ABOUT US

The Press and Standard began publication in 1877 as a weekly newspaper owned by the W.W. Smoak family. The newspaper serves Walterboro in Colleton County, a rural coastal county located between Charleston County and Beaufort County. Interstate 95, connecting Maine to Florida, divides Colleton County into eastern and western portions. The eastern portion contains most of Walterboro, the largest community in the county and a large part of the Ashepoo, Combahee and South Edisto rivers, which form the ACE Basin, one of the largest undeveloped estuaries on the east coast of the United States. West of I-95, Colleton County is more rural, with thousands of undisturbed acres of land. Our flagship publication, The Press and Standard, is published each Thursday and delivered to 4,000 subscribers by the United States Postal Service. Our total market coverage newspaper, The Rockin' Shopper, is carrier-delivered each Monday to 10,500 homes and businesses in Colleton County. These products, in combination with our website – walterborolive.com – deliver news and advertising to over 35,000 readers each week.

Colleton Relocation Guide is published by The Press and Standard. The design, editorial, and photo content in Colleton Relocation Guide is copyrighted by Walterboro Newspapers, Inc. and may not be copied, scanned or reproduced in any manner, including publisher-designed advertisements, without written consent from the publisher.

WELCOME TO WALTERBORO

Bill Young, Mayor

Welcome to Walterboro, The Front Porch of the Lowcountry. Walterboro came into being in 1783 when two brothers, Paul and Jacob Walter located here to escape the harsh summers on their rice plantations. Walterboro was incorporated in 1826 and continues to be an authentic southern town, comfortable in its own skin and steeped in rich history, culture, tradition, and natural beauty. Our Red Rocking chairs are a trademarked visual symbol of our southern charm and front porch hospitality.

Visitors to Walterboro enjoy learning about Lowcountry wildlife and nature in The Walterboro Wildlife Center and in the 600+ acre Walterboro Wildlife Sanctuary.

Our downtown is very popular and a destination for visitors who meander through various shops and boutiques, take in some history at the Colleton Museum, visit our world famous court house and grab a bite to eat in one of our restaurants. The official SC Artisans Center, housed in a Victorian-style cottage, is located downtown and features works from several hundred South Carolina artists in a variety of mediums.

While we treasure and work to preserve our small-town ambiance, we have much to offer in the way of economic development. Walterboro is a place where small businesses grow and succeed on their own merit. Each year, twenty million people pass through Walterboro on Interstate 95 benefitting the restaurants, hotels, and businesses at our interchanges as well as our growing commercial corridors and thriving downtown. We are also home to one of the largest general aviation airports in South Carolina, capable of landing the largest executive jets. It is of note that the movie "Radio" and parts of "Forrest Gump" were filmed here in Walterboro.

Walterboro is conveniently located between the port of Charleston and the port of Savannah and those city's international airports. A quick drive gets us to Edisto Beach, Columbia, Hilton Head, Beaufort, Summerville, Charleston, and Savannah.

So come for a visit and stay a day, or stay a lifetime. We're saving you a seat on the Front Porch of the Lowcountry.

USC SALKEHATCHIE

Dr. April Cone, Dean

As a regional campus of the University of South Carolina, USC Salkehatchie provides a high-quality university education to the Walterboro community and beyond, all at an affordable price.

At USC Salkehatchie, students can earn their associate degrees or complete the first two years of almost any bachelor's degree. Through our system partnerships and the Palmetto College online program, we offer over 30 bachelor's degrees in fields such as elementary education, early childhood education, organizational leadership, liberal studies, business administration, health promotion, criminal justice and many more. Our 2 + 2 partnership with USC Aiken allows students to seamlessly transition and earn a degree in industrial process engineering or applied computer science.

Community interest classes are offered each semester and are free to South Carolina residents ages 60 or older and include yoga, line dancing and introduction to computers.

Beyond academics, USC Salkehatchie is a proud member of the National Junior College Athletic Association and competes in Region 10, showcasing our strong athletic programs in women's volleyball, men's basketball, women's basketball, men's soccer, softball, and baseball.

We invite you to explore USC Salkehatchie and all we have to offer. Visit our Walterboro or Allendale campuses or check us out at uscsalkehatchie.sc.edu to discover how we can help you achieve your educational and career goals.

TECHNICAL COLLEGE OF THE LOWCOUNTRY

In today's fast-paced economy, you wouldn't think things could move any quicker, but at the Technical College of the Lowcountry's Colleton County location that's exactly what happens.

