express Agency for 49 years and four months, mostly outside and mostly at night right up to his retirement day. In that time, which I calculate to be 2,596 weeks, he missed exactly three of those weeks and not one day more due to being hospitalized for an emergency appendectomy. Today, that would probably be an outpatient procedure and he would likely leave the doctor's office and head straight to work. While my dad had only a seventh-grade education and a hard-scrabble upbringing, he lived long enough to see both of his boys graduate from college and go on to have successful careers in their respective fields. To my brother and me, our father was never our buddy. He was our father.

We didn't go fishing with him or play pitch in the backyard or take family camping trips. Instead, we watched how hard he worked and observed his integrity, his honesty and his ability to discern right from wrong. He was remarkably consistent. Right was right and wrong was wrong and rationalization was not a part of his makeup. I'm not sure what he would make of the changing world in which you and I live today but I know wouldn't change. Not a whit. Right would still be right and wrong would still be wrong. Today, far too many children don't have a role model like my brother and I had. In fact, they have no father at all. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, some 20 million children under the age of 18 that's 1 in 4 — live without a biological father, stepfather or adoptive father in the home. 67% of Black children in the United States under the age of 18 live in a fatherless home. A group called the National Fatherhood Initiative says children in father-absent homes are more likely to live in poverty, experience teen pregnancies, have behavioral problems, drug issues, to drop out of school and to end up in prison. Where have all the fathers gone? I am not likely a candidate for the Fathers Hall of Fame — if there were such a thing — but I somehow survived the experience.

Tent meetings, goat man and gypsies

Growing up in my house, attending the church was not optional. It was a given. No matter how much I fussed, cried, or feigned sickness or injury, I was going to Sunday School and church right up until I got way bigger than my little Momma. Then, I had a little leverage, but not much. Daddy didn't go much to morning services but occasionally he went to the evening services. He was a good man: he just didn't go with us to church, so he and Uncle Aubrey went off to fish. And he didn't tolerate me not going with Momma. I still don't understand that, but I sure never asked.

From time to time, Big Momma would see in the Forest Blade about a tent meeting coming up, and she and Momma hauled me off with them to get a little extra religion. I don't remember the denomination of any we ever attended, but what I do remember is, the weather would always be hot and sticky. I don't sit still very well as an adult, so you can just imagine how miserable this little girl was sitting on the folding chair, under a steaming tent, with only a funeral home fan to swat the gnats and mosquitoes. How Big Momma could sit there and get any religion in her corset and voile dress, stockings and white shoes is beyond me. The meetings would last for hours, with singing, prayers and preaching and more singing and prayers and Jesus calling the sinner's home. I remember one of these meetings on the south of town where the tent sat in a cleared grassy area, and the cars parked all around the tent. I never hear of tent meetings anymore...I guess we don't need extra religion now.

The old man who traveled through town with his Billy goats pulling his wagon with pots and pans clanging, was a novelty that everybody in town talked about, passing the

in their cars to take a ride just outside town where the old man would be camped. He never seemed to mind the attention, and neither did the goats. You could smell the sight long before you could see him. He traveled all over the eastern seaboard, but made his home place in Jeffersonville, Ga.

Sometimes, there would be a band of gypsies camping outside town. They didn't like for you to get too close to their camps where they played music, banged tambourines, and danced, but I always wanted to talk to them to see where they were going, and why. Momma didn't let me go see them, but I usually heard about them being in town. Sometimes, I would catch sight of some of the women with brightly colored skirts and lots of dangling bracelets and big loop earrings. Their hair would be dark and long, streaming down their backs and sometimes they would have kerchiefs

on. Some people said they were thieves. I've often wondered why they said that. I'm sure there must have been honest gypsies. Sometimes, the local paper would advertise that there was going to be a "sing" at a local country church. They were very popular, always with a crowd of hardy music loving Christians, who would listen to the quartets, soloists, and duets from popular gospel singing groups that came from all over the state. Gospel music was a staple for the old timers. Sometimes, these "sings" could go on all night, or at least till the wee hours of the morning. I don't remember ever going to many and when I did, they fell into the same category for me as the tent meetings. Sitting still wasn't then, and still isn't, my forte.

