Life's Meaning

Dear Reader,

There's something about growing older—about all the experiences we gather, the places we've been, and the people we've met along the way—that helps a person gain perspective. With time, our thoughts, wisdom, and knowledge begin to intertwine, forming a clearer picture of life's meaning.

Now that I've reached this stage, it all makes sense. Everything that has happened—both the joys and the chaos—has happened for a reason. Even in the midst of life's turbulence, through moments of struggle and uncertainty, there was always a way forward. And in the end, there is always something better waiting on the other side.

So take heart, my fellow travelers on this journey! Take heart because, despite the challenges, we shall prevail. Instead of dividing and marginalizing, we will embrace and uplift.

Big lottery win in Wausau

A winning $50 thousand Powerball ticket was sold at a Kwik Trip on 1415 West St. in Wausau. The ticket was for the Wednesday, May 28 drawing. The ticket matched four of five numbers (23-27-32-35-59), plus the Powerball (11).

May has been a lucky month for the Wausau Kwik Trip. In addition to selling the winning $50 thousand Powerball ticket, the retailer sold a winning $25 thousand scratch ticket at the beginning of the month.

Another winning ticket was sold in Kohler. A $125 thousand Badger 5 jackpot ticket was sold at Gas and Go on 820 Commerce Ave.

"This is our biggest win under the new ownership. It was an exciting morning. My boss texted me about it as soon as he found out," said Karla, the manager at the Gas and Go.

Wisconsin Lottery retailers who sell winning tickets over $599 receive a two percent Retailer Performance Program Winning Ticket Incentive.

Players have 180 days from the draw date to claim their winnings. For more information on how to claim a prize visit wilottery.com.

Local students receive REI scholarships

Four local highschool students have received scholarships from REI Engineering, Inc. This year's scholarship recipients included Ella Szekeress and Lucky Ferrario from D.C. Everest and Parker Klebenow and Chase Klebenow from Merrill.

"We are proud and excited to offer a unique benefit for our team members and their families," said REI President Jen Nieuwenhuis. "The scholarships reflect our companies' commitment to offering a team-oriented culture that strengthens both retention and recruitment efforts."

The scholarship program is for the children of REI team members. The scholarships were created in 2015 to help with the cost of post high school education.

Szekeress will be attending Michigan Technological University where she plans on studying Civil Engineering. Ferrario will be attending Marquette University and is planning to study Criminology and Law Studies on the Pre-Law track. Chase Klebenow will be attending UW-Madison to study Electrical Engineering. Parker Klebenow will be attending UW-La Crosse to explore a degree in Science.

Great Wisconsin Bat Count

Wisconsin's DNR is looking for volunteers to count bats emerging at sunset on one night between June 6 and 8.

Wisconsin's cave bats are just beginning to emerge back to their summer roosts. The first count of the year is known as a "prevolancy" count because it occurs before newborn bat pups begin flying.

The second count is set for after the pups start flying, on July 18-20. Both counts are known collectively as the Great Wisconsin Bat Count. They help the DNR track the bat population trends in the summer.

Volunteers will be asked to count emerging bats, provide information on the roost sites and weather conditions. To participate in the Great Wisconsin Bat Count visit <https://wiatri.net/inventory/bats/volunteer/roosts>.

Free dog rabies vaccine clinic

Mountain Bay Metro Police will be hosting a free rabies clinic at the Weston Municipal Center. The clinic will be held on Saturday June 14 from 9-12. It is open to people living in the Village of Weston, Village of Rothschild, City of Schofield, and Town of Weston.

There will be free rabies vaccines and free microchipping offered. It is a first come, first served, event, so the event will end if supplies run out. To be eligible, make sure to have a 2025 pet license, which can also be obtained at the event.

Kronenwetter kicks off Farmers Market

On Sunday, June 8, Kronenwetter will kick off their 2025 season of the Kronenwetter Farmers Market.

During the kick off event, there will be karaoke, a book and puzzle exchange, and of course many vendors. The Marathon County Public Library will also be hosting a story time at 10 a.m.

The farmers market will be from 9-2 at Buska Park.

Marathon County beach monitoring

Marathon County has started a new beach monitoring program. The program involves sampling water at four parks with popular swimming areas. The parks included are Big Eau Pleine, Dells of Eau Claire, Mission Lake and Sunny Vale.

