PUBLISHER'S LETTER

Unto Dust...

Dear Reader,

In the final accounting, when the ledger of our days closes and the last breath escapes like a whisper into the void, what remains of us? We who once walked with purpose, loved with abandon, and dreamed beyond the confines of our mortal shells—what becomes of all that we were?

The body, once a vessel of consciousness and desire, returns to its elemental state. Skin that felt the warmth of summer suns and the tender touch of loved ones dissolves. Bones that carried us through decades of striving and stumbling crumble into the same dust from which all life emerges. We are reduced to our most basic components, indistinguishable from the earth that receives us.

Our possessions, those objects we accumulated and cherished, outlive us for a time. Books with dog-eared pages. Photographs fading at the edges. Heirlooms passed down with stories attached. But eventually, these too deteriorate, are discarded, or lose their connection to those who once gave them meaning. The material monuments to our existence erode under time's relentless passage.

The institutions we built, the companies we labored for, the organizations we championed—these may persist beyond our individual spans, but they transform, merge, dissolve, reinvent themselves until our fingerprints upon them become unrecognizable. Even civilizations, those grand collective projects of humanity, rise and fall like tides, leaving only fragments for future archaeologists to piece together.

Is this, then, the final word on human existence? A brief flare of consciousness between two infinite darknesses? A temporary arrangement of atoms that, once scattered, can never be reassembled in quite the same way?

Perhaps not.

For in the spaces between particles of dust and grains of sand, something intangible persists. The ideas we contributed to the great conversation of human thought; the stories we told that shaped how others understood themselves and their world; the kindnesses we extended that altered the trajectory of another's life in ways we may never have witnessed; the children we nurtured—whether our own or those who simply crossed our path—who carry forward not just our genetic material but our values, our perspectives, our ways of seeing; these invisible legacies ripple outward through time, touching lives we will never know, in places we will never visit, in eras we will never witness.

We are, in the end, both less and more than we imagine ourselves to be. Less permanent in our individual identity, more enduring in our collective impact. Less significant as separate beings, more powerful as contributors to humanity's shared story.

When we return to dust and sand, what remains is the echo of our humanity—not preserved in stone but alive and evolving in the hearts and minds of those who come after us. Our brief moment of consciousness, our fleeting dance of atoms, becomes part of the endless transformation of matter and meaning that is the universe knowing itself.

And in that continuation, there is hope. For while we may not persist as we are, something of what we gave to the world—something essential and true—remains.

Even dust catches the light sometimes, and in those glimmering particles, the story continues.

Trailblazing at Dayton Town Hall

Bushwhacking invasive brush

BY EMILY DOUD
STAFF REPORTER

WAUPACA – Community members from the Town of Dayton started cleanup efforts on the Lyman Dayton trail, a one-mile trail system built in 2016 that is located at their town hall.

Dayton Community Connection (DCC) was created two years ago as an effort for people to get out and meet community members as well as help neighbors and create social connections.

Julie Mezzoleni, a member of DCC, said the idea to restore the trail came when the group got together on New Year's Day for a party at the town hall and decided to walk the trail.

“Out of that kind of came the idea of ‘what if we restored this trail and made this like a community place where people could come together and gather and walk,’” she said.

Mezzoleni said the trail at that time was very overgrown with invasive plants like buckthorn and honey suckle plants.

The Lyman Dayton trail, a one-mile trail system, is open again for hiking. Invasive brush was cleared and a maintenance plan is in place to keep it from growing back.

With the abundance of invasive plants the group came up with the idea of making the trail a learning experience by showing environmentally sound ways of eradicating invasive plants, as well as documenting the process of how the trail was cleaned up.

Mezzoleni said Bluestem Ecological Services was brought in first to use a forest rake to clean up the north side of the trail, the trail is split with a half mile on the north side and a half mile on the south side of the property.

With the forest rake they were able to clear buckthorn, honey suckle and as much as the overgrowth as they could.

Mezzoleni said this is not a permanent solution, as the buckthorn and honey suckle will grow back which has led them to schedule goats, from Liberation Farmers, LLC, to come in and eat the invasive plants.

The land on the north side was split into ten segments, which was estimated to take up to 12 days for the goats to clear.

The group plans to wait to see what native plants come up without the buckthorn and honey suckle plants instead of replacing them right away.

The trail will also feature a restorative burn on part of it this fall, after which they will throw native seeds down which will allow native plants to grow with less competition from the invasive plants.

The seeds are coming from J & J Transplant and Aquatic Nursery.

There will also be a small area marked off where they intend to spray herbicide, as well as a section next to it using the black tarp method of eradicating invasive plants.

