Crying in the parking lot

Long-simmering problems at Humane Society

BY KATIE SCHIMKE STAFF REPORTER

STEVENS POINT - Former volunteers and employees of the Humane Society of Portage County (HSPC) have come forward to share their experiences from 1993 to 2025. Their stories speak of alleged abuse, unnecessary confinement, unclean conditions, low morale among volunteers and the use of non-disclosure agreements to prevent "private cases becoming public."

Dolores Glytas has volunteered at HSPC for 32 years, although her roles for the shelter expand to former board president, former interim executive director, and media personality both on radio and screen. Glytas has seen HSPC grow from its shelter in Bukolt Park to its current building built in 2007 following a campaign she spearheaded to raise funds.

When discussing her own time on the board, Glytas said, "My board and I raised 1.2 million dollars to build that new building, we knocked on practically every door in the county," she said. Glytas said in recent years the building has faced maintenance issues and rust, something that she claimed is regularly not addressed.

Her media appearances have made her a local figure in the community. Glytas made weekly appearances on News Channel 9 with Melissa Langbehn to promote cats and dogs for adoption at HSPC.

"When appearing on Channel 9, I'd say 90% of every pet that I brought on got adopted that week. It was such an asset for adoptions, and just inquiries and donations." Glytas said.

Glytas works mostly with shelter cats and has fostered an estimated 500 kittens. A passion and devotion for animals is something not only Glytas shares with the community, but something she says is abundant in HSPC staff and volunteers that care for the animals, as well.

Around 2012, Glytas said she noticed a change in management and day-to-day operations at HSPC which followed a change in the board, she claimed.

No more walks

Alyssa Bupp started as a volunteer with HSPC in 2014 and worked her way to a management position in shelter care and behavior and enrichment. "My whole heart is in animal welfare and dog behavior. I had the best job I could have ever hoped for, so I was devastated when I morally couldn't stay there anymore," Bupp said.

Self described as "running a tight ship," Bupp said cleanliness and the well being of the animals were high priorities for herself and her staff during her time as shelter care manager.

While she was a manager, trained volunteers would take adoptable dogs home with them to decompress for the night as the kennel setting can put stress on a dog. Also, employees and staff could take home dogs with behavioral issues or dogs not yet deemed adoptable.

"That was great for the dogs, to get the chance to get out of the kennel environment which can make a dog really tense and just get to wind down. Volunteers used to send me pictures of the dogs at home with them, just relaxing and getting to be in a home environment, Bupp said.

According to Bupp, changes within the board of directors around 2018 led to a decline in interpersonal relationships between departments. Bupp described this new change as "militarized," and no longer allowed for volunteers and employees to take dogs home for a night, something Bupp said greatly benefited the mental health of the animals. Bupp also explained other activities such as walking dogs to Lake Pacawa a quarter mile away from HSPC so the dogs weren't "inundated with the shelter all time," and car rides were beneficial for her shelter dogs, but were reportedly no longer allowed under the new leadership at this time.

Bupp said she went to management and leadership for support that she had previously received from the employee formerly in the role, and said she was told "it wasn't their job" to provide her support. Bupp then cut herself as shelter care manager and came into HSPC two days a week as the behavior and enrichment coordinator. According to Bupp, what was once a scent-free and cleanliness first facility during her time as shelter care manager had reportedly "exponentially declined" under new management.

"I would get there around 8 a.m., which is when cleaning is kind of getting underway. And the dog kennels—I could just smell the stray kennels from where I was parked, which was out by the garage. And there's just no reason for that unless an animal is just sick. But it was just overwhelming and it emanated through the parking lot," she said.

In 2021, Bupp created behavior plans for dogs that contained basic information for other staff members to utilize to help the dog succeed behaviorally. When coming in on one of her two work days, Bupp went to see one of the dogs she had been working with. She was surprised as the dog had not been signed out of her kennel for three days. "It was a situation where I thought maybe they just hadn't written it down, but what we were always told when I first started, was that if it's not written down, the dog didn't get out," Bupp said. She claimed when she did get the dog out of her kennel, the dog's behavior had substantially declined.

After confronting the new shelter care manager, Bupp said she was told the staff was nervous the dog would get loose because she could be

On May 15, the SHINE project finally found a home at Rotary Riverview Park. Waupaca Foundry employees installed the glass tiles made by hundreds of community members into the cast iron panels.

SHINE on you community-made artwork

WAUPACA - A community art project that started in 2022 is now installed at Rotary Riverview Park. It is composed of four heavymetal panels with a geometric pattern of squares and diamonds and within those shapes are glass tiles made by people ranging from children to older folks. Each glass tile is unique in design and color. The four panels are arranged next to the Waupaca River and as the sun tracks across the sky, sunlight filters through the glass tiles while the steel frame panels blot it out. This was aptly named, the SHINE project.

"One goal was to find a way, though art, to bring the community together. The response from the community was resounding, as each and every workshop was filled, with wait lists of people who wanted to join in, said Marci Reynolds of the Waupaca Community Arts Board. "The beauty of installation day was that as each tile reflects the participants' individuality, installing them together in the four panels showed our connections in the community. The significance of the light shining through helps us to connect with our place in the universe, and the very physical planting of the panels in Rotary Park reminds us of our place in community, together, on this earth."

The Arts Board hosted 16 free workshops to build the 8-inch-by-8-inch tiles. They were supported in part by a grant from the Wisconsin Arts Board with funds from the state of Wisconsin and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Meanwhile, when Main Street was getting ripped up to rebuild the downtown area, rails from the old trolley were discovered and Public Works Director Justin Berrens salvaged them.

The old rails were passed onto the Waupaca Foundry to be recycled and melted down to be used in the casting of the panels. The

Rapist gets 10 years

Beat victim to unconsciousness

STEVENS POINT -Portage County District Attorney Cass Cousins announced that Andrew Ostrowski, 45, formerly residing in Stevens Point, will now be spending the next ten years in prison after having been convicted by a jury on February 13, 2025, of Substantial Battery and Second Degree Sexual Assault to his then live-in girlfriend.

Following his convictions at trial earlier this year, he was sentenced on May 13, 2025 by Judge Patricia Baker to sentences totaling ten years of initial confinement and eight years of extended supervision. Under Wisconsin's Truth in Sentencing system, this means that Ostrowski will serve every single day of that term of initial confinement. Ostrowski is required to register as a sex offender for the rest of his life.

At trial, the jury heard testimony from the victim about how Ostrowski repeatedly beat and strangled her into unconsciousness and sexually assaulted her at their residence for about twelve hours. She reported losing consciousness several times and being surprised upon regaining consciousness that she was still alive. She testified that she truly believed that Ostrowski was going to kill her. She escaped the residence when Ostrowski left for work. The victim's identity is being withheld to protect her privacy. District Attorney Cass Cousins stated: "I would like to first express my appreciation to the jury for their careful consideration of the facts surrounding this terribly violent episode. I also recognize the officers with the Stevens Point Police Department for their thorough investigation of these serious crimes and the compassion and concern they showed the victim at every point in the investigation. The Portage County District Attorney's Office and every Portage County Law Enforcement Agency, aggressively investigates and prosecutes men who beat and/or sexually assault women."

Seeking sex at Dollar General

Encouraged by voyeur farmer

WAUTOMA agency cannot recall any prior arrest for soliciting prostitution in the history of the department," wrote Wautoma Chief of Police Paul Mott in an arrest release about a man offering pay for play at Dollar General.

On May 14, 35-year-old Joshua Frahm entered Dollar General and approached two females. He offered them money in exchange for performing a sexual act. They declined and he left and came back and offered them more money. One female got a description of his vehicle. She passed that information along to Wautoma Police and they found Frahm and his vehicle at Kwik Trip.

Frahm admitted he offered the two women at Dollar General money for sex but it was because a Saxeville farmer was willing to pay Frahm to watch his sexual acts with the women. The farmer has not been identified.

Dollar General employees believe Frahm approached other women in the area. He appeared in court on May 16 and is being held in place of a bond for two counts of Soliciting Prostitution and Disorderly Conduct. Soliciting Prostitution is a Class H felony and Frahm could face six years in prison.

'We are grateful for the quick-thinking employees of Dollar General who were able to provide information that led to the suspect's arrest," wrote Mott.

Memorial Day: Honoring the Ultimate Sacrifice

Dear Reader,

As Memorial Day approaches, we pause to remember and honor those who gave everything for our nation. Each Memorial Day, we stand in solemn gratitude for those who never returned home. The empty chairs at family tables. The children who grew up without a parent. The spouses who faced life alone. Their sacrifice echoes through generations and forms the foundation of the liberties we often take for

My own father was among those who answered the call of duty, serving our country in World War II to keep the world free from tyranny and oppression. He was fortunate to return home, but many of his comrades-inarms did not. My family's military tradition continued with my cousin, who served as a Lieutenant Colonel in the Army until recently. He earned the distinguished Ranger tab, representing the pinnacle of military training and excellence. Men and women like him stand ready to defend our nation at a moment's notice, prepared to make the same sacrifice as those we honor on Memorial Day.

