The Fountain

Now in its 54th year, the world-famous Fountain continues to delight and inspire visitors to Fountain Hills.

Developed as a tourist attraction to spur economic development for the community, the town has grown up around the centralized Fountain, which reaches about 300 feet when it shoots upward.

The fountain sprays water from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. for about 15 minutes on the hour. Driven by three, 600-horsepower turbine pumps, the fountain shoots upward at a rate of 7,000 gallons per minute through an 18-inch nozzle. Operations today utilize two pumps, taking the spray to a height of about 300 feet. At its highest, the fountain's 560-foot record height held for more than a decade. When reaching its maximum height, three pumps were used.

More than 50 years ago, businessmen at McCulloch Properties brainstormed an idea to acquire land northeast of Phoenix, Ariz. The property became Fountain Hills.

The property, home to a cattle ranch, was part of McCulloch's strategy to create master-planned communities. Those communities needed an attraction; their attraction for the Maricopa County land featured the world's tallest fountain.

The late C.V. Wood, who designed the master plans of all the Mc-Culloch planned communities, as well as Disneyland, came up with the idea for the Fountain after seeing a story in a Phoenix newspaper about building a giant fountain in the desert. Wood ran with the idea. McCulloch had many of the fountain parts built in Zurich, Switzerland, and shipped to Arizona for installation.

The Fountain truly is the centerpiece of the community. Situated in the middle of the 64-acre Fountain Park, the iconic Fountain is the backdrop for weddings and birthday parties, the annual Easter Sunrise service, sports activities, Ballet Under the Stars performed by dancers with Ballet Arizona, Fountain Hills High School graduations, concerts, movie nights and a variety of special events.

The Fountain was recently retrofitted with new equipment to carry it into the future, including new lighting that allows the Town to illuminate the water in a variety of colors for special events.

In addition to the Fountain, families gather in the surrounding park for the splash pad, musical park, ramadas, plenty of walking paths and Veterans' Memorial.

Art festivals occur year-round.

Fountain Hills is home to dozens of pieces of community art.

The poinsettia tree, donated by residents every holiday season.

Music plays a big part in many local events.

A community of culture

Fountain Hills prides itself on its variety of activities.

With numerous cultural events – ballet, art shows, theater, concerts – residents and visitors alike have much to take in or become a part of.

The following is information about the variety of cultural groups and activities available in Fountain Hills:

Fountain Hills Art League – An organization that was started as a small group of artists in 1980 now has more than 100 members. Activities include an annual Juried Art Competition held in conjunction with Fountain Hills Cultural and Civic Association; an all-members show; and the annual Tour d'Artistes, held the first full weekend in March. League members meet the first Monday of each month, and artist demonstrations are featured. They also participate in workshops and trips throughout the year.

Juried Art Show – This annual event, held in January, features local artists whose works are hung in the Community Center.

Ilovefountainhills.org— Also known as Fountain Hills Cultural and Civic Association, FHCCA is dedicated to "enhancing the quality of life in Fountain Hills by supporting, developing and operating cultural, civic and educational activities in the community."

FHCCA, a 501(c)3 non-profit corporation, is funded through annual membership fees, donations, grants and various fundraisers. For more information, visit ilovefountainhills.org.

The FHCCA's programs are supported in part by membership donations from the public. Under the ilovefountainhills.org umbrella are:

Civic Affairs – Offers educational programs, local candidate nights, town halls on community issues and a mentor program.

Community Band – The band, made up of musicians who live in the community full and part time, performs at events in the town. The Community Band welcomes new members with at least high school level band experience.

Community Chorus – The chorus is a non-audition group and welcomes new members who love to sing. The chorus typically schedules a spring and holiday concert.

In-Home Concerts – Top-notch musicians in two classical and four jazz concerts perform in private homes in the community.

Fountain Hills Dark Sky Association – The group is dedicated to educating the community about the advantages of smart lighting and protecting the town's unique dark sky. With the public's help, light pollution and light trespass can be minimized so everyone now, as well as future generations, can enjoy the wonders of the night-time universe.