The black tarp method uses a tarp which will be secured as close to the ground as they can, which will kill anything that is underneath the tarp. The tarp stays secured for six to nine months.

This method, Mezzoleni said, will give you a blank slate to start fresh.

Mezzoleni said it is meant to show people how damaging herbicide is on the environment.

“We’re restoring it not only for the community but also just so that we have a piece of property here that is absolutely restored,” she said. “Our hope is that they see all kinds of native butterflies and bees.”

The trail is currently open for use and dogs are allowed on the trail as well.

Mezzoleni said they were able to accomplish the projects they started on the trail this year with two grants from Jim and Mary Grist Foundation of Waupaca and the James E. Dutton Foundation.

The focus in 2025 is the north side of the trail, then this fall Mezzoleni said they are going to start planning and looking for grants for the south side.

Mezzoleni said the group is hoping they are able to gather more volunteers to help with the project saying there are a number of ways that people can help, including assisting in cleanup, restorative efforts and administration.

People interested in volunteering can email DCC at daytoncommunityconnection@gmail.com.

Donations for the restoration and conservation efforts happening at the Lyman Dayton Trail can be sent to Dayton Community Connection, P.O. Box 124, King, Wisconsin, 54946-0124.

Master Gardener members dig and divide their perennials for the sale. The selection is enhanced with flats of several additional popular perennials and annuals from a nearby wholesale nursery. Herbs, vegetable seedlings and some houseplants and shrubs also will be available.

Master Gardeners will be on hand to answer questions, offer tips and help direct visitors to plants that meet their growing conditions. All plants are labeled. CAP Services celebrates 60 years

STEVENS POINT – CAP Services, Inc., a non-profit community action agency based in Stevens Point, celebrated its 60th year of service on May 12. Incorporated in 1966 as the Central Wisconsin Economic Opportunity Committee, Inc., the agency's initial service area included Portage, Waushara and Marquette counties. The organization changed its name to CAP Services, Inc. in 1975 and expanded to include Waupaca County in 1978 and Outagamie County in 1991.

CAP's mission is to transform people and communities to advance social and economic justice. The agency offers two dozen programs tailored to the unique conditions of the local community, ensuring that every person has the opportunity to be successful.

"As we launch our 60th year of service, I want to express my deep gratitude for the dedication of so many board members, staff, volunteers, and partners who have contributed to our work over time," said Nicole Harrison, President & CEO of CAP.

Since CAP's inception in 1966:

- 600+ entrepreneurs have received assistance in starting or expanding a business.
- 1,500+ families have accessed loans to purchase or repair homes.
- 600+ affordable rental housing units are available.
- 11,300+ children achieved school readiness through our early childhood programs.
- 1,000+ adults have improved their job skills, increasing their annual earnings by an average of more than $14,000 (a total impact of more than $14.6 million).

New grant funding

CAP Services has been awarded a grant from the Prospera Foundation Fund within the Community Foundation for the Fox Valley area. This grant will be used to support CAP's Skills Enhancement program, addressing the need for continuing education that contributes to financial stability. Specifically, these grant funds will be used to support tuition and training-related costs for individuals who otherwise could not afford to pursue training on their own.

The Skills Enhancement Program helps working adults improve their skills in order to compete for higher-paying jobs. CAP assists with the cost of tuition, books, and training-related transportation, internet service, and childcare. Staff also connects program participants to resources that make it easier for them to complete their training goal. Individuals can choose the training path (associate degree or less) that best matches their interests and abilities.

Flying Clintonville’s friendly skies

CLINTONVILLE – On Saturday, May 10, EAA Chapter 1710 hosted its first Young Eagles Rally at the Clintonville Municipal Airport. Pilots Mathieu Labs, Isaac Follett, Mike Bloedorn, Joe Schwister and Austin Baldwin provided air-plane rides to 55 youth. They flew from the airport to Pine Lake and back.

After their flights, each youth received a certificate, a personal logbook, and an AeroEducate aviation hand-book. In the Young Eagles program they get a free student membership, access to an online ground school, a free flight lesson, and an educational package for the FAA Knowledge Exam.

Joe Schwister celebrated flying his 25th Young Eagle. He has some catching up to do as Chapter President Mathieu Labs completed his 400th Young Eagles flight on April 11.

His passenger was Chiara Lorini, a 17-year-old French foreign exchange student he met earlier this year during a presentation at the Clintonville Rotary. Labs was invited to speak about the newly established chapter and her learned Lorini aspires to become an airline pilot.

They went up in his Cessna 172 and Labs handed her the controls. “Witnessing Chiara’s enthusiasm in the air and her excitement afterward reminded me why I do this. She has an unmistakable gift for flying, and that’s not something I say lightly,” said Labs.