As we honor the memory of those who gave their lives for our country, we must also recognize the silent battles many of our veterans continue to fight long after their time on the battlefield has ended. Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder, or PTSD, affects a significant number of those who have served, and it is a reminder that the cost of freedom is not always visible. These men and women carry wounds that can't be seen—a burden of trauma, memory, and sacrifice that continues well beyond their return home. Their courage does not end with deployment; it continues every day as they strive to heal and find peace. As a nation, we owe them not only our gratitude but our unwavering support.

As we gather with family and friends this Memorial Day weekend for barbecues and celebrations, let us take a moment—a dedicated, mindful moment—to remember why this holiday exists. Let us teach our children about sacrifice and service. Let us bow our heads in gratitude for those who died defending our values, our freedoms, and our way of life.

May we prove worthy of their sacrifice by being citizens who honor their memory not just on Memorial Day, but every day—by living with purpose, protecting the freedoms they died for, and building a nation worthy of their

Two pilots log flight hours, chase dreams

BY EMILY DOUD STAFF REPORTER

WAUPACA – That time after high school can be overwhelming when faced with making a decision that will affect the future. For two Waupaca County residents the decision was simple, they took to the skies.

Aaron Wehrman, 25, and Jordan Zastrow, 20, have wanted to be pilots since childhood and with both young men receiving their commercial license in the last year they have managed to conquer their goals.

Zastow started flying when he was 18 years old, taking his first solo flight and also receiving his private pilot license along with his commercial license when he was 19 years old.

He went to school in Weyauwega-Fremont and was encouraged to try a STEM program to get into flying, also taking a tour at Fox Valley Technical College to start an aeronautical program.

ʻĪ didn't know it was that doable ... it always seemed like a farfetched thing," Zastrow said. "I just fell in love with it and I'm still doing it and probably will for the rest of my Wehrman grew up in Hawaii but moved to Wisconsin last year, moving in with his grandmother who is a Waupaca resident.

Wehrman's goal was to go to flight school which he said is significantly less expensive here in Wisconsin than what it was in Hawaii.

"As kindergartner a they were like, 'What do you want to be?' And I was like, pilot or an astronaut," Wehrman said. "Then I got older and I was like, 'astronaut? That's a little much." Wehrman said when he graduated from high school it was required that pilots obtain a college degree, which is no longer the case, because pilots were at such a shortage they dropped the requirement to recruit more.

Wehrman said he went to school for environmental science and he also has a master's degree in natural resources and environmental management. Wehrman said with the costs exceptionally lower in Wisconsin he was able to afford flight school, as well as taking shifts at the Wheelhouse Restaurant to help curb his costs.

With the amount of hours they have under their belt, which is right around 500 for both of them, Wehrman said there is a lag time after a pilot receives their commercial license because most companies will not hire you until you are over 1,500 hours.

Pilots for hire

With the licenses that they have there are still a number of things that they are able to do, one of which is ferrying planes across the country which is what Wehrman and Zastrow are currently doing under their company, iFly LLC Ferry Pilot Service.

"When people buy a plane, or sell a plane or just need a plane moved from one place to another, sometimes people don't want to do it all themselves because it's kind of a trek or they're not rated to fly it. They'll hire us to fly the plane for them," Wehrman said.

Wehrman said the longest flight to deliver a plane, since starting the company last December, was from Ohio to Modesto, California.

The plane they were delivering went 100 miles an hour and could not fly very high, which meant that they could not go over the Rocky Moun-

Wehrman said they instead had to go down Texas, through New Mexico and Arizona then up through California, a trip that took them three flights a day for two days.

The plane they were flying could go about four hours at a time, so they had to stop frequently to refuel.

Wehrman said about 25% of the planes that are scheduled to deliver actually happen, being that the amount prep work that needs to be completed, namely assuring documentation that shows the plane is safe to make the

There is also insurance, obtaining a ferry permit, lists of completed inspections and annual inspection paperwork, which can take time and if the plane doesn't pass or they deem the plane unsafe to fly than the job is can-

Wehrman said they have been to about 12 states so far since starting the company five months ago.

Zastrow said planes that they deliver are most often bought by retirees looking for a new hobby, or people that may not have obtained the medical clearance to fly, which the Federal Aviation Administration requires in order to maintain a license.

It also could be as simple as the person that bought the plane simply doesn't want to do the leg work of bringing the plane

"It's a really fun thing to do," Zastrow said. "You feel freer than you ever will when you're flying a plane around."

On the horizon

Zastrow currently has a fourth ownership in the plane he learned to fly in.

Zastrow said he is interested in becoming a private jet pilot in the future, not wanting to venture into the commercial airline world.

Currently he works at Appleton Flight Center, which is a hub for private jets in eastern Wisconsin.

Wehrman said he does also not want to go to commercial airlines, instead wanting to work for places like CAL-FIRE, who help to put out wildfires in California or work for the Department of Natural Resources, who need pilots for various environmental tasks.

For now Wehrman and Zastrow are still building on their flight hours, as well as ferrying planes and starting a new aerial photography job next month.

The Waupaca Airport has almost 50 planes, as Wehrman said, it may not always look like it is active but the Waupaca Airport is very much alive.

Wehrman and Zastrow both agree that Waupaca Airport managers Mat and Britney Klatt have been integral in their aviation journey, with support and encouragement, both say they would not be where they are today without

These Adirondack chairs were placed at Lime Kiln Park recently by Waupaca County Parks employees.

An Adirondack chair mystery

BY EMILY DOUD STAFF REPORTER

WAUPACA - There are two large Adirondack chairs at Upper Lime Kiln Park that seemed to have appeared out of thin air. One day they were just there leaving people wondering where did they come from?

According to Peter Tabor, Waupaca County Parks Supervisor, the idea came from department head, John Francis.

Looking at the leftover material that the department had from previous projects, they decided to use it to build the chairs for the park. 'We thought it would be a fun way for people to enjoy the park and the Chain, what a view," Tabor said.

The oversized Adirondack chairs were built by the crew at the Parks Department.

As of right now there are no plans to build more for other parks in the county. Tabor said if there was enough interest in having them in more places they may consider adding them to other locations.

They will be moved into storage for the summer months. Tabor said they are there for you to sit in and enjoy the beautiful Chain O' Lakes views.

New CCO at the Foundry

WAUPACA - The Waupaca Foundry appointed Steven Wasil as its new Chief Commercial Officer. He has over 30 years of leadership experience in the steel, stainless, and specialty alloys industries.

Prior to joining Waupaca Foundry, Wasil held executive positions at Finkl Steel, Olympic Steel, and ThyssenKrupp Materials NA. He holds an MBA from the University of Notre Dame and a Bachelor of Science degree from Northwestern University. He has served on multiple industry trade association boards and is widely respected for his dedication to advancing the metals industry.

Steve Wasil

"Steve's deep industry expertise and exceptional leadership make him the ideal person to lead our commercial strategy as we continue to expand our market presence and strengthen partnerships," said Mike Hawthorne, CEO of Waupaca Foundry. "His strategic vision and customer-first mindset will play a vital role in our continued success."

SHINE

Waupaca Foundry poured molten cast iron into a 3Dprinted sand-resin mold in May of 2024 to create the panels. It was an offline pour, meaning it was a one-off specialty project that the Waupaca Foundry adjusted its operations for.

Andy Wanty and Mike Hemmila led a tour of the plant for Arts Board members to observe the red-hot liquid metal, burning at 2,700 degrees Fahrenheit, slide into the voids in the mold like volcano lava.

The glass tiles will shine bright but the cast iron will keep a rusted patina. "In this case, we want the work to rust because the oxidation will be a nice offset against the colors and clarity of the glass," said Hemmila.

difficult to walk. In an effort to provide more training to the new shelter care manager, Bupp said she pulled aside a member from the board and an individual from the veterinary team. She reported that she expressed a need for someone to support the new manager or find someone more qualified for the role, to which she said the board member reportedly replied, "We can't just fire everybody, Alyssa."

Following this incident, Alyssa Bupp turned her keys in and parted ways with the Humane Society of Portage County. "I got this dog outside and just cried in the parking lot. Told her I had to leave, that I couldn't do it anymore," Bupp said.

Volunteers speak out

The volunteer program is a large component of the operations at HSPC, something Bupp noted was halted in 2020 due to the pandemic. According to Board Reports on HSPC's website, pre-pandemic volunteer staff contained 186 active and trained volunteers in June of 2019. In April of 2025, there was a recorded 112 active volunteer and fosters combined. In June 2019, there were 85 volunteers in application status, compared to April 2025 with 79 volunteer applications active following the archival of 179 volunteer applications due to being "applicants for more than six months." After Bupp's departure with the HSPC in 2021, an employee who wishes to be referred to as Jane Doe, reported that around February or March of 2022 a person serving as a board member at the time allegedly choked a dog with a slip leash to the point of the animal needing to be revived. Jane Doe stated that a beagle was brought in after biting someone, which they believe made the former board member fearful of the dog. Jane Doe said the beagle was reportedly suspended in the air with all four feet off the ground, turned blue, and required revival in the form of CPR. The beagle was reported to have recovered and lane Doe states the executive director allegedly instructed the former board member to "watch a video" following the incident. Jane Doe reported that all staff members or volunteers who witnessed the incident were asked to sign a non-disclosure agreement (NDA). An additional individual who volunteered at the time confirmed the incident, but wished to stay anony-

Another former employee, Jim, who worked at the Humane Society for four years in the kitchen and laundry room, expressed feeling "pushed out" out of his position in April of 2025. He reported that when he would come in during his scheduled shift, the dishes and laundry were already completed by a long-term volunteer who previously held a board position. Jim claims this long-term volunteer would get frustrated and become rude.