Poinsettia Tree of Remembrance – This project is intended to beautify the community and help those who are bereft during the holiday season.

Public Art – FHCCA is responsible for locating, selecting, negotiating prices and acquiring public art in the community. As a result of its work, the town boasts well over 100 pieces of public art in the collection. Docent-led "Art Walks" are scheduled the first Saturday of the month from September through April.

Especially notable is "Fount Rushmore" in Fountain Park. It features statues of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Franklin Roosevelt, Theodore Roosevelt, Abraham Lincoln and Ronald Reagan. The Preamble to the Bill of Rights also is featured there Vision Fountain Hills – This program is primarily centered on the Arizona Town Hall concept. The citizen-driven movement helps with the development and planning of Fountain Hills.

The Community Garden plays host to special events and plant sales.

Leadership Academy – The Fountain Hills Leadership Academy is an eight-week course of intense immersion into the town's governmental processes, civic and community services, public safety and environmental management of the area's natural resources.

In its eighth year, each class has the opportunity to develop the next year's program, nominate potential classmates and add their creativity to the efforts. The goal is to create better-informed citizens and future leaders.

Fountain Hills Community Garden – A community effort created a nurturing garden space to build a sense of community, provide gardening and cooking lessons for children and adults, grow nutritious organic produce and beautify the town. All garden beds are leased, but a waiting list is available. There also is a membership opportunity in the Friends of the Garden.

Munch and Music – For more than 15 years, this popular concert series consisting of four performances in January and February has been a highlight for both winter visitors and full-time residents. All performances are free of charge.

Non-Profit Network – The Non-Profit Network brings together local non-profits to share challenges and solutions to grow and be more effective. Retreats are hosted several times a year. Additionally, organizations are recognized monthly to raise awareness of each group and the work they do.

Encore for More! – This organization is dedicated to enhancing the lives of the Fountain Hills senior population in the areas of health, recreation and education. Among the activities, Encore also provides durable medical equipment, which is provided on loan at no charge to needy seniors; the give-a-lift program; Home Delivered Meals program; bingo games; New Adventures Day Trips; "listen and learn" speakers; and Time4U Technology support.

The International Dark Sky Discovery Center is expected to break ground in 2024.

As we proudly approach our 50th anniversary in 2024, we continue to stand as the largest nonprofit civic organization dedicated to supporting our business community. Operating from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Thursday, the Chamber is conveniently located at the intersection of Palisades Boulevard and Verde River Drive.

Explore the recently opened Chamber Gift Shop within the Visitor's Center, offering unique Fountain Hills merchandise for both residents and visitors. The Visitor's Center is a valuable resource, providing dining guides, hiking trails, maps and comprehensive tourist information for the entire state of Arizona, with a particular emphasis on Fountain Hills and member-related content.

Our nonprofit is overseen by a board of directors, comprising local business owners, managers and professionals who share a passion for fostering a thriving business and nonprofit community.

For companies contemplating expansion or relocation, the Chamber, in collaboration with the Town of Fountain Hills' Economic Development Department, stands ready to assist. The local residents are exceptionally loyal, actively supporting our businesses and organizations through local shopping. Join us for our Chamber events, with a wide variety to choose from, occurring monthly, as part of our Support Local initiatives. We gather to provide an opportunity to network, engage with the community and hear insights from local business owners.

The Chamber plays a pivotal role in hosting community events that contribute to the economic vitality of our town. These events attract visitors from across the state and country, supporting the long-term growth of our businesses. Notable occasions include two award-winning arts and crafts fairs, Fountain Hills Day, Thanksgiving Day Parade, Stroll in the Glow. Explore various committees, such as the Chamber Ambassadors, and Chamber Volunteers, among others.

With a focus on networking, advocacy, education, and marketing, the Chamber offers over 140 events and meetings annually. Stay informed about upcoming events by downloading our Community App, "Visit Fountain Hills" or checking our robust calendar at fhchamber.com or following us on social media platforms, including YouTube, Facebook, Instagram and TikTok. Subscribe to our newsletter for regular updates featured at the bottom of our website's home page.