He believes these flights can change the course of a young person’s life and it’s an introduction to aviation that many young people would never otherwise have the opportunity to explore.

Labs got his introduction when he was one-year old. His grandfather gave him his first airplane ride. In 1993, he took his official Young Eagles flight with his grandpa in the left seat and from there his fate was determined. He attended the EAA Air Academy three times and he’s helped organize Young Eagles rallies with various EAA chapters.

“I’m proud to be part of a program that’s making a real difference in the future of flight, and I can’t wait to see who climbs into the right seat next,” said Labs.

Young Eagles flights are available year-round for youth ages 8 to 17. To learn more or schedule a flight, contact EAA Chapter 1710 at eachapter1710@gmail.com or visit <https://events.eaachapters.org>.

Former Merc property to be developed

CLINTONVILLE – The city of Clintonville has been awarded a $34,000 Vibrant Spaces Grant from the Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation (WEDC) to develop the vacant lot at 19 S. Main Street, the property where the Merc building used to stand.

The development of the property will include transforming the vacant lot into a community-friendly space featuring landscaped gathering areas, an accessible walking path, event infrastructure, and seasonal flexibility to host farmers markets, concerts, and holiday celebrations. The project is being referred to as “The Merc Project.”

“This is a major step forward for our community,” said Caz Muske, city administrator for the city of Clintonville, in a press release. “The Merc Project will not only enhance downtown vibrancy but also support our local businesses by drawing more foot traffic and energy to our Main Street.”

The space will be designed with safety, accessibility, and aesthetics in mind. Planned features include: public seating opportunities and food truck access, riprap installation and parcel grading for safety, pathways that enhance pedestrian access and connect to nearby Olen Park, and electric access for lighting and vendor operations.

The city is collaborating with Whispering Pines Landscaping, American Fence, and a concrete company, along with community partners such as Onward Clintonville and the Chamber of Commerce, to bring the project to life.

“This space is for everyone in Clintonville,” said Clintonville Mayor Steve Kettenhoven, in a press release. “Whether you’re here for a community event or just a quiet walk along the river, The Merc will represent our community’s spirit, resilience, and vision for the future.”

Property history
The city lot was once the home to a three-story building that was most known for housing The Merc store. But the building eventually started deteriorating, and the site was cleared with support from CDBG Close and SAG funds.

Muske told the Clintonville Tribune-Gazette via email that the city originally applied for the Vibrant Spaces Grant through WECD in 2023, but the city was not selected. The city applied for the grant again in December 2024, and was selected.

Grossman calls out comments against him

School board self-evaluation gets personal

BY BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

NEW LONDON – Mark Grossman, treasurer for the New London Board of Education, expressed displeasure with some comments that other board members made about him during the recent WASB Board of Education Self-Evaluation the board recently took part in. The results of the self-evaluation were shared with the board at its April 30 meeting. The comments were made anonymously. At the meeting, New London Superintendent Scott Bleck reminded the members of the board that they completed the self-evaluation shortly after the first of the year. “This is something the board has done annually since my time here, which has been a valuable tool to self-reflect and bring forward the status of where we are,” Bleck said. “The feedback is really intended for us as a group.” Chris Martinson, who had previously served as board president, told the board what the self-evaluation should be used for evaluation of the board, adding that it should not be used to attack other board members. “It is easy to use the comments section to take things out on one another if we’re frustrated, and I can understand that,” Martinson said. “But you have to take those with a grain of salt because we all get frustrated at points where we disagree and we all say things that we regret later.” Board President John Heideman said that overall, positive board interaction scored the highest in the eight years that he has been on the board. “I’m very happy with that,” Heideman said. Grossman agreed with Heideman, stating he scored the board the highest he has since the board has done the self-evaluation. “But to my surprise, I was taken back by the pointed comments that were made about me,” Grossman said. “So, I’m here tonight to discuss those things with you.” Grossman said one of the comments accused him of attending teachers’ meetings. “In the seven years I have been on this board, I have never, ever been in an administrative meeting with a group of teachers,” Grossman said. Grossman acknowledged that he is in the school buildings on a “somewhat regular basis.” He said he’s in the elementary school building to read to elementary school students. He’s also in the middle school to help prepare eighth graders to attend the junior achievement job fair. A couple of years ago, Grossman said he was at the middle school every Tuesday to have lunch with a student who needed more positive interaction with an adult male. Grossman said he’s also at the high school doing different interviews with students. “So, whoever made that comment, where that source came from, it’s totally, totally false,” Grossman said. “Now, if you got some good information to counteract that, I’d like to hear it right now. I’m guessing it’s just hearsay.” Grossman also brought up comments about him arguing against the majority of the board. “This is a democratic process that we do here every two weeks, and everybody has the ability to present their opinion,” Grossman said. He added that he has always adhered to the majority vote of the board. “A lot of these comments I think came from the conversations we’ve been having the last few months in regards to the special committee,” Grossman said. Another comment that Grossman said upset him was one that stated he breaks policies and rules. “If I’m doing that, the board president’s responsibility is to make me aware of that, and Chris (Martinson) and I in our conversations, (that) never came up,” Grossman said. “You also have the ability, if I’m breaking a board policy, to go ahead and put me up for censorship. So, if you still believe that that’s what’s going on, go ahead. But I don’t believe that I have broken any policies or broken any rules.” The comment that Grossman said bothered him the most was the accusation that he lied. “That’s a direct and derogatory insult on me,” Grossman said. “I don’t lie. I never have. I don’t lie. You better have some good proof of when I’ve lied. I don’t appreciate this at all. I’ve worked pretty hard at being a part of this group. It’s no secret that I’m kind of the odd man out, but I’m still here, and I’m going to continue to be here. I agree with Chris (Martinson), this is not the place for this. If you have an issue with me, call me up, we’ll get together, we’ll have a conversation. I’m here for one reason, to improve the education of the students in this district. It’s the only reason I ran for school board seven years ago. I had no agenda. I wanted to see this district continue to improve.” After Grossman’s comments, he received applause from some of the attendees at the meeting. After Grossman’s comments, Martinson said he didn’t make any of the comments Grossman referred to, but that he would take the blame for some of the comments. He said he should have been quicker during meetings when he was president, to recognize infringements on the board’s norms.