"We're hearing more and more from residents who say they don't have the time to go back to school for four or even two years, said Phillip Taylor Sr., TCL Colleton Workforce Solutions Manager. "They're looking for courses that can be completed in just a few months or less so they can go ahead and jump into new careers or land higher paying jobs faster."

Enter TCL Colleton. Made possible through a partnership with the Colleton County School District and the Colleton Adult Learning Center – where it is based – this branch location is answering the call for fast-track courses that can be completed in less time.

Residents can choose from such courses as certified nurse aide (CNA), phlebotomy, certified production technician, medical billing and coding, and be ready to enter the job market in only a few months or in some cases just weeks.

Many of the courses are offered through TCL's online-learning environment or are taught in-person by certified TCL instructors. What's more, all courses offer on-site support to help students every step of the way from application to graduation.

"It's really been a win-win for both the community and our residents, Taylor said. "These classes offer real-world skills training that will lead to great jobs right here in the Lowcountry and beyond."

For more information or to register for a course, stop by TCL Colleton at the Colleton Adult Learning Center or visit www.tcl.edu/colleton. For more information on any of TCL's other locations or offerings visit www.tcl.edu.

Colleton Adult Learning Center

MISSION

Colleton Adult Learning Center will prepare every adult learner to graduate with a 21st century education to be globally competitive for their chosen college and/or career path.

VISION

Colleton Adult Learning Center is a world-class adult education program that ensures all adult learners achieve at high levels.

OUR STORY

Colleton County Adult Education, currently known as Colleton Adult Learning Center (CALC) has partnered with Colleton County School District, the Office of Adult Education (OAE) and other valued partners of the SC Works system to provide educational opportunities to the adult learner in Colleton County for over 20 years. Ms. Helen Bodison was our first adult education director followed by our first full-time director, Mrs. Lynn Jones. Over the years CALC has awarded over 2,000 SC Ready to Work Certificates, over 500 SC High School Equivalency Diplomas and over 300 SC High School Diplomas. We have helped thousands of Colletonians prepare for post-secondary training, education, the United States Armed Forces, and employment. We continue to work through the uncertainties of COVID-19 by strengthening our partnership with the Technical College of the Lowcountry and offering Patient Care Technician classes and Certified Nursing Assistant classes on our campus. We are also strengthening our ability to provide remote, or virtual testing and instruction. Our future together is bright as our motto states: Catch your future today!

A GLIMPSE OF COLLETON ADULT LEARNING CENTER

Colleton Adult Learning Center, also commonly referred to as CALC, is a progressive adult education program that receives competitively awarded state and federal dollars to assist the adult learner transition from the secondary to post-secondary training and education institutions that lead to fulfilling careers. Colleton County School District (CCSD) greatly supports CALC by providing our 21st century campus, technology support, custodial services, financial oversight and leadership. We are represented on the Lowcountry Workforce Board, South Coast Healthcare Alliance, and the CCSD Curriculum and Instruction Team. Our program also supports the SC Office of Adult Education by coordinating Region IV of the State Technical Assistance Network which facilitates professional development for one-fourth of the state adult education programs. Technical College of the Lowcountry (TCL) offers Patient Care Technician and Certified Nursing Assistant classes on our campus providing local access to Colletonians.

A MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR OF COLLETON ADULT LEARNING CENTER

"I am pleased to have the opportunity to assist you prepare for college, a local career or service in the United States Armed Forces. Our caring staff at CALC is comprised of award winning professionals who will connect you with our many partners of the SC Works system and Colleton County School District. Ross Innovative Employment Solutions provides up to $5,500 scholarships towards post-secondary training for qualified individuals. Technical College of the Lowcountry (TCL) offers Classes for Patient Care Technician and Certified Nursing Assistant (CNA) on our CALC campus with tuition assistance and child care vouchers provided by the South Carolina Department of Social Services. Our learning center is a Certified Pearson VUE Testing Center offering the General Education Development (GED) tests. Now is a great time to realize your dreams and achieve your goals. Please stop by or give us a call to find out how we can partner with you.

Sincerely,
Chris J Horvath

COLLETON MEDICAL CENTER

Colleton Medical Center is the community's acute-care facility, offering both inpatient and outpatient services for routine labs, mammograms, x-rays, MRIs, and other imaging services as well as 24/7 Emergency Care for adults and children.

Among many other achievements, Colleton Medical Center ranks first in South Carolina for Community Benefit by the Lown Hospitals Index for Social Responsibility.