Jim said of the shelter care staff, "They are excellent, there are no problems there." Then when asked about staff morale at HSPC, Jim replied, "The lowest of the low, the bottom of the barrel."

Dolores Glytas shared similar sentiments of staff morale, saying, "Things used to be great, this used to be a happy place. It's not anymore. You can feel it in the air."

According to Jim, when employees or volunteers would raise concerns with the executive director over care of animals, he witnessed that they would then allegedly be let go within days.

Jim also reports that dogs can sit up to a year in the shelter and get returned frequently, a rate that he estimates is near 50% during his four years at the shelter, compared to his estimation of a near 0% return rate for cats. In addition to Jim's estimations of return rates on dogs, he stated that community members are applying for dogs at a consistent rate but applications are regularly refused or denied.

Adoption and return rates of dogs is something Glytas has witnessed, as well. Glytas reported that more effort is allegedly put into adopting smaller dogs than larger dogs. Glytas estimated that for every one smaller breed dog that will be adopted, there can reportedly be up to 10 larger breed dogs waiting to be adopted for what she estimated to take months to over a year. The cause of this, Glytas claimed, is supposedly due to bias against larger breed dogs from management.

beginning with an introductory tour from the executive director. One year later, on April 25, 2025, Morgan was reportedly "let go" by the executive director. Morgan stated that Glytas asked her to come help at the shelter on April 25, but the executive director allegedly met Morgan at the door and told her that her "services were no longer needed." Morgan stated the executive director claimed to have said they let her go because they reportedly hadn't heard from Morgan Glytas was standing beside Morgan as the incident occurred. Glytas said, "Morgan could have been brought into an office and told that, not in front of people. This is a young lady who really helped out so much with the cats. She even made cat toys that day and brought them in. You know, you just don't treat people that way. I was just appalled." Glytas said the executive director allegedly told Morgan she was not welcome due to her refusal to sign the NDA.

During the January 27, 2025 volunteer meeting, Morgan said volunteers were all asked to sign a NDA. Morgan reported that she asked about the reason for needing an NDA during the volunteer meeting and said she was told they did not want "private cases becoming public."

Morgan and Glytas both expressed confusion over the introduction of the NDA's, Glytas said, "It's not a high security place, a lot of us felt extremely uncomfortable."

Morgan did not sign the NDA, claiming she was not comfortable doing so with current state and issues in the shelter at the time. Morgan reported that following her refusal to sign the NDA, the executive director would supposedly avoid talking to her or passing by her after allegedly telling Morgan they could discuss the NDA fur-

Euthanasia rates

The January NDA was presented on the heels of an email posted anonymously to a local Facebook group from an alleged shelter employee in December. The email that was posted stated that five dogs were going to be euthanized if not adopted or transferred by certain dates.

The Humane Society of Portage County released a statement via their Facebook page on December 16, 2024 regarding the euthanasia email, stating "An email was sent out by a staff member without the executive director's or the board's knowledge or approval. It contains a lot of inaccuracies. We are still at a 99.5% live release rate today." According to the 2024 Dog and Cat Report from the December 2024 board report, nine cats and one dog were euthanized in 2024. Morgan stated that when the dogs were allegedly going to be scheduled for euthanasia, an employee who didn't work in dog adoptions reportedly took over coordinating transfers and adoptions to ensure each dog landed some-

The December email regarding the euthanasia stated that it was due to shelter overflow and financial stress, something Morgan claimed she saw also affecting the cats. On January 17, 2025, Morgan said she was working with the cats when she saw less than a centimeter of cat litter in litter boxes, something she said was done to "cut costs" despite her knowledge of an allegedly sizable inventory of donated cat litter. Due to the lack of litter in boxes, Morgan said the cats were using their blankets in their cages to defecate and trying to attempt to bury their feces and urine in the fabric.

Alyssa, Morgan, Dolores, and Jim all reported similar sentiments that at the end of the day, the animals and their care are the main concerns of every volunteer and shelter care employee. When asked how HŜPĆ could improve, Alyssa replied, "I think it would be really beneficial if they start sharing some true transparency with the community."

When asked how HSPC can make improvements, Dolores stated, "I think there could be a lot done to get more informed. When I was on the board, I visited twenty other shelters in one year to just see the political structure, dealing with people, how to handle animals. It was all to become better informed." She continued, "If you want to make a change, get on the board. More people should get on the board. I think it's been a good start so far with volunteers and employees speaking out about their experiences."

During her time on the board, Dolores said that HSPC and other shelters and humane societies in Wisconsin worked together to transfer dogs in instances of overflow and financial stress. Dolores also took professional courses and worked with FEMA to understand how to handle disaster management in order to be best prepared to serve the board.

"It doesn't matter if you run a business, are a doctor, a lawyer—running a shelter is whole different ballgame. I think that's what's lacking on the board, an understanding of how to run an animal shelter." Dolores said.

Morgan and Jim both expressed that for HSPC to improve, in their opinion, a change in leadership is needed.

Director's statement

While reporting this story, HSPC Executive Director Sherri Galle-Teske provided the following statement: "At any given time, the Humane Society of Portage County is responsible for the health and well-being of over 200 companion animals. We provide these animals with food, comfort and veterinary care. Our education and outreach programs reach young people in our community with information regarding bite prevention, pet care and the humane, compassionate treatment of animals. We offer volunteer opportunities, including dog and cat socialization, housekeeping, educational programming and fundraising.

"In 2021 we were honored to receive the Portage County Charitable Community Award, and in 2022 The Best Friends No-Kill Shelter Award. We remain today, with a live-release rate between 98-99% of all of our animals. The Humane Society of Portage County is a not-for-profit 501(c)3. We are served by a volunteer board of directors, paid staff members and volunteers.

"Over the past 50 years we have saved the lives of many animals with our medical services and provided many homes for stray and surrendered animals in Portage County. Working with local law enforcement; our Humane Officers are available 24 hours a day rescuing local stray animals, investigating reports of abuse or neglect and enforcing animal welfare laws. As of January 2025; we have reopened the doors to our community on Tuesdays and Thursdays; are conducting immunization clinics, giving community tours of the shelter, and adopting out domesticated animals, we have also added multiple volunteers and added new board members to our board of directors."

Activities director resigns

BY BERT LEHMAN STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE – Shaun Liesch, the activities director for the Clintonville School District, is resigning from the position, effective June 30.

The Clintonville Board of Education accepted Liesch's resignation when it met May 12.

"I know he's always wanted to move up," Clintonville Superintendent Troy Kuhn told the board. "He's asked me multiple times regarding, should he go get his admins license, etc., so he was looking at pursuing the admin world as well as the athletic world."

Kuhn said Liesch accepted an activities director position with the Neenah Joint School District.

Prior to the vote, Board Vice President Kris Strauman said, "I wish him well. That was a heck of a job and he did it justice. He did a nice job, and we're going to miss him." Board President Glen Drew Lundt asked if the district had any candidates to replace Liesch.

Kuhn said the district has received applications from eight candidates, and scheduled interviews with four of them.

"We have a couple really good candidates, and all of them are local," Kuhn said.

District needs a garage

Using construction referendum funds

BY BERT LEHMAN STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE – The Clintonville School District is currently in the process of preparing to build a maintenance and storage garage for the district's vehicles.

Clintonville Superintendent Troy Kuhn informed the Clintonville Board of Education at its May 12 meeting about the progress of the construction project. The maintenance garage will be used to maintain the district's vehicles, while the storage garage will be used to store the district's vehicles. The district's utility vehicles will remain parked in the brown shed closest to the track at the elementary school.

Some trees needed to be removed to make room for the new maintenance and storage garages.

Construction committee

Kuhn also told the board that once the repairs to the district's bus garage are made and the maintenance and storage garages are built, there will be roughly $30,000 left from the construction referendum funds.

There is a list of items that the remaining $30,000 could be spent on, Kuhn said. Kuhn mentioned an educational pavilion at the elementary school, adding that he didn't have a final cost for that project.

A digital sign for the elementary school was also mentioned, as was a "learning nook" at the high school in the IMC.

A permanent wrestling room was also mentioned. Kuhn said he has final cost numbers for that project, and the district's auditors told him the funds must come from Fund 10 or referendum funds.

Kuhn said the padding on the walls of the wrestling room would cost between $8,500-$9,000. The current three rolled wrestling mats would be used to create a floor for the room. A new competition mat would then be purchased.

"By the time you put brand new flooring in there, it costs the same as buying a brand-new competition mat, so you might as well use the old mats for the flooring," Kuhn said.

The total cost for the wrestling room project will cost around $20,000, Kuhn said.

Kuhn acknowledged that there isn't enough money left in the referendum funds to do all the mentioned projects.

Board member Ben Huber told the board that the remaining construction referendum funds need to be spent by Dec. 31, 2025.

District approves employee health insurance

Employees have choice of plans

BY BERT LEHMAN STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE – Employees of the Clintonville School District will have the choice between a broad and a focused health insurance plan for the 2025-26 school year.