Our diverse Chamber members span across various industries, nonprofits and organizations. Refer to the Chamber of Commerce Business Directory, available both in print and on our website, for contact information and to explore and support our local economy. We eagerly anticipate welcoming you soon, as we celebrate our 50th anniversary in 2024, and assisting you in discovering the wonders of this incredible community and the businesses and organizations dedicated to serving its residents.

Fountain Hills' vibrant marketplace

Support local growers and producers at year-round farmers' markets

The annual Fountain Hills Farmers Market is all about bringing the community together to connect with local farmers, ranchers, fishermen, bakers and others in a friendly setting.

Located in the heart of Fountain Hills along the Avenue of the Fountains, the Fountain Hills Farmers Market offers a welcoming space for food vendors, musicians, dog-walkers and baby-strollers to enjoy all that Fountain Hills has to offer.

Visitors to the Avenue between November and April can take in the delectable aromas of freshly made tamales from The Tamale Store, bite into sweet treats from Wiki-licious Hawaiian Donuts or enjoy a plump, mouth-watering empanada from Buenos Aires Empanadas. In June, the Corn Market stops into town and from August to October, the Fresh Peach Market offers shoppers freshly picked peaches and more.

"I feel like the FHFM has everything you would want in a market," said Betsy Hess, organizer for the Fountain Hills Farmers Market. "We have two live musicians creating a great vibe to walk around in, we have several food trucks to choose to have breakfast or lunch. Plus, many vendors sell hot food to eat on-site or take home for dinner."

Hess said the annual farmers market has something for everyone; vegans, vegetarians, dairy-free and gluten-free options and more are available, ensuring all can reap the rewards of fresh food and produce and support local businesses.

Marking its third year connecting with "The Art on the Avenue," shoppers can peruse the market while enjoying live music along the Avenue.

For Hess, farmers markets have always been a happy place where she can count on getting the freshest fruits and vegetables.

"Growing up in Michigan, there were always roadside stands that had everything from tomatoes, green beans, fresh baked pies, cookies. Then in the fall, we would pick our own apples, pears and more," Hess said, who wanted to bring that same, small-town feel to Fountain Hills.

To keep the music going, Hess established the Fountain Hills Sweet Corn Market in the early summer and the Fountain Hills Peach Market in the fall so when the Farmers Market ends, shoppers have something to look forward to in every season.

From Alaska to Utah to Arizona

Hailing from Petersburg, Alaska, Jim and Chelsea Smith and their three children are a mainstay in the Fountain Hills Farmers Market scene. Family-owned and operated, the Smith's business, North Star Halibut, has been sustainably catching wild Alaskan fish since 2010 and selling them in markets around Arizona, from Payson, Sedona and Fountain Hills.

"We love meeting our seafood-loving customers! If you're in the area of one of the amazing markets we participate in, please stop by and say hello," a press release read.

Moving from sea to land, Yvonne Turley, her husband Val and their daughter, Chelsea, bring in fresh fruits/vegetables to Fountain Hills from Utah and other northwest states. Located just south of Fountain Hills in Mesa. Ariz., Yvonne has become affectionately known by her followers as the "AZ Fruit Lady," who keep a close eve on her social media and email list as she brings in upwards of nine truckloads of fruit and vegetables each year into Mesa and distributes the produce throughout the Valley.

"We wait for the produce to ripen on the plant," Yvonne said.
"Email azfruitlady@gmail.com if you would like to be on the email list."

Bringing an artisan touch to the Fountain Hills Farmers Market is Noble Bread, a Phoenix-based artisan bakery owned by Jason Raducha said, who launched the bakery out of his North Phoenix home. Now, his business serves more than 250 restaurants, country clubs and farmers markets all over the Valley using only organic, GMO-free flour

A selection of country and sliced loaves, buns, pretzels and pastries are quick to go at the Fountain Hills Farmers Market, and visitors are encouraged to pre-order to have a chance at tasting Raducha's heavenly creations.