The water testing will monitor the beaches for bacteria, specifically E. coli. The goal of the program is to help families make an informed choice about using the beaches in the local area.

Sampling of the water will be done weekly until the Friday following Labor Day. Results of the sampling will typically be posted on Wednesdays. If the tests show higher than recommended bacteria levels, the Health Department will issue an advisory.

On their website, Marathon County said that they are monitoring beach water quality because "natural bodies of water can contain elevated bacterial levels due to rain, runoff or other environmental factors." Water with high levels of bacteria can increase the likelihood of causing illness.

Testing results and advisories will be posted on www.MarathonCounty.gov/beaches.

New funky food joint opens

A new restaurant has opened in downtown Wausau, and it is called Mumble Wrap. It opened on May 28 in Malarkey's, replacing Townie's Grill.

Their website says that they make "weird wraps for weird people." Right now they have 12 main wraps with a variety of other options. Their wraps range from breakfast style to fried alligator and hushpuppies.

As of now, their hours are 10:57 a.m. – 1:59 a.m. from Wednesday through Sunday, closed Monday and Tuesday.

Grand to get creepy, kooky, mysterious, spooky

On Tuesday, Grand Theater announced that Broadway's Addams Family musical will come to Wausau this October 14-15 as part of the Grand's 2025-26 season.

Other nationally touring shows on the Grand's list of programming include Tina: The Tina Turner Musical, Mrs. Doubtfire, Kinky Boots, Mark Twain Tonight and Chicago.

"We are thrilled to offer local audiences world-class theater experiences that are rare to find in cities the size of Wausau," said Grand Theater Executive Director Sean Wright. "The Grand's ability to schedule so many high caliber productions is a testament to north central Wisconsin's support of the performing arts."

The Grand's list of programming includes 39 shows, not including local productions or those put on by outside promoters renting the theater.

For live music fans, the Grand will also host the Righteous Brothers — whose Lovin' Feelin' Farewell Tour will bring them to Wausau in August; folk legend Judy Collins; proudly Irish Celtic Thunder; and a recreation of Johnny Cash's famous concert at Folsom Prison in 1968.

The season also features its share of bands covering the classics, with tributes to ABBA, Meatloaf, Fleetwood Mac and the alternative hits of the '90s listed among them.

Other acts taking the stage this season include Whose Line is it Anyway? veterans Colin Mochrie and Brad Sherwood and the Peking Acrobats.

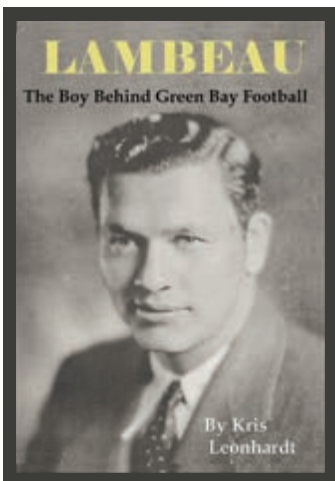

Hawthorn Hills says farewell

Hawthorn Hills Elementary School has closed its doors for good, celebrating its legacy on Tuesday evening with a farewell event titled Hawthorn Hills Last Hoorah and a freshly unveiled time capsule.

The school's closing is part of a greater consolidation effort by the Wausau School District that includes Hewitt-Texas Elementary, Grant Elementary and Lincoln Elementary. The schools will be shifted to Riverview, Jefferson and G.D. Jones, respectively, with Hawthorn Hills shifting to John Marshall and Franklin.

The Elementary Facility Plan Citizen Task Force, a task force made up of parents, staff and community members and facilitated by representatives of a school facility planning and projections firm, recommended the consolidation plan to the district, which

Wausau high schoolers earn associates

Five Wausau School District seniors have earned associate degrees from the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, according to an announcement released by the district.

Sophie Matz, Amicus Liss, Jody Yang, Aaron Pickar and Adrianna Kratwell received their associate degrees through the Rising Phoenix program, a collaboration between the district and UW-Green Bay that provides students with student success coaching and the opportunity to dual enroll in high school and the university.