The Clintonville Board of Education approved a health insurance plan at its May 12 meeting, that will give district employees the option to choose between a broad and a focused health insurance plan. Both plans will have a higher deductible amount than the current deductible. The insurance premium will also increase 10%-13.4%, depending on which plan is chosen. The board passed the insurance plan on a 6-1 vote. Board member Mark Zachow voted no.

During the discussion, Clintonville Superintendent Troy Kuhn told the board that the district would be able to offer a choice of multiple health insurance plans to its employees. Kuhn told the board that some employees had communicated to him that if the district offered a focused health insurance plan, that they hoped the district would continue to offer a broad insurance plan.

Four options were presented to the board:

• Option 1 called for the district offer a Robin Broad Plan and a Robin Focused Plan. The broad plan would include a $5,000 deductible for a single plan and a $10,000 deductible for a family plan. The focused plan would include a $3,500 deductible for a single plan, and $7,000 deductible for a family plan. The cost to the district for option 1 would be $290,000.

• Option 2 also called for the district to offer a Robin Broad Plan and a Robin Focused Plan. The broad plan would include a $5,000 deductible for a single plan and a $10,000 deductible for a family plan. The focused planwould include a $4,000 deductible for a single plan and an $8,000 deductible for a family plan. The cost to the district for this option would be $200,000.

• Option 3 included only a Robin Focused Plan that would have a $4,000 deductible for a single plan and an $8,000 deductible for a family plan. The cost to the district would be $214,000.

• Option 4 included only a Robin Focused plan, but it included a $5,000 deductible for a single plan and a $10,000 deductible for a family plan. The cost to the district for this option would be $93,000.

Under the Robin Focused plan, some providers who are currently in-network would become out-of-network providers.

The HRA contributions would remain the same as they have been for employees.

Kuhn told the board that the CESA 8 financial advisors that the district works with recommended that the board approve option 2. Kuhn said he recommended option 1.

Regarding the health insurance offered by the district, board member Ben Huber said, "I think we outta respect

New London, Hortonville Memorial Day observances

BY JOHN FAUCHER STAFF REPORTER

COUNTY – Area Veterans groups are hosting Memorial Day Observances in New London, Hortonville and Dale on Memorial Day, Monday, May 26.

New London

American Legion Post 263 Commander Terry Lathrop will begin the ceremony at the New London Veterans Memorial in Taft Park at 10 a.m.

Taft Veterans Park is located at 400 W. North Water Street, New London

The program will feature music by the New London High School Marching Band and involve participation from local scout units.

Guest Speaker is Sergeant Jack Voight. Sgt. Voight was born and raised in New London Wisconsin and served in Vietnam for the United States Army from 1968-70. After his service, Voight returned to the area and finished his Bachelor of Science Degree from the University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, from which he started his insurance business in Appleton. After serving several terms in his local government in Appleton, Voight went on to become the 32nd State Treasurer of Wisconsin from 1995-2007.

During Monday's observance, Voight will re-dedicate the Vietnam Memorial Stone at its new location downtown in honor of the 12 New London Area service members killed in Vietnam.

This year marks the 50th Anniversary of the official end of the Vietnam War. New London lost more men per capita in Vietnam than most cities in the United States.

Following the program, the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 263 is hosting a luncheon at the American Legion Post 263, at 840 E. North Water Street in New London.

Ellington/Hortonville/Dale

On Sunday, May 25 at 11:30 a.m., Hortonville American Legion American Legion Post 55 members will take part in Memorial Day observance at Ellington Union Cemetery.

On Monday, May 26, they will host a Hortonville Memorial Day observance at 9:30 a.m. in the Hortonville High School Auditorium.

The program features music performed by the high school band along with poems, speakers and involvement from local scouting units and the Hortonville Community Choir.

The main speaker is Major Randal Baumgart from American Legion Post 55.

Following the program the band and participants will march to the Hortonville Veterans Park on Black Otter Lake for a brief program and wreath placing ceremo-

Immediately following the program, Post 55 members will embark to Armitage Park in Dale for a program featuring music, speakers and an honor guard salute.

Getting stronger

Board approves strength center upgrades

BY BERT LEHMAN STAFF REPORTER

NEW LONDON - While fundraising continues for the Randy Marsh Strength and Conditioning Center upgrades in the New London School District, the New London Board of Education approved moving forward with the project, which will allow the equipment to be ordered and the new flooring to be installed.

The approval to move forward with the $277,414 project came at the board's April 9 meeting. With about $25,000 still needed to be fundraised to cover the complete cost of the project, the district will cover needed costs while fundraising continues. The district will be reimbursed with fundraised funds for the amount it covers in the meantime.

After the approval, New London Superintendent Scott Bleck said, "Thank you. Thank you, board, for the involvement in our community with that project. Well done."

Discussion

Leading off the discussion, Bleck said the fundraising has been "a great success" so far to update the facility.

Joe Marquardt, SDNL business services director, told the board that it's been about a year since the committee began working to generate a plan that could update the strength and conditioning center in the district.

'It's meant to modernize the equipment, provide additional safety, make it more ADA assessible, really to help a lot of things that are there for both construction and our programs," Marquardt

Marquardt said the original project had a target of fundraising $350,000. Since that target goal was agreed upon, Marquardt said an equipment company informed the district that if it continues to wait to purchase the equipment, the equipment will continue to increase in price.

"Tariffs can be a part of that discussion," Marquardt said. "Many of you have heard over the last week or so inflationary costs of equipment go up each year."

Because of that, Marquardt said that funds that have been donated for the project will be used as soon as possible "because that recognizes and values those contributions that individuals have made."

The flooring for the project needs to be addressed first, Marquardt said, because it doesn't make sense to purchase and set up the equipment, only to remove the equipment to install the flooring.

Fundraising

Marquardt told the board that the fundraising is still ongoing, and $239,711 has been raised for the project through donations or pledges over a five-year period.

"We are incredibly thankful for those who have donated and will continue to recognize those donors publicly or anonymously if requested," it was stated in the topic summary sheet for the board meeting.

Some groups were allowed to pledge funds over a fiveyear period, Marquardt said. Those groups will be paying an annual amount.

Even though the goal was to raise $350,000, Marquardt said it became evident that that goal was not attainable. Because of that, some of the equipment for the project was reduced. The flooring thickness, style, quality, and coverage area was also scaled back from the original plan. Even with those changes, he said the fundraising effort is currently about $25,000 short of the $277,414 proj-

Breaking the cost of the project down, the flooring is quoted for $69,288, while the equipment is quoted for $209,126.

"We would hope that the board would be on board with fronting the money if we were billed before we have all of the funding," Marquardt said. "We have done that with projects before."

Marquardt said the goal is to raise the $25,000 in donations that are still needed. He added that the equipment company could hold onto the equipment for six months after the district ordered it to allow for more fundraising to take place.

"We feel like that's the financial decision to move forward, is to make that purchase before the costs go up," Marquardt said.

District predicting balanced 2025-26 budget

Not all information available yet

BY BERT LEHMAN STAFF REPORTER

NEW LONDON - The New London Board of Education was informed at its April 30 meeting that the preliminary budget for the 2025-26 school year is a balanced budget.

During the budget presentation, Joe Marquardt, SDNL business services director, told the board that the state of Wisconsin's biennial budget is currently being worked on by the state legislature. Because of this not all the information is available for the 2025-26 budget.

Marquardt said the preliminary 2025-26 budget for the district does not include an increase in per pupil aid, or an increase feels the district is in good in federal funding. It does include a small increase in special education aid.

"At this time, we feel that that is the most responsible way to move forward with budgeting for the 2025-26 year," Marquardt said.

The preliminary budget does include some "significant expenditures" for next year and future years, Marquardt said.

The expenditures include school bus purchases, which have been approved by the board.

The preliminary budget also includes a 2.95% wage increase for district employees, as well as needed staffing adjustments.

"With that, it shows that we have a balanced budget with the information we have today for the 2025-26 year," Marquardt said.

Marquardt said that he shape with its budget for the next year.

According to the district's budget projections for future years presented to the board, the district is projecting a budget deficit of a little more than $400,000 in 2027, with the deficit increasing in future years.

Board Vice President Katie Batten asked if the district ever had a budget

Marquardt said the district has not operated with a budget deficit during the time he has been employed by the district.

"If we know that we have a deficit coming forward, we're trying to actively change operations the best we can, and if there's something that we feel we

Doubling down on yurts

Principal Alix resigns

BY JAMES CARD

WEYAUWEGA - At the May 19 W-F school board meeting, the main discussion was around a unique solution to ease the Fremont STEM Academy's growing pains. The school-within-a-school resides within Fremont Elementary School. The number of students is increasing and there is not enough classroom space.

"One of the barriers we have at the Fremont STEM Academy we have right now is we are teaching four grade levels in one classroom. You have science going on one side, reading on the other side, and it's a distraction. Space is becoming a bigger need. When we add more students to this room, it's a distraction to the learning environment and it's also caused us to lose students—this year and future students for next year," said Principal Don Ryan.

The solution is to teach classes in yurts—the traditional octagonal Mongolian tents that were once home to the warriors of Genghis Kahn. These are modern versions and numerous companies offer semi-mobile versions that can be easily set up and taken down. This is essential because the charter school grant stipulates that the funds cannot be used for permanent upgrades such as building classroom additions to Fremont Elemen-

Other schools in the state have gone the way of the yurt and this influenced the STEM Academy's leadership to purchase two yurts last year. They followed the permitting process—not just local ones but also with the state and this is where the headaches began.