Board approves wage and salary increase

Staff gets 2.95% bump

BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

NEW LONDON – The New London Board of Education approved a 2.95% wage and salary increase for the district’s certified staff, support staff, and administrative staff for the 2025-26 school year, with the increases amounting to an estimated $500,000. The board approved the wage and salary increases when it met April 30. Board member Nate Grundy abstained from the vote for the certified staff increase.

Discussion

New London Superintendent Scott Bleck told the board that the recommendation was for a 2.95% increase for all employee groups in the district. He said the recommendation was based of the board’s discussion on options for wage and salary increases at its April 9 meeting, as well as the discussion at three Total Compensation Committee meetings. The 2.95% represented the consumer price index (CPI). Leading off the discussion, Board President John Heideman said the board has a history of providing salary increases that are equal to the CPI. Board member Chris Martinson said normally an exact salary increase proposal would be presented to the board, but this year the Total Compensation Committee was split. “But everybody felt that, regardless of their position of what should be done, that we would respect the majority of this board on that,” Martinson said. He added that the committee approved budgeting for a 2.95% wage and salary increase. The committee could not agree on how to divide those funds up between district employees. He said two ideas were presented. One option would be to give a 2.95% wage and salary increase across the board to all district employees. The other option was to give a flat amount to everyone who is a fulltime employee, with part-time employees receiving a percentage of that amount based on how many hours they work. The flat amount discussed was $1,850 for the certified staff in the district. Heideman said he’d like the board to do a more research, and in the future implement some sort of merit-based compensation.

“We need to do something along that lines to acknowledge our star performers that give 120% every day,” Heideman said. “We don’t have a system, let’s be honest. We don’t have a system to do that at this time, but I would like to see that down the road.” But for this year, Heideman said he agreed with how Joe Marquardt, SDNL business services director, presented the wage and salary increases. Regarding hourly employees, Martinson said the board should do what it can to provide them with an hourly increase because the district is “bleeding loss of employees,” especially PARA and special education employees.

Certified staff

According to the Topic

Summary Sheet (TSS) in the board packet, New London’s certified teacher pay ranges from $45,000-$88,106. An increase of 2.95% would mean increases in the range of $1,328-$2,599, depending on the teacher’s current salary. Total working days is currently 187 days.

Support staff

According to the TSS, 34 of the 95 hourly support staff are eligible for a level increase. Employees already at level 3 would receive a $.60 cent increase. “The levels are set up to reward staff for retention and doesn’t start a new employee at the same level as an experienced employee in the support group,” it was stated in the TSS. “Unless approved by the board, all staff begin at Level 1.”

Administrative staff

According to the TSS, the district administrator reviews the recommended individual wage increases with the board, and will follow that procedure this year. “Those specific wages are considered by the board after review by the District Administrator of each administrator’s performance,” it was stated in the TSS.