ROBOTICS

Colleton Medical Center offers the same robust services available in Charleston, right here in Walterboro including colonoscopies and robotic surgeries.

Minimally invasive procedures are performed using small incisions, usually less than one inch in length, without opening large parts of the skin or muscle. Robotic and laparoscopic technologies are performed with specialized surgical tools, including a small camera, so your surgeon can operate within the body. The benefits of minimally invasive surgery include:

- Faster recovery process
- Less blood loss
- Less impact on the immune system

- Less postoperative pain
- Lower risk for infection and wound complications
- Shorter hospital stay
- Significantly smaller incisions requiring fewer stitches

LABOR AND DELIVERY

Colleton Medical Center's Labor and Delivery Unit earned the Blue Distinction® for Maternity Care designation for taking actions to reduce racial disparities and improve maternal health outcomes.

WOUND CARE

The experienced team at Colleton Medical Center's Advanced Wound Center provides personalized, outpatient wound care for a variety of acute and chronic wounds, including complex soft tissue wounds, diabetic wounds, infected wounds, non-healing surgical wounds, ulcers, and traumatic wounds.

GENESIS HEALTHCARE

Genesis Healthcare, Inc. is making strides to improve healthcare access in Colleton, Hampton, and Allendale counties through the opening of its new Walterboro Family Care and Pediatrics Center.

This new location, slated to open in September 2024 at 830 Robertson Boulevard, will deliver high-quality and affordable general primary medical care and pediatric services to all community members in need of healthcare.

The upgraded Walterboro Family Care and Pediatrics Center will allow Genesis to broaden the services it provides at its current Walterboro location. Expanded offerings will include case management services, a full-service laboratory, imaging, a full-service pharmacy with a walk-up window, and a specialty pharmacy.

As a Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC), Genesis strives to reduce the number of South Carolinians living in healthcare deserts by purposefully investing in rural health. This expansion is a significant step toward comprehensive health services for generations to come. The Walterboro Family Care and Pediatrics Center represents a long-term investment in high-quality and affordable healthcare, employment and educational opportunities, and economic growth for Colleton County and surrounding areas.

Community involvement is the driving force behind Genesis' work, understanding that whole-person healthcare goes far beyond the exam room. Partnerships with local schools, universities and organizations such as food banks are critical to implementing Genesis' mission of compassionate care throughout South Carolina. Two mobile healthcare units, rolled out in Summer 2024, enable Genesis to extend its outreach to underserved and remote areas as well as agricultural and migrant workers.

In August 2024, Genesis hosted a Back to School Bash at Colleton County High School offering fun family activities, tours of Genesis' new mobile healthcare unit, and low-cost sports physicals – the proceeds from which were donated back to Colleton County school athletic programs.

Each August, Genesis partners with local schools to donate backpacks full of school supplies for children residing in the areas they serve. Genesis has also hosted and sponsored health awareness events and tailored preventative health workshops for various community groups.

Genesis values the connection between quality healthcare and supporting the next generation of providers. With that connection in mind, an annual scholarship contribution is donated to nursing students at University of South Carolina Salkehatchie.

"We are thrilled to expand our services in Walterboro and the surrounding areas through the opening of our new Family Care Center," said Kim Weatherford, COO of Genesis. "This location offers a one-stop shop for patients of all ages and backgrounds, housed in a state-of-the-art facility, with a focus on creating much-needed health improvements within the community."

The opening of the Walterboro Family Care and Pediatrics Center marks an exciting milestone in Genesis' efforts to improve healthcare access, and for locals seeking high-quality, affordable healthcare close to home.

VETERANS' VICTORY HOUSE

MEDICAL CARE

Veterans' Victory House is committed to providing Veterans with a continuation of their active and enriching lives after active military service. A nurse works with the resident, family, and multidisciplinary/care plan team to develop an individual plan of care. A plan of care covers medical care and services, daily living activities, and educating the residents to maintain or increase independence to improve their well-being. Care is provided 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to all residents.

NURSING CARE

A full nursing staff serves residents 24 hours a day, supervised by Registered Nurses and Licensed Practical Nurses. The staff offers a broad range of experience, with particular emphasis in gerontological and rehabilitative services.

REHABILITATIVE THERAPY

Occupational, physical, speech and restorative therapies are provided by licensed therapists. The home also operates an on-site physical therapy service, staffed by full-time licensed physical therapy personnel.

Resident centered care promotes excellent results through careful planning and monitoring. The therapy department assists residents in reaching their full potential at the Veterans' Victory House.