The bureaucrats in Madison decided the R-value of the yurt's material was not appropriate. There was much back-and-forth last year between the school and the state for further clarification but in the end, the yurts could not be erected. Smarting from this setback, the STEM Academy Board put them up for sale to get some money back on their investment.

This brought STEM Academy Governance Board member Adam Keller to the meeting, papers in hand, to apprise the W-F board of their next plan of action and to seek their approval.

We went through the state approval process. All of these other schools never did that. They just put them up. So when we put the original yurts through the approval process they couldn't pass. They didn't have enough R-vale and the flash rating wasn't good enough," said Keller.

He located Yurt Cabins, company that builds yurts that are more cabin-like. "They are made with more traditional materials. They can have the R-rating, and everything needed to pass state muster. We submitted this to the state and there were only minor details missing. Any day now, we're expecting the permit. This time around, we're getting the permit before getting the yurts," said Keller.

Keller described the construction of the yurts, their dimensions, and passed around paper printout images of the yurts to the board members. The board voted and approved a motion for the placement of the yurts.

Alix departs

Middle school and high school Principal Jodi Alix has resigned from her position. She spent seven years as principal and she is going to the Syble Hopp School in De Pere. It is a public school that provides education for students with disabilities between the ages of three to 21. At the end of the May 19 board meeting she was thanked for her dedication and service.

Graduating senior, debut author

BY EMILY DOUD STAFF REPORTER

SCANDINAVIA - Sienna Timm is graduating from Waupaca High School in a few days and she will be graduating as a published author. Her first novel was released on April 12.

The Scandinavia resident penned "Cursed by Death," a young adult fantasy adventure.

She started plotting her novel in September, encouraged by her English teacher for National Novel Writing Month. In October she planned the outline and she analyzed the books she enjoyed from a reader's perspective, breaking them down and searched for things within those stories that she loved.

She said she often explores the histories of her favorite authors to see what prompted them to start writing books, as well as writing new stories around characters from books she has read.

She started writing the book in November. Once she reached over 55,000 words she edited and revised the novel, and by early March she was ready to get it published.

Timm said the book is about a daughter who leaves the comfort of the world to go to another continent to a princess finishing school. When she arrives home she finds that there has been a war and it is up to her to save her people and reunite the world.

Timm said she enjoys writing because it gives her an avenue to be creative, and being she is a lifelong avid reader, writing just came naturally.

"It's entirely up to me. I have full control of anything and everything I want to do," she said. "There are no limits to what you can write and explore."

It wasn't the first time she has written at length. During Covid she started writing a book and it reached around 30,000 words. She did not finish it but she may pick it back up and reorganize it and take it in a different direction.

Timm will be headed to Ripon College this fall where she plans to study English education and creative writing.

Timm used the selfpublishing company IngramSpark out of Tennessee to get her book published, this means you not only submit the written copy but also the cover, editing notes and marketing information about the book.

Readers can purchase "Cursed By Death" through Timm's Instagram page, CursedByDeath_, and there are links to IngramSparks and Barnes and Noble for online orders.

Memorial Day services

IOLA - American Legion Sheveland-Taylor Post 14 in Iola invites the public to their Memorial Day program on May 26. The first honors will be 10 a.m. in Scandinavia by the bridge at Ellison Memorial Park. This honor is for those that have died at sea. They will then proceed to the Scandinavia Cemetery to honor those that have died on land.

At 11 a.m. the parade will start from the Iola High School and they will march to the American Legion Memorial Park where the program will start. This year Brent Jacobson is the speaker. Brent is a member of the Wisconsin State Assembly and represents the 87th Assembly district. If it rains the program will be moved to the Iola High School.

This year they will be honoring 17 veterans on the Memorial Wall, three honorees on the Walk of Honor and one Gold Star Name added to the Gold Star Monument. This year they will have Amazing Grace played on bagpipes to end the program. Remember to bring a chair.

After the program have a great meal at the Iola Historical Society's Machine Shed. Veterans eat for free.

Give blood, eat ice cream

IOLA - I scream, you scream, we all scream for ice cream as blood donors will be served ice cream sundaes provided by the Iola Lions on June 4.

In honor of June Dairy Month, the Iola Lions will be providing ice cream to all donors. They will also have non-dairy options available.

The Iola Lions and American Red Cross are co-sponsoring the drive from 12 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Iola-Scandinavia Fitness and Aquatic Center on 445 South Jackson Street.

Schedule an appointment by calling 1-800-RED-CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or online at www.redcrossblood.org. If you want to save time after registering, before you show up on that afternoon, complete and print a RapidPass online health history questionnaire on your computer or complete it on a smart phone that day before you come; the site is redcrossblood.org/rapidpass.

A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. All donors under the age of 18 years old have to meet certain height and weight requirements and need parental permission to donate.

All blood types are needed.

Lombardi in pine

Chainsaw artist carves the coach

> BY EMILY DOUD STAFF REPORTER

MANAWA - A local chainsaw artist Ben Buschke was recently commissioned to create a statue of Vince Lombardi ahead of the NFL draft in Green Bay.

He was asked to create a statue of Vince Lombardi for the owners of a condo that is located on the west side of Lambeau Field. They live in Florida for most of the year, but stay in Green Bay through summer and the Packer Buschke said once he got off a bulk of the wood from Lombardi, he started in on the finer details using smaller chainsaws and sanders.

After the carving was completed, he burned the wood, and used a transparent stain in order to fully view the wood grain, which is what the buyers asked for. The statue was then sealed to protect it from sun and mold.

Buschke delivered Lombardi to its new residence the Wednesday prior to the draft.

This is not the only statue that Buschke has been asked to do that is displayed in high traffic areas. He has carvings at resorts in Eagle River, as well as one at the Green Bay Botanical Gardens. He also has a large carving at the Stevens Point Sculpture Park.

Early cuts

Buschke started the art of chainsaw carving in 2017 when he was at a campground and saw some carvings throughout the grounds. When he saw the carvings he thought it was something he would be able to do, so he gave the art form a shot.

Teaming up with local tree service companies, namely BEK Tree Service out of Weyauwega, he is able to get logs to carve. He likes to work with pine logs, being they are softer and therefore easier to carve and they are also more pure in the middle.

Picking out the right log as well as roughing out the design is where Buschke said he starts the carving pro-

Looking at the piece from different angles and making sure nothing looks exaggerated or stretched out is the key.

Buschke said the hardest part about the Lombardi piece was the face, which he does not mark on the log before carving.

"I've seen some people do that with spray paint or chalk or something, but I just carve it," he said.

Drawing out a pattern prior to carving messes him up, so if he can no longer envision what he is doing he just goes at the piece from a different angle. This way he can easily spot where to take more wood off and keep working around the statue.

Visit his Facebook page at Buschke Carving. He is also on TikTok and Instagram at the same name.

Janke, Robert

Robert "Bob" Henry Janke passed away Saturday morning, May 17, 2025 at his home surrounded by his beloved family at the age of

Bob was born on June 5, 1929 in the Town of Union. Son of the late F. Louis Janke and Alma (Heideman) Janke. He was baptized and confirmed at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Symco, WI. Here, he maintained membership throughout the rest of his life and served his congregation

In December 1951, Bob was drafted into the U.S. Army to serve in the Korean War. In June of 1953, he was injured in combat and discharged in December of that year. His awards include: the United Nations Service Medal, Korean Service Medal with three bronze service stars, National Defense Service Medal, Purple-Heart, and Combat Infantry

After his honorable discharge, Bob worked briefly at Sturms in Manawa packing butter. In 1954, he was indentured as a journeyman plumber at Iola Plumbing and Heating for two years under the G.I. Bill. In 1956, he passed his test to become a master plumber followed by several years working at Iola Plumbing and Heating. In 1965, he started his own business out of our home in Iola. He enjoyed his life's work in and around Iola. Bob also worked part time for James Knitt Plumbing in Manawa until he retired. In 1955, he was married to Patricia J. Fisher at Saint Martin Lutheran Church, Clintonville. He was assisted by his father, brother, and uncle in building a house in Iola. In 1971, a daughter joined the family, and what a joy she brought as she grew up. Joy was always helping her dad and loved to ride the snowmobile with him. The family hosted two exchange students over the years: Anja Schoren from Germany in 1985 and Bjorn Tylen from Sweden in 1986.

Bob enjoyed traveling very much. The Rocky Mountains were a favorite spot for family vacations. Many summers were spent traveling to Colorado to visit Bob's friend, Victor Winter, as well as trout fishing and sightseeing in the mountains. Other trips enjoyed by the family included: House on the Rock when Joy was six weeks old; Expo 86 in Vancouver, Canada; Europe, including Italy, Switzerland, and France in 1987; visiting Victor and Joan Winter in California as a winter respite; and Panama to visit Joy and her family for Christmas in the '90s.

Besides traveling, Bob was an avid fisherman; enjoying many camping and fishing trips with the Frizzells. He loved playing card games with family and friends. He also enjoyed gardening, as well as volunteering at the Norwegian Supper and the Iola Car Show.