Frye speaks to Kiwanis

On May 7, some members of the Kiwanis Club participated in a planting of a "Moon Tree" at the Fulford Center on the EGSC campus. The "Moon Tree" is a loblolly pine which began as a seed on the Artemis I spaceship which orbited the moon in 2022. The first "Moon Trees" were planted in the 1970's from seeds that were carried on Apollo 14 as it circled the moon in 1971. The first "Moon Tree" in Georgia was planted in Waycross in the early-to-mid 70's. Tim Goodman presented the nominations for next year's officers for the Swainsboro Kiwanis Club. The results of the election were President Cerpovicz, Paul President-Elect - Dianna Wedincamp, Vice President – Dwight Watt, Immediate Past President Cheryl Goodman, Secretary-Tim Goodman, Treasurer -David Gribbin, 1-Year Directors Bobbie Daughtry, Cayla Scarboro, Dess Smith and groundbreaking treatment has emerged as a beacon of hope for those troubled by the persistent ringing in their ears, known as tinnitus. Dr. Gabriel Pitt, a local audiologist based in Swainsboro, Georgia, is excited about this new development. Specializing in the assessment and treatment of tinnitus, hearing loss, and certain balance problems, Dr. Pitt brings expertise and optimism to the table.

Innovative treatment offers hope for ringing in the ears

The treatment in question, Lenire®, has shown remarkable promise in clinical trials. Developed by a team of researchers, Lenire® employs a approach to unique tinnitus management. Rather than masking the sound, it aims to address the root cause of the condition, offering lasting relief to sufferers.

One of the key features of Lenire® is its noninvasive nature. This means that individuals can undergo treatment without the need for

DR. PITT invasive surgery or procedures, minimizing discomfort downtime. Importantly, clinical trials have demonstrated effectiveness of Lenire® in reducing the severity of tinnitus symptoms, bringing relief to those who have long grappled with the condition.

Dr. Pitt emphasizes the significance of this breakthrough for individuals in Swainsboro and beyond. As the third generation in his family to serve the community with hearing healthcare, Dr. Pitt understands the profound impact that tinnitus can have on individuals' quality of life. "As an audiologist and tinnitus specialist, I am hopeful that this promising new product will provide relief for those suffering with tinnitus," says Dr. Pitt.

While there are existing treatments for tinnitus available on the market, Lenire® stands out for its potential to help those who have not found relief with conventional options. Its innovative approach and promising results offer new possibilities for individuals seeking respite from persistent ringing their ears.

With the introduction of Lenire®, individuals Swainsboro surrounding areas have reason to be optimistic about managing their tinnitus symptoms. remains Dr. Pitt dedicated to providing comprehensive care and exploring innovative solutions to improve the lives of his patients.

Emanuel Retired Educators attend President 's Seminar

On Wednesday June 5, 2024, President Verdell Brinson and Past-President Huddie Culbreth attended a President 's Seminar for Area 6 of The Georgia Retired Educators Association (GREA).

The meeting was held at The Pittman Park United Methodist Church in Statesboro, and was led by Dr. Gwendolyn Yarborough, Area 6 Director.

During this meeting, Presidents and PresidentElects around the area discussed projects and plans for the upcoming year. Each chapter received a GREA Chapter Guide, which Dr. Yarborough discussed in depth as to its use in making chapters run smoothly and providing guidance for the State Projects and other requirements that each chapter should complete during the year.

A delicious lunch was provided and enjoyed by

Family Connection presents the latest chef graduates

by TAMRA ALLEN Emanuel Chopped Junior completed its sixth beginner session last week. This project is the brainchild of Tammy Allen, the Emanuel County Family Connection Coordinator. Emanuel County Family Connection is a collaborative of community partners who work together for the betterment of our voungsters with a concentration on childhood nutrition and literacy. Millcreek Foundation generously funded this cooking adventure and deserves our gratitude.