PHARMACY SERVICES

A full-time licensed pharmacist and pharmacy technician are on duty five days a week. They are ready to serve all of the Veteran's pharmaceutical and consultative needs with the added benefit and resources of an on-site pharmacy.

Prior to admission, please allow our pharmacist to assist you in determining what prescription benefits, if any, are right for you while at Veterans' Victory House.

DIETARY SERVICES

Under the supervision of a registered dietitian and certified dietary manager, the dietary department aims to meet the nutritional needs of each resident. All meals are prepared on-site, and special diets are prepared as prescribed by the attending physician. Meals are served in the units or in our cafeteria. Snacks are available throughout the day.

Veterans' Victory House takes great pride in the dining services that are offered. With a multiple options available at each meal, it is our goal to work with the veterans to bring them a "taste of home" whenever possible. Don't miss our famous fried chicken Wednesdays and outstanding desserts!

TRANSPORTATION SERVICES

Transportation is provided for local medical or activity appointments. Ambulance service is used in emergency cases or for residents who need it.

Veterans' Victory House operates a fleet of vehicles that are all tuned up to deliver Veterans to these appointments with pride!

LOWCOUNTRY OYSTER COMPANY

Trey McMillan, Founder

Since founding Lowcountry Oyster Company (LowCo.) in 2017, local oyster farmer Trey McMillan has been changing how people enjoy oysters across the nation through sustainable state-of-the-art farming methods, with the ultimate goal of bringing South Carolina oysters to as many people as he could in the smallest environmental footprint possible. Under McMillan's leadership, LowCo. has grown exponentially since 2017. Now, as the state's largest oyster farm, LowCo. harvests millions of oysters annually—and McMillan has no plans of slowing down. Expansion is on the horizon as LowCo. breaks ground on its latest venture, a 6.4 million dollar project in Green Pond, South Carolina, that will bring at least 30 new jobs with it.

Construction is officially underway on LowCo.'s "Oyster Outpost," a state-of-the-art seafood processing and cross-dock facility in Green Pond, where LowCo. hopes to open its doors to other seafood producers and buyers to draw interest from wholesalers and trucking lines by the end of 2024. "We are so proud of what we've accomplished over the past seven years in just 16 acres of water here in the ACE Basin," states McMillan. "Our goal from the start has always been to feed as many people as possible on the smallest footprint possible, and this expansion will allow us to reach more oyster lovers than ever before in the Southeast and beyond. As we invest in ourselves with this exciting expansion, we're also proud to be able to invest in others. We expect to create more than 30 new jobs in rural Colleton County over the next five years. Giving back to the community has always been important to us as a company, so we are excited about bringing economic opportunity to this area."

This facility will have a state-of-the-art chilled water wet storage system and climate-controlled processing and holding areas – boasting over 10,000 square feet of refrigerated space – making it the first of its kind in the state. The new machines will allow LowCo. to increase production tenfold. McMillan's story is one of perseverance – he does not take no for an answer. As a Charleston native raised on the water, he likes to say that his company started with a boat and a dream. McMillan is now living that dream.

LOWCOUNTRY REGIONAL AIRPORT

A gateway into the Lowcountry.

Guests wanting to travel to many of South Carolina's resort plantations, beach communities, cities and ports have a convenient way to get to all of these destinations - without the hassle of flying into larger, commercial airports. The Lowcountry Regional Airport is located in Walterboro, and it is the largest general aviation airport in the Palmetto State. Local Colleton County leaders describe it as an aeronautical gateway to Charleston, Columbia, Beaufort, Hilton Head and Savannah.

The Lowcountry Regional Airport is a hub for pilots who are sight-seeing and who need a rest between schedules. It is also an ideal landing location for busy corporate travelers who are coming to the area as part of the entire Lowcountry's bustling industrial and tourism scene.

The airport boasts two runways, each ranging from approximately 5,700 feet to 6,000 feet in length and are 100 feet wide.

The airport itself features a luxurious common area, a pilots' lounge for pilots and visitors, restrooms, shower facilities, and a quiet room. The airport also has a commercial kitchen with an ice maker and freezers for catered meals. The airport also provides full service for corporate and personal jets coming into the airport, including fuel at highly-competitive rates.

The Lowcountry Regional Airport (KRBW) in Walterboro, SC is the largest general aviation airport in South Carolina with two runways ranging in length from 5,700 feet to 6,002 feet and is located five miles east of Interstate 95.