He is survived by his beloved wife of 67 years Patricia Janke, daughter Joy Vizzer, grandson Ezekiel Vizzer, brother-in-law Harold Fisher, sisters-in-law Myrene Janke and Mildred Janke, as well as many nieces, nephews, and Bob was preceded in death by parents, F. Louis & Alma Janke; brothers, Louis E., Benjamin, Henry, & Leo Janke; sisters, Adeline Janke & Nora Krueger; brother-in-law, Leland Krueger & sister-in-law, Rosie Janke.

The Janke family wishes to thank ThedaCare At Home Hospice for all the wonderful care provided to Bob during Funeral services will be held at 11:30 AM on Thursday, May 22, 2025 at St. Mark Lutheran Church Symco, with Rev. Jeffrey Smiles officiating. Interment will take place at Union Cemetery, Symco with military honors conducted by VFW Post #664, American Legion Post #63, and American Legion Auxiliary Unit #63, all of Clintonville.

Visitation will be held on Thursday at the church from 9:30 AM until the time of service.

In lieu of flowers, memorials are preferred to be directed to the family for a memorial in Bob's name to be established at a later date.

The Eberhardt-Stevenson Funeral Home & Crematory, Clintonville is assisting the Janke family.

Bush, Vernon

Vernon John Busch, age 86, of Shawano, passed away on Wednesday May 14, 2025. Vernon was born on November 12, 1938, in Pulcifer, Wisconsin, son of the late John and Alma (Born) Busch. He graduated from Bonduel High School. On October 31, 1959, Vernon was united in marriage to Linda Courchaine at St. John's Lutheran Church in Pulcifer. Vernon worked at Seagrave in Clintonville for 37 years before retiring. He was a talented mechanic and loved working on anything with an engine. In Vernon's free time, he enjoyed fishing, hunting, farming and spending time with his family. He was the best dad ever and will be deeply missed and fondly remembered.

Vernon is survived by: his children, Peggy (Dave) Wilson, John (Tami) Busch, and Jeff (Julie) Busch; grandchildren, Nicole (Eric), Michaela, John Lee, Jeremy (Stephanie), Justin, Jordan, Jarod, Ainsley, Dalton and Melinda (Kaylyn); 14 great-grandchildren; a brother, Gary (Judy) Busch; and his significant other, Judi Dankmeyer. He is further survived by many nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

Vernon is preceded in death by his wife, Linda; siblings, Bill Busch, Bruce Busch and Yvonne Polzin; and parents, John and Alma.

A celebration of Vernon's life will be held from 11:00am until 2:00PM at the Cecil Village Hall and Fire Department on Sunday, May 25, 2025.

Jankowski, Robert

Ernest Jankowski, Menasha, WI peacefully went home to Jesus on May 12 2025. He was born to Adolph Bernice (Ostrowski) Jankowski on November 27 1933 in the town of Linwood, WI. During his youth, he would often talk to and flirt with the girl over the fence in the house behind his. Her name was Dorothy Peabody and, after graduating high school, they decided to marry each other in May of 1956, having 6 children together. On the day of his death – the same day of their anniversary - they had been married 69 wonderful years. After his time in the Army protecting the Nike Missile Batteries in New York and Staten Island, he happily worked many jobs, but was best known for being a carrier for USPS, making sure everybody got their mail on time.

Bob was first and foremost a man of strong faith and love. After he developed his personal relationship with Jesus, he shared the love and grace of God with anyone and everyone who wanted to hear about the good word. He spent much of his time visiting prisons and hospitals, doing the work of God and spreading the good news. Bob had many hobbies, especially sports. When he wasn't cheering on the Packers and Brewers, he was fishing on the lake, hurling a bowling ball down the lane, or practicing his drive on the golf course. Bob had a deep love and appreciation for music. He was self-taught on all of the instruments he played – never knew how to read sheet music, just playing by ear. He formed several bands, including the Country Trio, the Country Four, and the Homestead Relief, as well as playing in the Eldon Otto Orchestra. He's probably singing and playing guitar in heaven now that the band's back together. Bob was passionate about helping children and, with Dorothy, helped foster many children over their years together. He also worked in several Rawhide telethons with Bart and Cherry Starr. His door was open to anyone who wanted or needed his presence - family, friends, and strangers alike, he just loved good company. More than anything else, Bob loved his family. He went to as many of his grandkids' sporting events that he could and treasured all of his family get-togethers. Bob was so proud of all the kids, grandkids, and great-grandkids he helped to

Bob will be deeply missed by his wife, Dorothy; his children, Bob Jr. (Kathy), Lynn (Paul), Tom (Carri), Lori, Steve (Stefanie), and Lisa (Kevin); 12 grandchildren; 15 great-grandchildren; as well as many nieces, nephews, other extended relatives, and dear friends.

A memorial visitation will be held for Bob from 9-10 AM on Tuesday, May 27, 2025 at Wichmann-Laemmrich Chapel, 312 Milwaukee St, Menasha, WI 54952 with a memorial service to follow at 10 AM. In lieu of flowers, a memorial fund will be established for the local Christian and veteran charities that Bob was passionate about. Please consider making a donation to that fund.

Bob's family would like to extend a special thanks to the staff at Prairie Home Assisted Living in Menasha, and the physicians, nurses, and other staff at St. Croix Hospice and Bluestone Physician Services for all their care, compassion, and expertise during his times of need.

Thank you to all of the friends and neighbors that were there through the years with dad, making his life as good as life can be.

"Preach the word; be prepared in season and out of season; correct, rebuke, and encourage - with great patience and careful instruction.'

McCausland, Teresa

Teresa Ann McCausland (age 56, born July 23, 1968) died peacefully at her home in Waupaca on Friday May battle with breast cancer; her family all present and supporting her for several days with supervised Hospice care. Her father G. Francis Bohan (Waterloo, IA) preceded her in death, and she is survived by her husband Joseph D. McCausland III (Waupaca, WI), three children Erin (Waupaca, WI), Joseph D. IV (Eau Claire, WI) and Connor (Seattle, WA) McCausland, mother Karen A. Bohan (Waupaca, WI), and brothers Mark F. (Wausau, WI) and Chris J. (Phoenix, AZ)

Teresa was born in Waterloo, IA where she graduated from Columbus Catholic High School in 1986 and then attended the University of Iowa in Iowa City where she met her future husband, graduating in 1990 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Microbiology. Teresa and Joe married and moved to Madison, WI where she worked at the University of Wisconsin Hospitals doing breast cancer research. They later moved to Missouri and when Joe started medical school, she was hired to teach medical students chemistry at the Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine. However, Teresa's primary joy was being a mother, and with a growing family she dedicated her life full-time to love and support of her children; seeing them grow into happy, responsible, and well-adjusted adults was all the reward she desired. She also loved travel, music, theater, books, local festivals and community activities, gardening, and Hawkeye sports; and spent years sharing her love of reading with grade school children both as a volunteer and teacher's aide in Waupaca schools. Teresa was also active in the children's and women's ministries at Faith Community Church in Waupaca; she was loved by many friends and neighbors who got to know her over years of service in the church, and school library. All her children are musicians, and she loved attending their concerts and recitals; she was a proud supporter of community arts, theater, and music education in Waupaca for many years. Teresa shared life with her husband for more than 30 years, 23 of which they called Waupaca, WI, home. Her humble, affirming nature has influenced countless lives in their community and beyond and she will be greatly missed by many. In addition to recognizing endless support and love from wonderful families and friends, Teresa and Joe want to share special thanks and appreciation for the nurses and other staff at the Vince Lombardi Cancer Clinic in Oshkosh, who provided such kind and comprehensive care over the last several years; and for Aurora hospice staff, whose skill and compassion were clearly evident from the first visit. All of these caregivers have our eternal gratitude for their roles on our journey. We believe that Teresa is now with Jesus, and ultimately we will celebrate her life and honor her memory in various ways, understanding that at this time we are sad and broken and grieving our loss. In lieu of flowers or gifts, the family requests that everyone who is able consider donating blood or time to the American Red Cross or other community and hospital-based blood centers, as recurring transfusions greatly improved quality of life in the final months of her struggle with breast cancer.

A Celebration of Life service will be held on Wednesday, June 4, 2025 at 4:30 PM with reception to follow at Faith Community Church in Waupaca – a visitation opportunity with family will be Tuesday June 3, 2025 from 4pm to 7pm at the Church. Our family looks forward to experiencing all the well-wishes, personal stories and connections, and all manner of love and support we are confident Teresa has inspired over the years. Holly Funeral Home of Waupaca is assisting the family with arrangements.

Purdy, Joan

Joan Anne Purdy, 69, of Waupaca, WI-formerly of Woodstock, IL--passed away peacefully at home on May 17, 2025, surrounded by her loving family after a courageous battle with ALS (Lou Gehrig's Disease).

To know Joan was to love Joan. She had a magnetic presence, a gift for conversation, and an infectious laugh. Her warmth, humor, and boundless devotion to her family and community were hallmarks of a life well lived and deeply cherished.