Emanuel Chopped Junior was a jammedpacked five days of cooking, baking, using a variety of kitchen appliances, and learning safety skills. As Miss Tammy told the participants, "Don't work in the kitchen without permission," and these children were continually supervised by Family Connection Partners Pam Carr, Candy Powers, and Petite Garrett and community volunteers Ien Meadows and Devion Davis. Other adults who visited our chefs in training were our judges: Matt Jarrell, Susan Stephenson, Cayla Scarboro, and Olivia Golden, all who are part of the Family Connection Collaborative Parnership.

These chefs began the week preparing smoothies and creating pancake art, which was judged on appearance and oral presentation. The second day included a visit from three members of the Leanna's Coffee Shop staff, who gave a "hands-on" lesson in making pizza from rolling out the dough and spinning the crust in the air to adding sauce and cheese. The Chopped Junior chefs then created their own personal-sized pizzas adding special ingredients of their choosing. The next project involved a discussion of different types of apples followed by the chefs rolling out crusts, filling their miniature pie pans with apples, and topping their pies with a traditional crust and a decorative opening and crimped crust or with their fruit masterpieces. Day three the chefs their learned used health skills to crack eggs and cook scrambled eggs in the microwave and sausage links in the air fryer. The last cooking activity of the day was the preparation, seasoning, and roasting of fresh vegetables. Thursday, chefs began the morning with a most unusual, but delicious dish, waffle corn dogs, using a waffle iron. Following this breakfast dish, students were each given a piping bag filled with frosting to practice making decorations for

The last day of this fun week of Emanuel Chopped Junior ended with chefs baking and using their previously learned piping skills to decorate mini cakes. Then they displayed their creativity with fruit sculptures, which were judged on appearance and oral descriptions of their works of art. Students ended Emanuel Chopped Junior by putting on aprons, personalized by Family Connection Partner Ann Rogers, and chef hats. Each chef was presented with their own smoothie maker and a gift bag containing measuring cups and spoons, mini baking pans, and a recipe book containing all the recipes they had followed during their five days of Emanuel Chopped Junior.

words printed on them. Other than the date on the front of the bulletin the order of service changes very little. There seems to be three important words that appear in every order of service: Invocation, Offering and Benediction. And in between those words the hymns, Scripture and special music will be "recycled" from week to week. But there is little new or different. Even contemporary worship services seem to follow the same format and formula week after week. Sounds boring, doesn't it? Perhaps that's why Psalm 96:1 explodes with a challenge: "Sing to the Lord a NEW SONG!" - which literally means "NEW THINGS!" If God is alive and well in our lives and alive and well in our lives and in our churches we will surely be seeing new things and singing new songs because we will see Him at work in our lives and in the life of our churches. Prayers will be answered and lives changed, sinners will be saved and His disciples will be called to serve Him in new and different ways showing His love and care to those around us. We will have to rearrange the order of service to make time for public praise to share what He is doing and sing new songs because He is doing new things!

And then in verse two we read, "Proclaim His salvation day after day!" When the proclamation of His salvation is the centerpiece of our work and worship, we will be overcome with His joy and "sing new songs!

4-H Project SAFE Modified Trap season comes to and end

by JAKYN TYSON The 2024 Emanuel County 4-H Project S.A.F.E. Modified Trap team wrapped up their season during the State 4-H Modified Trap Match on Saturday, May 11. Emanuel County 4-H'ers participated in three levels of competition: the local Randy Fagler Memorial County Match, Southeast District 4-H qualifiers and the State 4-H Modified Trap match in Eatonton. The program is open to 6th through 12th grade students in Emanuel County who are enrolled in the 4-H Program.