Budget impact

The approved wage and salary increases would amount to an estimated $500,000 plus fringe benefits. Certified staff would receive $312,925 plus fringe benefits, support staff would receive $106,000 plus fringe benefits, and administrative staff would receive $32,275 plus fringe benefits.

Grant writer serves three groups

NEW LONDON – The New London Area Chamber of Commerce, in partnership with the School District of New London and the City of New London, has hired Payton Lehnherr as the community’s new grant writer. In this newly created position, Lehnherr will support efforts to drive economic development, secure grant funding, and foster prosperity across New London. She will work closely with all three organizations to identify funding opportunities, submit competitive grant applications and advance projects that benefit local businesses, education, infrastructure, and the overall community. “Her energy, expertise, and passion for community development align perfectly with the vision we have for New London’s future. We are excited to watch the positive impact of her work unfold,” said April Kopitzke, Executive Director of the New London Area Chamber of Commerce.

School parking lot gets paint job

BY EMILY DOUD
STAFF REPORTER

MANAWA – The Manawa School Board approved funding to repaint the lines in the high school parking lot on April 28 to make for safer traffic flow during busy periods of the day. The parking lot will be seal coated and restriped, with a color coding system for parking spots and a new directional flow for drop off and pick up zones, as well as new signs. Ryan Peterson, the district administrator, said there will be blue and yellow lines on parking spots, with blue lines being for visitors and yellow being for student drivers. “The more visible parking lot markings will create one way flow that is more efficient and will increase visibility for everyone using the parking lot. In addition, we will have reserved stalls for short-term visitor use that will support a move away from the curb during pick-up times,” Peterson said. “We are hopeful the solution will be a win-win for all members of our school community.” The idea of the re-striping of the lot is to also create a safer environment for students and parents. “Our intention is to have parents be parking so that when students walk across you can see them. Right now students are walking out in front of cars as cars are going down,” said Craig Fietzer, a school board member. “The bottom line is we want this to be safe ... a lot of times kids are not looking out and even 15 miles an hour can do damage to somebody.” Directional arrows will create new paths to create a one-way traffic flow, which will help with students walking through two-way traffic to get to their car. The board agreed that re-training students and parents to the new parking lot directional arrows and parking spots will be integral in ensuring the new layouts success. Not only will they be sending out a reminder at the start of the next school year, but they also intend to make sure each student it explained the proper procedure for the parking lot as they are obtaining a parking permit.

A fresh look for Iola

BY EMILY DOUD
STAFF REPORTER

IOLA – The Village of Iola got a makeover after the Iola Revitalization committee added banners and new trash cans to the downtown area which will soon be followed by more new benches and flowers.

The trash cans and banners were placed last week by Glenn Tetzlaff and Eddie Bonikowske of the Iola Public Works.

Jennifer Schustek, the Village of Iola president, said the project started out of wanting to give the downtown area a new, fresh look.

“We just thought that’s what the committee is really there for, to revitalize,” she said.

Schustek said they are planning to get colors that are bright and stand out.

Adding bright colors to the downtown area was the goal of the project, with the trash cans being red, the benches being yellow and an array of flowers that will be placed between hanging baskets and flower boxes.

Schustek said the Scandinavia Garden club will be planting the flowers, which they bought from Chain O’Lakes Home and Garden out of Waupaca.

Aside from the banners from Weiser Graphics in Waupaca, trash cans and flowers, the new benches around the village started with an idea, a drawing and some help from local industry.

Joe Opperman, the director at the Iola Car Show, said

New Banners and trash cans have been added to Iola’s downtown area, soon to follow will be benches and flowers. Emily Doud Photo the project would not have been completed without the help of the Waupaca Foundry, Alliance Industries in Appleton, Feltz Lumber and Metal Crafters, both out of Stevens Point, as well as help from car show employees, Ali Johnson and Jim Payton.

Payton, a volunteer at the car show and former Foundry employee, was able to create a wood prototype of the drawing, knowing what would be possible through the Foundry from a design and casting stand point, Opperman said.

From there it was handed to David Scott, director of tooling and process manufacturing at the Foundry, and it was Alan Crawford, an engineer at the Foundry, who created a digital model that could more easily be produced.

Opperman said benches started rolling out of the Foundry and were sent for painting, with the first bench being donated to the committee.

“We want this to serve the community in as many ways as possible,” Opperman said. “The benches will help beautify the village and grounds in a creative way as well as generate funds to support more good works. This is an awesome example of teamwork and community building that would not have been possible without our friends at the Waupaca Foundry. The talent there is incredible, and their willingness to support the local community is really felt with this project.”

Each bench is sponsored, and each bench that is sponsored will then give $1,000 donation back to the Iola Revitalization Committee to continue to beautify the village.