Born in Indianapolis, IN on January 23, 1956, Joan was the beloved daughter of Jean A. (Johnson) and John L. Oberrieder. She grew up in Deerfield, IL and graduated from Deerfield High School. Joan went on to attend Drake University, where she met the love of her life, Dr. Robin Keith Purdy, Sr. Their love story began in 1975 through their shared involvement with the Kappa Psi Pharmaceutical Fraternity, where Joan was named a Little Sister. They married on December 16, 1978 while Robin was attending Joan and Robin made their home in Woodstock, IL, where they raised four children and together operated Woodstock Family Practice Center. Joan's greatest gift was her dedication to motherhood. She poured her heart into raising her children and was actively involved in their schools and extracurricular activities. She also enjoyed gardening, entertaining, cooking, and had a special love for her dogs. A lifelong Episcopalian, Joan was a faithful member of St.

Ann's in Woodstock and later of St. Mark's in Waupaca. Her faith was central to her life. She served both churches through altar guild and vestry work and held leadership roles as both junior and senior warden, giving generously of her time and spirit.

In 2017, Joan and Robin moved full-time to their lake home on Round Lake in Waupaca, where they found joy in lakeside living. Joan especially loved being on the water, floating with family and friends, and spent many cherished evenings cruising the lake on their pontoon boat, affectionately named "The Living Room."

Her friendships were many and lifelong; she made friends wherever she went and kept them close to her heart. A founding member of the Carmany Park Girls, Joan was affectionately known to neighbors as "The Sheriff." She had a presence that was impossible to miss and a way of making everyone feel like family.

Beyond being a devoted wife and a fiercely loving mother, Joan was a proud and doting Nana to her eight grandchildren: Jack, Cal, Townes, Eleanor, Geneva, George, Clark, Joan is survived by her beloved husband, Robin; her children Robin Keith Jr. (Brittney) of Denver, Elizabeth Anne (Luke) Faulkner of Chicago, Hilary Louise (Michael) Orlowski of St. Louis, and Laura Ruth (Andrew) McCready of Madison; her grandchildren; her brothers John (Marsha) Oberrieder and Jay (Cathy Yarbrough) Oberrieder; her mother-in-law, Wanda Purdy; her brothers-in-law Todd (Kristina) Purdy and Dan Nichols; her many nieces and nephews; and her countless treasured friends.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her father-inlaw, Dallas Purdy; her sister-in-law, Terri Nichols; and Sarah McCullagh, a family friend who was like a daughter Joan's legacy of love, strength, and joy lives on in the many lives she touched. She will be deeply missed and never forgotten.

The Purdy family extends their deepest gratitude to the many compassionate providers and caregivers who supported Joan throughout her illness. Special thanks go to the ALS Association, ThedaCare at Home, and Home Instead for their exceptional care, guidance, and kindness. Their support made an immeasurable difference in Joan's jour-

Visitation will take place at 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, May 24, 2025 at St. Mark's Episcopal Church, located at 415 S Main Street in Waupaca. A service will immediately follow at 11:00 a.m. The Holly Funeral Home of Waupaca is assisting the family with arrangements.

In lieu of flowers, the family kindly asks that donations be made in Joan's memory to the ALS Association or St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Waupaca.

Water System Information

If you would like to know more about the information contained in this report, please contact Joshua Smith at

Opportunity for input on decisions affecting your water quality Manawa City Council meets on the 3rd Monday of each month at 6pm at Manawa City Hall.

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's safe drinking water hotline (800-426-4791).

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immunocompromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune systems disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Environmental Protection Agency's safe drinking water hotline (800-426-4791).

To obtain a summary of the source water assessment please contact, Joshua Smith at (920) 878-0547. Educational Information

The sources of drinking water, both tap water and bottled water, include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.

Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally- occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming. Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater

Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban st runoff and septic systems. Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water, which shall provide the same protection for public health.

HAL: Health Advisory Level is a concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, poses a health risk and may require a system to post a public notice. Health Advisories are determined by US EPA. HI: Hazard Index: A Hazard Index is used to assess the potential health impacts associated with mixtures of contaminants. Hazard Index guidance for a class of contaminants or mixture of contaminants may be determined by the US EPA or Wisconsin Department of Health Services. Additional Health Information

While your drinking water meets USEPA's standard for arsenic, it does contain low levels of arsenic. USEPA's standard balances the current understanding of arsenic's possible health effects against the costs of removing arsenic from drinking water. USEPA continues to research the health effects of low levels of arsenic, which is a mineral known to cause cancer in humans at high concentrations and is linked to other health effects such as skin damage and circulatory problems.

Lead can cause serious health effects in people of all ages, especially pregnant people, infants (both formula-fed and breastfed), and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and parts used in service lines and in home plumbing. Manawa Waterworks is responsible for providing high quality drinking service lines and in home plumbing. Manawa Waterworks is responsible for providing high quality drinking water and removing lead pipes but cannot control the variety of materials used in the plumbing in your home. Because lead levels may vary over time, lead exposure is possible even when your tap sampling results do not detect lead at one point in time. You can help protect yourself and your family by identifying and removing lead materials within your home plumbing and taking steps to reduce your family's risk. Using a filter, certified by an American National Standards Institute accredited certifier to reduce lead, is effective in reducing lead exposures. Follow the instructions provided with the filter to ensure the filter is used properly. Use only cold water for drinking, cooking, and making baby formula. Boiling water does not remove lead from water. Before using tap water for drinking, cooking, or making baby formula, flush your pipes for several minutes. You can do this by running your tap, taking a shower, doing laundry or a load of dishes. If you have a lead service line or galvanized requiring replacement service line, you may need to flush your pipes for a longer period. If you are concerned about lead in your water and wish to have your water tested, contact Manawa Waterworks (Joshua Smith at (920) 878-0547). Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available at https://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead.

Additional Information on Service Line Materials

We are required to develop an initial inventory of service lines connected to our distribution system by October 16, 2024 and to make the inventory publicly accessible. You can access the service line inventory here/by: Request a copy from City Hall.

PLEASE BE ADVISED OF THE FOLLOWING REQUIREMENTS to appear before the Board of Review and procedural requirements if appearing perfore the Board:

No person shall be allowed to appear before the Board of Review to testify to the Board by telephone or to contest the amount of any assessment of real or personal property if the person has refused a reasonable written request by certified mail of the Assessor to view such property.

After the first meeting of the Board of Review and before the Board's final adjournment, no person who is scheduled to appear before the Board of Review may contact, or provide information to a member of the Board about the person's objection except at a session of the Board.

No person may appear before the Board of Review, testify to the Board by telephone or contest the amount of assessment unless, at least 48 hours before the first meeting of the Board or at least 48 hours before the objection is heard if the objection is allowed because the person has been granted a waiver of the 48-hour notice of an intent to file a written objection by appearing before the Board during the first two hours of the meeting and showing good cause for failure to meet the 48-hour notice requirement and files a written objection, that the person provides to the Clerk of the Board of Review notice as to whether the person will ask for removal of any Board members and, if so, which member will be removed and the person's reasonable estimate of the length of time that the hearing will take. When appearing before the Board, the person shall specify, in writing the person's estimate of the value of the land and of the improvements that are the subject of the person's objection and specify the information that the person used to arrive at that estimate.

No person may appear before the Board of Review, testify to the Board by telephone or object to a valuation, if that valuation was made by the Assessor or the Objector using the income method, unless the person supplies the Assesso all of the information about income and expenses, as specified in the manual under Section 73.03(2a), that the Assessor requests. The Town of Wolf River maintains the confidentiality of information about income and expenses that is provided to the Assessor under this paragraph which provides exemptions for persons using information in the discharge of duties imposed by law or of the duties of their office or by order of a court. The information that is provided under this paragraph, unless a court determined that it is inaccurate, is not subject to the right of inspection and copying under Section 19.35(I) of Wis. Statutes.

The Board shall hear upon oath, by telephone, all ill or disabled persons who present to the Board a letter from a physician, surgeon, or osteopath that confirms their illness or disability. No other persons may testify by telephone Susan J. Gilbert, Clerk 446-3837

SPASH grand slam seals comeback win over Marshfield

BY NICK GRIESBACH SPORTS EDITOR

STEVENS POINT SPASH Panthers baseball found itself in early trouble against Marshfield on May 16 but came back to win in epic fashion.

Marshfield got on the board as Owen Griesbach hit an RBI single to put his team up 1-0. Mason Anderson drove in two runs with an RBI triple to give his team a 3-0 lead. A wild pitch brought another SPASH at a 4-0 deficit.

The Panthers Adam Noskowiak drove in a runner with a single to make the deficit 4-1 in the bottom of the first inning. Willie Washington III hit an RBI single to cut the Marshfield lead in half 4-2.

At the top of the second inning, Anderson hit a three-run home run to give Marshfield a 7-2 lead.

In the bottom of the third inning, SPASH chipped away at the Marshfield lead as Jonathan Trelka and Braden Marschke had backto-back RBI singles to end the inning with a 7-4 defi-Griesbach extended the Marshfield lead in the top of the fourth with a two-run home run to give his team a 9-4 lead.

In the bottom of the fourth inning, SPASH again started to mount a comeback as a bases-loaded walk made the score 9-5.

Marschke had a two-run single to cut the Marshfield lead to 9-7.

In the bottom of the sixth inning, SPASH brought in another runner with a bases-loaded walk to cut the deficit to 9-8.

On the next at-bat, Calvin Roth gave SPASH the lead, as a shot to centerfield resulted in a grand slam that gave the Panthers a 12-9 lead, which would be the final score as SPASH closed out the game.

the fact that one of the reasons why teachers tend to go into this field is because it has always been known to have a very good insurance policy. And it's been a safe, consistent policy."