Our knowledgeable and experienced staff work hard every day to make Lowcountry Regional Airport your first choice and your best choice.

OUR HISTORY

Dedicated as an airfield in 1933, Lowcountry Regional Airport has a military history. During World War II, the airfield was turned over to the United States Army Air Force for training. Some of the most notable pilots were Tuskegee Airmen, who completed their final combat training onsite and who are honored with a memorial at the airport's Army Airfield Park.

LIVING IN THE 'BORO

Boasting a comfortable climate, a great location, historical charm and an abundance of natural resources, the Walterboro-Colleton area is a wonderful place to live. The county has a land mass of 1,056 square miles and includes the laid back family-oriented Edisto Beach.

Much of the grace and charm of the early settlers' lifestyles remains tangible today, as evidenced by Walterboro's architectural styles. The city abounds with fine examples of nineteenth century structures with several listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

WELCOME TO EDISTO

W. Crawford Moore, Jr., Mayor

Hello and Greetings from Edisto Beach:

On behalf of the Town of Edisto Beach Town Council and the Edisto Chamber of Commerce, welcome to our "little slice of paradise" that we call home. Edisto Beach is one of the last remaining unspoiled beaches on the east coast. As our regular visitors and local know, we are proud of our Edisto home. We like to say that our beach community is "gently developed" and our hope is that you find it as enchanting as we do during your stay.

While here, you can enjoy an array of recreational activities from, crabbing, fishing, kayaking and boating, camping at the State Park, walking or biking our scenic bike paths, or just walking or laying out along our 4 miles of beautiful beach. Our businesses are all locally owned and offer many choices for your shopping and dining pleasures.

There are many other activities to enjoy like our parades, weekly Wednesday market, monthly Arts/Movies in the Park events at Bay Creek Park or enjoy tennis or pickle ball at the town's courts. Just come by town hall and check out our pickle ball equipment at no charge.

Regardless of your interests, you will find Edisto Beaches greatest asset is our quiet and slow way of life. When you leave you will truly feel like you have been on vacation. We know that you could choose anywhere to go on your vacation, and we are pleased that you chose to spend this special family time with us. Our only request is that when your time here ends you leave behind only your footprints in the sand. Please respect our rules and be mindful of those around you and that they too are on vacation with their families.

For more information on things to do and local events, stop by the Edisto Chamber of Commerce at 42 Station Court or visit www.edistochamber.com.

For more information on the Town of Edisto Beach, visit www.townofedistobeach.com. Thank you again for visiting Edisto Beach, we will see you soon.

With kindest regards,
Edisto Beach Town Council

COLLETON MUSEUM & FARMERS MARKET

The Colleton County Museum and Farmers Market is located at 506 E. Washington Street in Downtown Walterboro.

The museum offers an excellent display of local history, from the classic car seen as you enter the building to the photos, maps, and displays inside the museum gallery. Colleton County history unfolds as you see signage from a bygone era of local businesses, mementos from schools, and local families, displays of the Colleton county rice culture, and various relics of the area. The museum even has bound volumes of the Press and Standard newspaper dating back to the 1800's. Stop by and view the constantly evolving exhibits.