The benches are customizable for color and messaging, Opperman said, and are available for sale at the show grounds.

They can be bought for sponsorship or memorial purposes or they can simply be brought home and enjoyed.

The first round of benches has been sponsored by Charlie and Heather Hoyord, Mark and Terry Doll, Dale Bestul and Brian Derus, as well as the Iola Lions Club and Iola Car Show.

The Iola Revitalization Committee is a branch of the village board. Tax dollars were not used to fund the project.

shine. It will serve generations of athletes, create countless memories and stand as a source of pride for the Manawa School District. Let’s celebrate this moment and all it represents.”

Manawa school district baseball and softball games hosted in Manawa were historically played at Lindsay Park, as well as summer baseball, softball and Little League games.

After the heavy rains and flooding July 5, 2024 the Manawa dam was breached and flooded the sewer plant as well as the playing fields at Lindsay Park, both of which are down river from the dam.

City officials were unable to give an exact timeline for getting the fields up and running, unsure of whether they would be ready before the high school baseball and softball season started.

The Manawa school board jumped into action to make sure students would be able to host games on home turf.

“We were told by multiple contractors through the city that those fields would not be ready for play, which then mobilized the board of education to say ‘they we’re going to make sure we have playing fields for our kids,’” Peterson said. “Baseball and softball are incredibly important to our community and the school system. We’ve got to figure out a way that we’re going to help support that in the community.”

The Manawa school board approved the measure for building the softball field on high school property Oct. 10.

Many from the community attended a meeting of the Improvements and Services Committee Nov. 14 where city officials announced that they started the bidding process for the fields at Lindsay Park.

Committee chair Ann Bonikowske announced at that meeting that the fields at Lindsay Park will be better than they have ever been, also acknowledging that the high school has opted to build their own softball field.

Bonikowske said the city would have the baseball fields done by the time the season comes.

Peterson said this really was a group effort, with people from all over the community stepping in to ensure a home field in Manawa, and to support local sports for their students.

Project details

The project is estimated to cost $70,189, and the city must match the $34,000 grant amount. The funds for the city’s matching funds were approved in the city’s 2024-26 Capital Improvement Plan (CIP) which includes various department projects that the city utilizes general obligation bonds for, Muske said.

Muske said the city hopes to start work on the project in June or July, with the exact date dependent on the schedules of the contractors doing the work. The project is expected to be completed by the end of November.

While there is no definite plan for the space, Muske said the city has worked with the Clintonville Chamber of Commerce on a number of ideas to utilize the space. Some ideas included using the space for the farmer’s market, as well as additional space for existing events such as Fall Frenzy and Christmas festivities.

“Currently, the grade from the river to sidewalk on 11th Street is so significant, we are unable to utilize the area,” Muske said. “The goal of the project is to create a less aggressive grade for a versatile space to use for future opportunities such as seating, vendors, fishing, events, and much more.”

Without the grant, Muske said the project could have been completed only if the city cut a project from its CIP, used general reserve funds, levied for the project within the city’s operational budget, or levied for it within the capital budget with additional bonding in the city’s next borrowing cycle.

“The city continues to heavily rely on grant funding and state aid for all department projects/operations to continue to keep the operational and debt levy stable,” Muske said. “The city’s departments are always researching feasible grant opportunities and will continue to do so for the benefit of the community.”

Obituary Notices

Krause, David

David Frederick Krause, 84, of Bowler, WI passed peacefully into the loving arms of his Savior, Jesus Christ, on May 7th, 2025, at 1:15 p.m., after a courageous battle with cancer. David's life was a testament to faith, resilience, and the enduring power of love.

David was born on September 13, 1940, to the late Frederick and Belle (Bright) Krause in Beaver Dam, WI. The family later moved to a farm near Ogdensburg where he attended Stony Ridge school through 8th grade and graduated in 1959 from Iola-Scandinavia High School.

At age 16, David was severely wounded in a hunting/trapping accident which left him with birdshot pellets lodged in his heart, lungs and other organs. Although this incident left him with many on-going health issues, he survived the accident when his wounds stopped bleeding and closed after a nun prayed for him.

David was drafted into the United State Army in 1959. He trained to become a Medic then was transferred to Infantry/Artillery.

David married Nancy Wilson on June 6, 1962. They had four daughters.

David worked at various jobs until he became a master electrician. David and Nancy embarked on many adventures as they moved from place to place including a farm east of Tigerton, WI; Island Lake, Ontario, Canada; Manawa, WI; Parmelee, SD; Bowler, WI; Taylor, NE; and Jennings, OK.