He added that having the district offer the Robin Broad Plan makes sense.

Board Vice President Kris

Strauman said she tended to agree with Kuhn's recommendation.

"Option 1, when you look at having the cadillac insurance for years, and then all of a sudden we're going to pull the rug out from under you, and yeah, we gave you a raise, but we're going to take all that back, I think we need to be real careful about how hard we hit 'em that first year,"

Strauman said.

Zachowand Board Clerk Klint Barkow said they also agreed with option 1.

Board Treasurer Jason Moder said he thought option 2 would be better for district employees because it gives the employees options. He said under this option, employees would be able keep more money in their paycheck if they don't have a lot of claims.

Kuhn acknowledged that if an employee doesn't use their deductible, option 2 would be the better choice, but if an employee uses its deductible, then option 1 would be the better choice.

After the discussion, Strauman said if option 2 would leave more money in the paychecks of employees, she was in favor of option 2.

haven't been able to accomplish, we would share that with the board," Marquardt

He added that the future projections do not include significant increases in district revenues. Part of that is due to it being difficult to forecast the state's biennial budgets.

Board member Chris Martinson said its difficult to project what the district's revenue will be three years in the future. Because of this, there are a lot of errors in projections.

"It's useful. I don't want to say it doesn't do any good to do this," Martinson said. "It's important that we know, everything being equal, we're on a curve to be below under water. But I think it's always been that way in the last 10 years probably. It's always looked that way if you look that far out. And it takes off the table the fact that we have a proactive board that isn't going to wait until we're way under water to do something. We're going to take this information you've given us, and we're going to look for solutions.'

Martinson said the solutions to balancing a budget that is projected to be a deficit, is to cut expenses, increase revenues, or a combination of the two.

"I want people to take this with a grain of salt, is what I mean, because you're very proactive in looking for solutions, and I think we have a board that is very proactive in looking for solutions," Martinson said. Board Treasurer Mark is it was his opinion that deficit projections usually don't come to reality because the state makes funding adjustments.

While addressing that, Marquardt said one positive the district has is the fact it does not have any debt. He added that the ESSER funds the district received were not used for ongoing operational items, so the district will not need to cover new operational items.

"I hope that there is more predictability in our future budgets," Marquardt said.

Xzaver Pittman takes his game to UW-Oshkosh

BY NICK GRIESBACH SPORTS EDITOR

Waupaca football started the 2024 season off slow, but in the second half of the Comets schedule, they started to turn it on. They won three of their last four regular-season games to reach the WIAA playoffs. Running back Xzaver Pittman was the consistent force in those games, averaging over 138 yards and finding the end zone seven times.

Pittman rushed for 1219 yards and 14 total touchdowns in 2024 and accumulated 2826 rushing yards and 33 total touchdowns for his high school career.

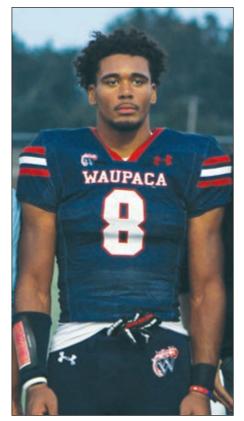

A University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh football commit, Xzaver was a football fan before playing, "I watched a lot of NFL growing up and watched YouTube videos and always wanted to play football."

Xzaver, who is also a standout in track & field in the 100m, 200m and 4x4 believes his competitive spirit has set him apart in his athletic career, "The skill levels of each sport, I'm a competitive person, so I want a challenge and will never back down from trying to be great in the things I do. Since I have been a naturally gifted athlete, so using my gift makes sports enjoyable."

Pittman getting stronger as the game went along was his best quality, "Dominate all 4 quarters to not let one play define you and just to not give up halfway through."

Xzaver will have plenty of memories from his career, one stands out to him, "The most memorable part of my senior year was winning our homecoming game and having the student section rush the field after our win. My school hadn't won homecoming in five years, so it was a good night."

Teammates and coaches have helped Xzaver along the way, "Memorable coaches and teammates, my football coach Bennett Hansen and my RB coach Barrons and QB coach Krcmar. They became guys who elevated my game and taught me a lot. On top of that, my teammates my friends Andre Hendrix and Austin Adamazak as well as Owen Hansen our linebacker, and my WR Westin Laurizten have been my side. We stuck together in my last season and wouldn't want anybody else but them."

Noah Spoelstra-Amherst

Amherst is in the midst of another winning season as they sit at 13-7 overall, and 9-2 in the Central Wisconsin-East. The previous three seasons have all produced winning results, including a 2022 season where the Falcons went undefeated before ending their season in the WIAA Division 3 State Finals.

A key factor in the 2022 Amherst team was Noah Spoelstra, Noah started at third base as a freshman during their run in the 2022 tournament. He is a two-time All-Central Wisconsin-East selection for the Falcons during his sophomore and junior seasons. Currently, he has a .354 batting average in 2025.

Spoelstra began playing tee ball at six years old and believes the mental aspect, as well as the camaraderie, are reasons to love baseball." I love that baseball forces you to be at your best every play. You must always be ready for a ball to be hit at you and mentally and physically prepared every time the ball is over the plate. I have stuck with it because of the family you build with your teammates and coaches. Although many parts of the game are individual, like hitting and fielding, in the end, you must all come together as a team and work together to be successful."

The attention to detail on the ball field and in the classroom has served Noah well during his high school career, "As I got older, classes started to become much harder, which required more time outside of class devoted to studying to keep my 4.0. It meant late nights studying and working on homework, but, it was all worth it."

Noah has shown versatility throughout the years, playing both third base and catcher during his tenure at Amherst. "I believe my biggest asset while playing is my ability to be a leader on the field. As the catcher, you can see the entire field, so communicating during the game is crucial for the success of your team's defense."

Teammates and coaches have helped Noah become the player he is today, "Shout outs go to Coach Held, Coach Trudell, Ben Lee, Wyatt Blaskowski, Matthew and Michael Glodowski, and all my senior teammates."

The growth and experience Noah has gained over his time is apparent to him, "It feels amazing. When I look back at pictures of me as an underclassman, I am shocked at how different I look. I feel I have grown as an athlete, getting physically stronger and able to withstand more mental pressure. I also feel like I have grown as a person, strengthening my leadership skills and hopefully instilling strong morals into the rest of my teammates. I hope I am seen as an inspiration and someone my teammates can turn to."

Amherst takes down Rosholt on the road

BY NICK GRIESBACH SPORTS EDITOR

STEVENS POINT – Amherst Falcons traveled to Rosholt on May 17 to get their 14th win of the season.

Sully Perkins drove in the first run for Amherst with an RBI double to give the Falcons a 1-0 lead.

Rosholt tied the game in

Michael Glodowski drove in a run in the second inning to give Amherst a 2-1 lead with an RBI single. AJ O'Brien hit an RBI single to make the score 3-1.

Kluck hit his second RBI of the game on a single to cut the deficit to 3-2 for Rosholt.

Glodowski drove in his second run as he had an RBI single to make it a 4-2 in the fourth inning. The score became 5-2 after an RBI double by O'Brien.

Amherst scored four more insurance runs in the seventh inning to make the final score 10-2.

W-F wrestling coach retires after 36 years

Weyauwega-Fremont Warhawks wrestling Coach Tim Potratz retires from coaching after 36 years. Potratz, who was also a Physical Education teacher for Weyauwega-Fremont, won over 500 matches in his career and was inducted into the Wisconsin Wrestling Coaches Association George Martin Wrestling Hall of Fame in 2021, as well as having several wrestlers win WIAA individual state championships.

The last two seasons were Potratz's most successful as the Warhawks competed in the WIAA team semifinals in 2024, and advanced to the WIAA team finals in 2025.

GREEN BAY PACKERS FANS

Thank you for being a part of the 2025 NFL Draft. I could not be prouder of the Packers organization and our community for this incredible event. There were countless memorable moments and special experiences throughout the whole week. It was a privilege to be a part of it.

As I approach my retirement in July and look back at my time with the Packers, the 2025 NFL Draft is certainly among my proudest accomplishments. But the credit for hosting this event so successfully belongs to our entire community and I want to express my gratitude to so many who contributed:

- To the NFL, for believing Green Bay and our community could host this event.
 You understood our vision and helped bring it to life.
- To Discover Green Bay and PMI for being our partners on the local organizing committee.
 We were proud to work alongside you.
- To our host committee who helped raise the funds to bring the Draft to Green Bay.
 Thank you to our donors for your unwavering support.
- To Governor Evers, Travel Wisconsin and our elected officials at the state level.
 You appreciated the impact the Draft could have as a statewide event and your support was instrumental in making it happen. We look forward to seeing the impact of this event for years to come.
- To our local municipalities: the City of Green Bay. Village of Ashwaubenon and Brown County. So many departments played a critical role in ensuring a smooth, safe event, especially public safety and first responders. We appreciate all you do.

Most of all, thank you to Packers fans, Wisconsinites and visitors from near and far. You showed your pride in this team and this region. You showed up, provided a warm welcome to new friends (even those cheering for other teams) and created an unforgettable atmosphere here at Lambeau Field and Titletown. We're grateful to have the greatest fans in sports.