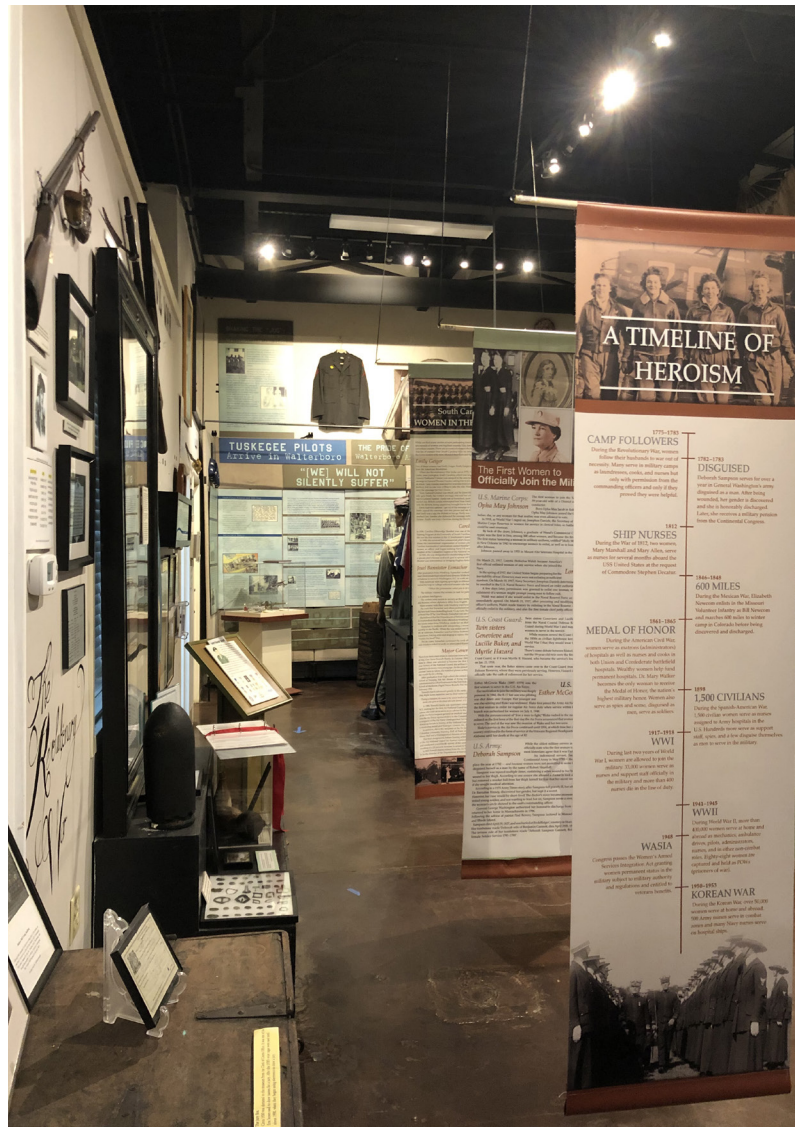

The museum gift shop offers a variety of Lowcountry-made items for sale, for books and baskets to grits and honey.

The gift shop is located in the area of the Marketplace Café and Gift Shop, home to a variety of vendors from the Colleton Commercial Kitchen. Come in for a lunch or dessert as they serve a delicious meal and have a cup of local roasted coffee or a soft drink.

The Farmers Market is held on Tuesdays from 4 until 8pm and Saturdays from 9am until 1pm. The market offers local produce, handmade crafts, and other items of interest. Tuesday evenings typically offer hot food and an open mic night. For local musicians.

The facility is open Wednesday - Friday from 10am - 5pm and Saturday, 10am until 2pm.

TUSKEGEE AIRMEN MONUMENT

The Walterboro Airport is the Site of the Tuskegee Airmen Memorial. Located on the right as you drive toward the terminal the memorial, rededicated in 2023, is a lasting tribute to the courage and service of the Airmen the served and trained at the Army Airfield in Walterboro.

The Tuskegee Airmen were a group of African American military pilots and airmen who fought in World War II. They formed The 332nd Fighter Group and the 447th Bombardment Group of the United States Air Force. The Tuskegee Airmen received praise for their excellent combat record earned while protecting white American bombers from enemy fighters. The group was awarded the Distinguished Unit Citations.

When the pilots of the 332nd Fighter Group painted the tails of their P-47s red, the nickname "Red Tails" was coined. The red markings that distinguished the Tuskegee Airmen included red bands on the noses of P-51s as well as a red tail assembly. The P-51B, C and D Mustangs flew with similar color schemes, with red propeller spinners, yellow wing bands and all-red tail surfaces.

DOWNTOWN WALTERBORO

Downtown Walterboro is a great place to relax and explore a traditional downtown. The six-block area is home to numerous antique shops, restaurants, boutique clothing stores, a jewelry store, and a classic soda fountain. Washington Street is filled with history, from the 1822 Courthouse and old post office, to the areas that were used in the 2013 film "Radio", the street with recognizable landmarks. The downtown area is on the National Register of Historic Places. The street features oyster shell sidewalks, live oak, and Waterfall Memorial Park that serves as a tribute to fallen Colleton County Veterans. Downtown Walterboro has something for everyone to visit.