4-H'ers in the modified trap contest are given 25 clay targets they must hit from a single thrower. All 4-H'ers are coached by volunteer leaders from the 4-H program who are certified instructors. The Modified Trap program is coordinated by 4-H volunteers Ed and Brandi Akridge. Emanuel County 4-H had 44 total 6th through 12th grade 4-H'ers participating in the Project SAFE Modified Trap program for the 2024 year.

Sixth through 8th grade 4-H'ers on the Modified Trap Team were: Bentley Brinson, Addi Rae Robertson, Julianne Way, Noah Brantley, Sam Lawrence, Jake Marsh, Amelia Clements, Nathaniel Harry, Ethan Mason, Tate Torpy, Eli Way, Brett Way and Abigail Wilks. Ninth through 12th grade 4-H Modified Trap members were: Hagan Brown, Aaden Cumbee, Paxton Dixon, Randon Durden, Gage Johnson, Gunner Johnson, Jackson Smith, Sam Williams, Bryan Beasley, Brody Fagler, Hammond, Lillian Jake Palmer, Maddox Robertson, Lauren Sapp, Olivia Boatright, Natalee Brown, Spencer Lawrence, Peyton Lee, Sean Wilkerson, Ben Bennett, Jacob Fagler, Luke Lariscey and FaithAnn Rogers.

The Southeast District qualifier was held on Saturday, April 13, at Bay Gall Sporting Clays. At the district match, 18 of the youth shooters qualified for state competition and two teams placed in the contest. The junior team made up of Eli Way, Nathaniel Harry, Sam Lawrence, Brett Way and Amelia Clements placed second in the junior division.

The senior team made up of Maddox Robertson,

Luke Lariscey, Spencer

Lawrence, Ben Bennett

and Jacob Fagler placed first in the competition. The Randy Fagler TEAM MEMBERS AND VOLUNTEERS

Memorial County Match was held on Sunday, April 30. The following 4-H'ers were recognized as top shooters for their grade level: 6th Grade Julianne Way, 7th grade Jake Marsh; 8th grade Eli Way; 9th grade Gunner Johnson; 10th Maddox Robertson; 11th grade Peyton Lee; 12th grade Luke Lariscey. Overall top shooter awards went to Senior Female Olivia Boatright; Senior Overall Peyton Lee; Junior Female Julianne Way; and Junior Overall Eli Way. Lee, Lariscey and Kobertson all shot perfect scores of 25. After a third round of doubles to break the tie, Lee shot a perfect 55/55 for the day. The state competition was held on Saturday, May 11, in Eatonton and Emanuel County was represented by 18 4-H'ers.

Emanuel County 4-H would like to thank its volunteers who have donated hundreds of hours of service to coach this year's team. Without Brandi and Ed Akridge, Becky Amerson, Joey Amerson, Cade Bennett, Chesley Dixon, Senaca Mitchell Lawrence, Fagler and Brad and T'Neil Williams, a program of this quality would not be possible.

4-H provides fun, exciting, and educational events year-round for youth in 4th-12th grade. For more information about Emanuel County 4-H and how you can get involved as a member, volunteer, or sponsor, contact Jakyn Tyson at the Emanuel County Extension Office at (478) 237-1226.

Burke speaks to Four Rivers

The Four Rivers Patriots Chapter Georgia Society Sons of the American Revolution held their monthly meeting, Thursday night, May 16, at 6:30 p.m. at Chatters Restaurant in Lyons. With President Steve DeWeil presiding, they had 14 in attendance. President Steve called on the East Fall Line Region Vice President Dess Smith III to present the Chapter with three Chapter Flag Streamers. They were the Frederica, Patriots Day Naval Battle Anniversary Streamer for the Chapter presenting a wreath at the event. Second was the Georgia Society Distinguished Chapter Award Streamer for 2023. Third was the Georgia Society Membership Award Streamer for a above 90% renewal for 2024. President Steve then introduced the speaker for the evening, Wiregrass Chapter of Swainsboro President Steve Burke. Burke's presentation was on the Revolutionary War Battle of Trenton.