As David and Nancy moved to different locations he became like a second father to several children and made lifelong friends wherever he lived. When they moved to Oklahoma due to health reasons and were separated from their daughters, God soon gave them a new loving family at First Baptist Church in Oilton, Oklahoma. During David's hospitalizations he would always pray, "Lord, not my will, but Thine be done." There were many doctors and nurses who became more than medical staff and soon became brothers and sisters in Christ as they talked and prayed with David. Wherever David's adventures led him, those who came to know him, loved him, and quickly became fellow members of the family where Christian fellowship flowed in sweet accord.

David loved spending time with his wife, children, and grandchildren traveling to visit relatives, cooking, fishing, playing in the snow, farming, and raising horses, sheep, and goats.

David is survived by his loving wife of 62 years and 11 months, Nancy (Wilson) Krause; four daughters, Michelle Nemmetz; Josephine VanDenPlas (Charles); Laura Mueller (Thomas); and Diana Carley; two grandsons, Michael Nemmetz and Scott Nemmetz (Brianna); great-grandsons, Rhett, Crew, and Indie Nemmetz; a sister, Mary Zenefski (Richard); a brother, Marvin Krause (Betty); a brother-in-law, William Wilson; 3 nephews and 4 nieces.

Despite David's life-long health struggles he had a deep and abiding faith in God. God victoriously led David through dark times and lovingly crafted him into the adored, respected, and beloved husband, father, and grandfather that he was. David is now safe and secure in the cherished arms of Jesus.

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." - John 3:16

A celebration of life will be scheduled at a later date.

Porrey, Kenneth

Kenneth Alvin Porrey, age 92, of Waupaca, WI, passed away peacefully on Sunday, May 11, 2025.

Ken was born on August 28, 1932, in Chicago, IL, to Josiah and Alice (Lindskoog) Porrey. He moved with his family to Waupaca in 1946, a community he would come to love deeply and serve with unwavering dedication throughout his life.

On September 2, 1953, Ken married the love of his life, Jeanette Helen Martin, in Manawa, WI.

Together they shared 68 wonderful years of marriage, raising a family and building a legacy rooted in love, music, service, and community.

A proud tradesman, Ken began his career as a Journeyman Electrician, working for eighteen years with Local 134 in Chicago and later with Local 577 in Appleton. In 1969, he joined the Wisconsin Engineering Division of State Facilities Management in Madison, where he worked as an on-site construction coordinator overseeing state building projects until his retirement in 1996.

Ken also served his country with pride in the Wisconsin National Guard during the 1950s.

An active member of his community, Ken gave generously of his time and talents. He sang for many years in the St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Church choir and helped form a Barbershop Chapter in Waupaca in the 1960s. Alongside his wife Jan, he owned and operated Jane's Music Shoppe during the 1980s, fostering a love for music in the community. He was a longtime member of the Stevens Point Barbershop Chapter and served on the board of the Waupaca Community Chorus, participating in every performance for over fifty years.

Ken was a passionate local historian, serving as Treasurer of the Rural Historical Society for thirty years, a member of the Town of Dayton Planning Commission for nine years, and a dedicated election worker for the Town of Dayton. He was proud to be part of the Waupaca Sesqui-centennial Committee in 2007.

Ken found great joy in volunteering at ThedaCare Medical Center in Waupaca, greeting patients with kindness and compassion. He loved spending time in his workshop on woodworking and restoration projects, bringing new life to cars, boats, and tractors. A lifelong fan of Big Band music, he fondly remembered Saturday night dances at the Indian Crossing Casino in the 1940s and '50s. Most of all, Ken cherished time with his family—especially their Friday night fish fry's.

He is survived by his sons, Michael Porrey, John Porrey, and Peter Porrey; eight grandchildren; nine great-grandchildren; and his brother, Douglas Porrey.

Ken was preceded in death by his beloved wife, Jeanette Helen (Martin) Porrey; his parents, Josiah and Alice Porrey; and his sisters, Lois Tomaras, Gloria Porrey, Barbara Porrey, and two great granddaughters.

The Board of Review may require objections to the amount or valuation of property to be submitted on forms approved by the Wisconsin Department of Revenue, and the Board of Review shall require that any forms include stated valuations of the property in question. Persons who own land and improvements to that land may object to the aggregate valuation of that land and improvements to that land, but no person who owns land and improvements to that land may object only to the valuation of that land or only to the valuation of improvements to that land. No person may be allowed in any action or proceedings to question the amount or valuation of property unless the written objection has been filed and that person in good faith presented evidence to the Board of Review in support of the objections and made full disclosure before the Board of Review, under oath, of all of that person's property liable to assessment in the district and the value of that property. The requirement that objections be in writing may be waived by express action of the Board.