COLLETON CIVIC CENTER

The Colleton Civic Center/Hampton St. Auditorium, formally Hampton St. Elementary, has been a historical part of downtown Walterboro for decades. The building, now owned by Colleton County, is home to businesses, artists, and studios who rent space in the classroom portion of the building. Our 480-seat auditorium is utilized for rentals as well as traveling shows, concerts, and other premier entertainment opportunities. As Colleton's premier venue for arts and entertainment, an art gallery is also available for art exhibits as well as meetings and classes. The Colleton Civic Center/Hampton St. Auditorium is an extension of The Colleton Museum and Farmers Market. For more information find them on Facebook, Instagram, and www.colletoncivic.org

COLLETON CHILDREN'S THEATRE

The Colleton Children's Theatre was established in 1999 and recently relaunched in 2023. A full scale fall production is produced annually with actors and student crew members ranging in ages from 7-17. School show productions are performed for area school field trips as well as a weekend of community performances. In addition, classes, and workshops are offered throughout the year for little to no cost to participants. Local artists/instructors are utilized with some of them being graduates and alumni of the CCT. Coming in the Spring of 2025, a young adult workshop group known as Encore, will be launching for ages 18-24. The non-profit group is always looking for new ways to serve the community of Colleton and new participants to welcome to their theatre family! For more info, check out Colleton Children's Theatre on Facebook and Instagram.

DOGWOOD HILLS GOLF COURSE

Dogwood Hills Public Golf Course, located at 1 Dogwood Lane in Walterboro, offers a challenging nine-hole course situated on a beautiful 141-acre backdrop of magnolias, live oaks, pine trees and, naturally, dogwood trees.

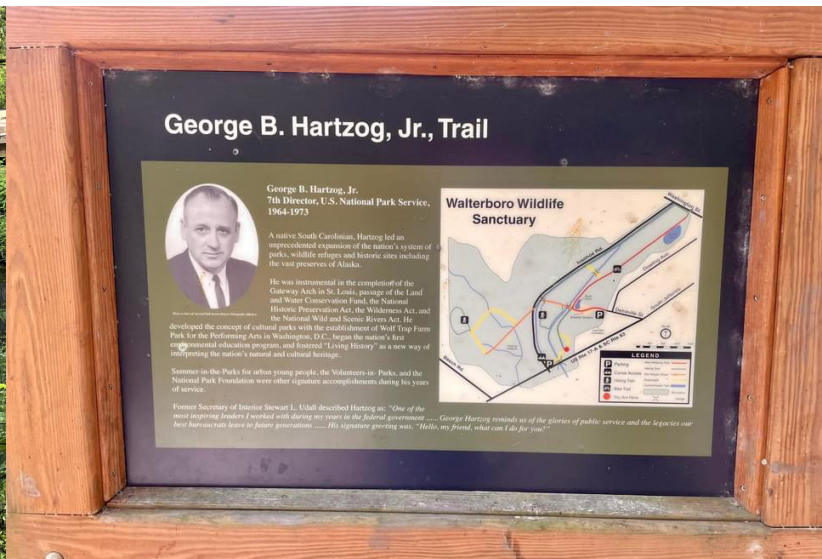

The course abounds in the natural beauty of Lowcountry living, meaning a bad day of golf is better than a good day at work and any time is tee-time.

At Dogwood Hills, you'll find several ponds where wildlife abounds, and you just might find an alligator or two sunning on the banks. In addition, the course offers a well-stocked pro shop, putting green and a spot to work on your short game.

Playing a round of golf at Dogwood Hills Golf Course is an affordable entertainment option with pricing and packaging available for everyone and for all ages.

To learn more about the course, schedule a tee-time or find out about scheduling a tournament or event call 843-538-2731.

WALTERBORO WILDLIFE SANCTUARY

The City of Walterboro rededicated the George B. Hartzog, Jr. trail in the Walterboro Wildlife Sanctuary Wednesday, July 31, 2024.

The trails namesake, George B. Hartzog, Jr., was born in Colleton County to humble beginnings marked by poverty. After only one semester at college Hartzog left to assist his family, but he did not let the lack of formal education stand in his way. He studied law independently and was admitted to the bar in 1942. After his military service in World War I, he ultimately became the 7th Director of the U.S. National Park Service from 1964-1973. Mayor Young in his dedication speech was proud to have the trail named for an accomplished son of Colleton County.

The inaugural dedication of the George B. Hartzog, Jr. trail took place in October of 2013. The original boardwalks and bridges were constructed from wood which degraded over time. Severe weather such as the tornadoes that came through Walterboro also contributed to the damage. The new boardwalks are made of Permatrack, a durable maintenance free prefabricated system. Also, in an effort to ensure the boardwalk is and remains structurally sound, the City opted to use Fuller Piling. The Fuller Pile system is a hybrid pile design that outperforms traditional piling designs to better withstand the elements. The system was invented by Andrew Fuller and is manufactured right here in Colleton County.