Following their high-school graduation, the students will continue their college educations as juniors at a handful of schools across the UW system: Matz will attend UW-Green Bay to study writing and applied arts; Liss will study political science at UW-La Crosse; Yang will study global health at UW-Milwaukee; Pickar will attend UW-Eau Claire for biomedical engineering; and Kratwell will study psychology at UW-Madison. CP

Keep flexibility in your retirement income plan

Planning for retirement can seem intimidating and is often filled with ambivalence. On the one hand, we fantasize about how great it would be to have a schedule filled just with our own personal activities, not having to report to work anymore. On the other hand, it's often scary to think about a life without the paycheck we've received and relied upon for our entire adult lives. Fewer and fewer people are retiring with a guaranteed pension, therefore needing to rely on their own personal retirement accounts and savings to pay bills and lead the lifestyle they want. Structuring income from your nest egg for the retirement chapter of your life can feel like a daunting task. I ask every new client two crucial questions: "What is the most important thing I can help you with?", and "What is your biggest fear?"

When facing retirement, the answers are consistently some variation of "I would like a comfortable retirement" and "I don't want to run out of money" due to a significant market loss or spending too much too soon. Some even say they'd like me to help them so that they spend their last dollar on their last day. Wouldn't that be great?

There are few absolutes that apply to everyone in retirement planning because every situation is different. One of those absolutes is to maintain a level of flexibility in your retirement accounts. Diversification is important not only in your investments but also in your sources of retirement income. You may choose an annuity for guaranteed income. While the guarantee may be great, the flexibility may be limiting. The contract likely includes surrender charges for taking lump sums of money out (usually in excess of 10%) within the first several years, and the guarantee either changes or goes away if excess money is withdrawn. These rules are not necessarily bad as long as you fully understand and build your strategy around them. Pair that with one or more accounts in your strategy that have full liquidity so that money is accessible in lump sums for things like a new vehicle or a vacation. If you are analyzing investments that produce income, consider the flexibility to start and stop income when you want. Sometimes in retirement, people end up not spending all of the inflows that they are receiving. It's great to have the ability to stop the income, reinvesting into new shares and/or deferring to avoid withdrawals that result in income taxation. Consider the flexibility to completely sell out of your investment. How do you liquidate when you want to? Your "best" investment today may no longer be desirable in the future. Markets change. Interest rates change. Your needs will change.

Your sources of retirement income should be diversified, complimentary to each other and have a degree of flexibility.

You'll know in your stage of planning when you reach this point because the outlook for the future is less daunting and is often replaced with a sigh of relief. CP

It's Planning Season

To have a successful farm, thoughtful planning must be done every season. Your life is no different. To properly prepare for the next season in your life, you need a well-executed estate plan. When crafting a plan, consider the following planning tools.

A revocable living trust is a tool in which a trustee manages the accounts and property that you transfer to the trust for the benefit of one or more beneficiaries. A power of attorney for finance appoints a person to handle financial transactions on your behalf when you are alive but cannot handle them yourself. Farming can be a very strenuous career. A power of attorney for healthcare naming someone to make medical decisions for you if you can't is crucial. Depending on your situation, you may need more advanced tools.

Schedule an appointment so we can craft a plan to ensure that your legacy will be a lasting one.

MARCO! BIKE POLO!

Little-known sport endures at Memorial Park

This weekend, practitioners of a rather unorthodox sport will gather from across the Midwest in Memorial Park.

The sport is bike polo, a modern twist on the sport typically associated with the European upper-crust in which players wield wooden mallets from atop horses.

"A lot of people would refer to [bike polo] lovingly as like hockey, because the style is more similar to hockey than European polo," said Tyler Wildman, who has been an active part of Wausau's bike polo scene since it got its start around 2010.

"We started down at Marathon Park and we just used the tennis courts originally," explained Wildman.

With help from the Marathon County Parks, Recreation and Forestry Department, the club used old hockey rink materials to set up a makeshift bike polo court at Riverside Park.

"They've always been super kind and understanding and wanting us to play," said Wildman. "We're really lucky that they've always been really nice about giving us a space to play in."

It's a level of community support that Wildman said is somewhat unique to Wausau. In many cities, he said, bike polo clubs must make do with pre-existing infrastructure — parking lots, tennis courts and the like — until someone kicks them out and they need to find somewhere new to play.

With time, the bike polo court in Riverside Park degraded, and the club reached out to the parks department again — as well as a few city alderpersons — for assistance with finding a new locale.