4. When appearing before the Board of Review, the objecting person shall specify in writing the person's estimate of the value of the land and of the improvements that are the subject of the person's objection and specify the information used to arrive at that estimate.

5. No person may appear before the Stat. §73.03(2a). The City of Weyauwega has an ordinance for the confidentiality of information about income and expenses that is provided to the assessor under this paragraph that provides exceptions for persons using information in the discharge of duties imposed by law or the duties of their officer or by order of a court. The information that is provided in this paragraph, unless a court determines that it is inaccurate, is not subject to the right of inspection and copying under Wis. Stat. §19.35(1).

6. The Board of Review shall hear upon oath, by telephone, all ill or disabled persons who present to the board a letter from a physician, physician assistant, or advanced practice nurse prescriber certified under Wis. Stat. §441.16(2) that confirms their illness or disability. No other persons may testify by telephone unless the Board of Review, in its discretion, has determined to grant a property owner's or their representative's request to testify under oath by telephone or written statement.

7. No person may appear before the Board of Review, testify to the Board of Review by telephone, or contest the amount of any assessment unless, at least 48 hours before the first meeting of the Board of Review, or at least 48 hours before the objection is heard if the objection is allowed under Wis. SPASH softball loses pivotal WVC game against D.C. Everest

BY NICK GRIESBACH
SPORTS EDITOR

WESTON – Stevens Point Panthers softball took on D.C. Everest in a battle for a potential Wisconsin Valley Conference championship on the line. Only one game behind D.C. Everest in the conference standings, SPASH was hoping to get up early. Both teams became locked in a pitching duel. D.C. Everest pitcher Addison Kluck only allowed three hits and one walk the entire game as she pitched a shutout. Through the first four and a half innings, both teams were scoreless before Mara Meverden hit an RBI double in the bottom of the fifth inning to give D.C. Everest a 1-0 lead. A rally from SPASH could not be executed as Kluck did not allow a Panthers batter to reach base in the seventh as she closed out the game.

Senior Spotlight

Jalyssa Groskreutz

A fifth career appearance at the WIAA state competition, including two trips in cross country competition in her junior and senior seasons, as well as her sophomore and junior years in track & field, would be an ideal way for Jalyssa Groskreutz to finish her time competing for SPASH as she wraps up her track season. Beginning her time running in cross country as a freshman, Jalyssa also started competing in track and field after the encouragement of her coaches and competed in the 4x800, 1 mile, 800, 4x400 and 5K. Jalyssa works hard to keep pace with her events and studies. "Each year has gotten progressively more difficult as I have been tasked with more homework and have taken on more challenging courses while still practicing every day. Due to this, my bedtime has crept later and later, from 9 pm in 9th grade until 11 pm/12 am now as a senior. I do my best to get to sleep earlier when I can, but completing my homework on time has always been my top priority." Teammates push Jalyssa to keep pursuing her athletics, "My favorite part about both sports is the camaraderie you share with all of your teammates. Nothing beats the time you spend with such incredible people every day. I can guarantee that without the supportive environment presented by both sports, it would have been challenging to keep up with things and continue to improve. Encouragement from both your coaches and your teammates, paired with the knowledge that you are never alone in your goals, accomplishments, or even low points, is the ultimate source of motivation." Even after her success and qualifying for state, Jalyssa thinks of her first competition as her most rewarding, "My most memorable experience in high school sports so far would have to be the first Cross Country race I ever ran. That was the day when I realized what great potential I held and felt my first spark of self-confidence. More than that, though, it was also the first time I ever experienced people who didn't or hardly knew me cheering me on and congratulating me when I finished. It might not have been a big deal to someone else, but for little 9th-grade me, who felt a strong sense of isolation at that time, it meant a lot to me. It symbolized not only the start of a new chapter in my life, but the very start of a gradual yet incredibly positive shift in my mindset." A member of the UW-River Falls cross country and track & field next fall, Jalyssa gives a shout-out to coaches and teammates who helped her along the way. "My marvelous coach Zoe Browne, and my wonderful teammate Tessa Brukhart." Jalyssa sees a change in herself and credits her athletic experience for her personal growth, "As a senior, it is incredibly heart-warming to look back on my growth throughout high school. Today, I am proud of myself. I know that it is through the sports I have participated in that I have found and developed my self-confidence, strength, positivity, work ethic, leadership skills, overall happiness, and friendships that could last a lifetime. I would not be the same person I am today had I not stepped out of my shell just enough during my freshman year to try something new, and I could not be more grateful that I did. Not only have I grown as a person and an athlete, but I have soared to heights far greater than I could have imagined."