SC ARTISANS CENTER

Handmade treasures from selected artists always delight at South Carolina's official folk art retail center.

You could hunt all over the state for authentic handcrafted art representing South Carolina's rich and diverse cultural heritage.

Or you could pop over to the South Carolina Artisans Center, to explore the handcrafted art by handpicked artists; See, Touch, Smell, Taste, and Shop Art.

Located in Walterboro just minutes from I-95, the state's official folk art and craft center is a one-stop showcase for fine handmade crafts of every imaginable variety and media, from Gullah sweetgrass baskets to Southern face jugs, a craft tradition started in Edgefield by african slaves who worked on plantations as potters.

Along with the indigenous folk art created using centuries-old craft techniques, the collection also includes contemporary crafts, large installation sculptures and two-dimensional art.

Fittingly, the nonprofit gallery is housed in a restored eight-room Victorian cottage built in the late 1800s in Walterboro's historic district. Inside you'll find pottery, paintings, jewelry, quilts, mobiles, vases, and furnishings.

The art collection features the work of more than 200 South Carolina master artisans selected in a two-stage juried process that includes an evaluation by independent professional jurors. Diversity not only represents the population of South Carolina but the offerings at the Center.

Despite the high quality of the wares, you can find Art at every price point.

To be sure, there are plenty of pricier items that have been among the collection, including a $3,500 sweetgrass basket made by a well-known Gullah artist using a unique coiling technique handed down from her West African ancestors.

One of the most impressive and expensive items in the center is a $58,000 one-of-a-kind wooden canoe handcrafted by a local artist who lives just outside town. As much works of art as functional boats, these canoes are made from exotic and indigenous woods, fetching as much as $160,000 for a commissioned tandem.

As its mission, the South Carolina Artisans Center showcases and markets handcrafted artwork of the state's leading artists, while ensuring that art inspired by tradition is protected and nurtured; a gallery that speaks to the unique talents of handpicked South Carolina artists.

IN HIS NAME-COLLETON

In His Name-Colleton exists so that people experiencing homelessness have the resources and guidance to experience spiritual, physical and mental healing and live in sustainable, stable housing.

In His Name-Colleton provides community outreach resources and supportive services, not an emergency homeless shelter. Our office is located at 214 Wichman Street in downtown Walterboro. Our hours are Monday, Wednesday, Friday from 9 am to 12 pm.

January through July 2024, we were able to assist 356 clients, 62 being homeless. We served 3,615 meals to the hungry and gave out 2,500 pounds of food from our emergency food pantry. Our impact from January to July has us on track to double our impact from 2023. In addition to provide meals to the hungry, we have an emergency food and hygiene pantry to anyone in need. Our homeless services also include showers and laundry, assistance with vital documentation and job readiness skills, and transportation for relocation to safe shelter, direct street outreach including meal delivery and free laundry day once a month.

In addition to our community outreach we have a transitional housing program for men and women. We also operate In His Name Community Thrift Store to support our mission at In His Name-Colleton, provide jobs for our transitional housing clients, and provide clothing and household items for those transitioning.

We are excited for what God has in store for In His Name-Colleton and our community! We strive to meet our clients and guests where they are so we can better understand their needs to help navigate through what may be an uncertain time in their life. If you feel led to be involved or know someone in need of our services, please reach out to us via email at ihncolleton@gmail.com or call our office at 843-782-3080. In His Name-Colleton is a 501c3 non profit organization and your donations may be tax deductible.

NAACP #5507

Founded in 1909, the NAACP is the nation's oldest civil rights organization. Throughout the 1920s and 1930s, the association led the black civil rights struggle in fighting injustices such as the denial of voting rights, racial violence, discrimination in employment, and segregated public facilities. Dedicated to the goal of an integrated society, the national leadership has always been interracial, although the membership has remained predominantly African American. The national office of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was established in New York City in 1910.

The NAACP aimed to ensure for all people those rights guaranteed in the 13th, 14th, and 15th Amendments to the United States Constitution. The Amendments promised an end to slavery, provide equal protection of the law, and the right for all men to vote, respectively. Accordingly, the NAACP's mission is to ensure the political, educational, equality of minority group citizens of States and eliminate racial prejudice. The NAACP works to eliminate the barriers of racial discrimination through the democratic processes. From the first evolution of the Niagara Movement, Jim Crow Laws, the Springfield Race riots, the right to vote, Brown vs the Board of Education, the March on Washington, the Civil Rights movement, and more the NAACP has championed an integrated society where all are created and treated equal.