Now, the club practices at Memorial Park, where the city has provided them with a walled court. Wildman hopes that the increased foot traffic that comes with a busier park allows more people to learn about the sport's existence even in passing, and eventually to check it out for themselves.

"We are always friendly to newcomers and visitors, and we play on Thursday nights and Sunday afternoons," he said. "You don't even have to play right away. You can just come out and watch... we're happy to let you use our stuff. We're just happy for you to come out."

Recently, longtime club members have begun bringing their families along to matches.

"[Adult members] are almost outnumbered by the number of children that join us now," said Wildman. He said that it's been nice to see parents pass on their passion to their kids.

"We want inclusion to be at the center of what we do as a group," Wildman said. It not only creates an inviting environment, but bringing in all sorts of people is in the spirit of bike polo as a whole.

"It's become such a home [across the country] for such a wide variety of people who felt like they didn't fit in places," Wildman explained. "We have tournaments that are specifically LGBT+ tournaments or women's-only tournaments."

This weekend's tournament is open to all genders, sexes, ages and skill levels. It will also be casual, to ensure that everyone feels safe and welcome and has a fun time. People who have fun times, he said, are more likely to stick around and play again in the future.

And if someone can't make it to the tournament, they're always welcome to show up for a regular meeting.

"It's very laid back," he explained. "We're also very welcoming to newcomers if anyone ever wants to try it out. We have gear, loaner bikes. We just ask that you bring a helmet."

The 3v3 Wausau Bike Polo Tournament will take place all day at Memorial Park this Saturday and Sunday. For more information on Wausau Bike Polo, including upcoming events and regular meeting locations and hours, check out their page on Facebook. CP

Family Pride Fest

Saturday 6/7 | 400 Block, Wausau

Pride month has rolled around again, and with it, the celebrations commence anew. Strut your stuff, support your loved ones and do a bit (or a lot!) of local shopping at this festival, which promises fun and good vibes for the whole family. 11:30 a.m. – 2 p.m.

Wausau Pride at Night

Saturday 6/7 | Central Wisconsin Expo Center, Rothschild

Don't worry, the party doesn't stop there. If you were hoping to get a little crazy this Pride, adult-only festivities will take place later in the evening after family programming, featuring a performance by Vanessa Vanjie of Rupaul's Drag Race followed by a dance party. Food trucks will be available all evening, as well as a special Pride cocktail at the bar. 18+. General admission $25. Meet and greet starts at 6:30; drag performance starts at 7:30; Nightcap performance and dance party start at 9:30.

Paint-by-number community barn quilt painting day

Saturday 6/7 | Rise Up Central Wisconsin, Wausau

Six farms around Marathon County have been awarded 8x8' barn quilts as part of the Barn Quilt Revival Project, a collaboration between VisitWausau and local art nonprofit Rise Up Central Wisconsin. Stop by and help out for a little bit, or stay the whole time — this is the start of a new tradition that Wausau hopes to see carry on for years to come. 10 a.m. – 6 p.m.

The Vox Ultima, Hollow Flowers and Wednsdays

Friday 6/6 | Nevermore on Third, Wausau

Make Nevermore your destination for a night of rock 'n' roll on Friday, June 6th! The Vox Ultima are a Wausau alt-rock band that easily blend the elements of '70s classic rock and '90s grunge and alternative, with a pop sensibility. Stevens Point's Hollow Flowers play shoegaze reminiscent of the genre's classic bands of the '80s and '90s, effects-laden guitars with dreamy vocals over a strong rhythm section oftentimes creating an ethereal cacophony. Wednsdays are back and they haven't missed a beat. They're groovy, funky, a little trippy and definitely rockin'. Door at 8:30, music at 9:30. 21+. $5.

Final Fantasy Magic: The Gathering Prerelease Event

Friday 6/6 | ISO Games, Wausau

You might be thinking to yourself, "Final Fantasy? What's so final about a prerelease event?" Or maybe you've been looking forward to the release of Magic: The Gathering's collaboration with this Japanese role-playing game titan since it was announced last year. Whether you're here to celebrate Magic, Final Fantasy or both, one thing's for certain: You're here to play cards and win some new ones along the way. And maybe, in the thick of battle, you'll even make some new friends. After all, isn't that what Final Fantasy is all about? $50 entry fee. 6 p.m. CP