"When it takes three days to make a loaf of bread and you hand that loaf over to someone who's going to consume it or even give it as a gift - to be part of their dinner or their lunch, I think it's amazing...it's cool to be part of that," Raducha said, who's been coming to the Fountain Hills Farmers Market for more than a decade.

Support local

From freshly caught fish and fruit ripened off the tree to artisan pastries and bread, Fountain Hills is a town where farmers and ranchers thrive in a local-first community and where markets are held year-round.

"All the markets will grow and expand every year," Hess said. "I look forward to them all and hope our residents, guests and out-of-town visitors enjoy them too."

Plenty of parks in Fountain Hills

Fountain Hills has outdoor recreation areas appealing to all ages and interests, whether you're looking to play some ball, take a hike or let your four-legged friend get in some exercise. Contact the Town's Community Services Department regarding permits, reserving facilities or to schedule activities or events by calling 480-816-5151, or visiting fountainhillsaz.gov.

Fountain Park

This 64-acre public park is the jewel of parks in Fountain Hills. It includes a 29-acre lake, owned and maintained by the Town of Fountain Hills. The park was built in 1970 and features a championship disc golf course, two age-defined children's playgrounds with shade covers, restrooms, picnic tables, benches and the world-famous Fountain. The lake water is effluent, rendering it unavailable to swimming, boating or fishing.

Fountain Park is home to the Veteran's Memorial (see related story), as well as the recently refurbished Rotary Centennial Splash Pad, a local place for kids to cool off in the summer. Also available is the Community Musical Park, with free-standing instruments ready for anyone to play. Bathrooms and water fountains are accessible to those visiting the park in three locations.

Fountain Park is located on Saguaro Boulevard, between El Lago and Palisades boulevards. It is open daily from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. with the Splash Pad running from 9 a.m. to sunset, opening the second Saturday in April and closing the last Sunday in September.

Veteran's Memorial

A portion of Fountain Park honors America's soldiers with a special Veteran's Memorial located at El Lago Boulevard and Kiwanis Drive. The memorial was dedicated on Memorial Day 2005, and a bronze statue of a World War I veteran was unveiled in May 2006. The memorial also features a Howitzer field artillery piece obtained through the U.S. Army. The Howitzer was manufactured during World War II and used through the Vietnam War.

There also are plaques commemorating U.S. foreign conflicts dating back to the Spanish American War. Names of area veterans are inscribed on the Memorial Wall.

Four Peaks Park

Four Peaks Neighborhood Park, located on Del Cambre, is a 15-acre park that includes a youth soccer field with spectator seating, picnic tables, a ramada, a restroom/control building, lighted tennis courts, pickleball courts, basketball courts, ballfields and a playground.

Local parks have plenty of play structures.

Redesigned Skate Park becomes local attraction

By George Zeliff

Whether you're a beginner or an expert skater, the Desert Vista Skate Park has something for you. The park reopened in June 2023, after expanding the existing space by 10,000 square feet and adding a pump track and a new bowl.

The Fountain Hills Parks and Recreations Department welcomed community input for renovations, and Community Services Director Kevin Snipes said they've seen more people using the park this summer than ever before.

"It's neat how big of an age group uses it," Snipes said in a summer 2023 interview. "I'll go over there and there's a 10-year-old riding and it's 115 [degrees], and at 5:30 to 6 in the morning, there's a group of people that are out there rollerblading and all sorts of different stuff that we didn't see in the past. It certainly got good use, but I think the use we're getting now in the middle of the summer is what we were getting in the winter. I think as soon as it cools off, it's really going to be an extremely busy place."

Snipes, who started as the park supervisor in 2016, hosted a public workshop meeting before renovations began and welcomed feedback to see what the "local flavor" was. It turned out to be a little bit of everything, and Snipes thought it was neat how local experts wanted to make sure that the beginners in the field got something extra, too.

Most pump tracks and skate parks are separated, but they butt up to each other at Desert Vista. Snipes said that makes it so there's drop in and roll out spots throughout the entire run, and the Parks Department has received compliments from local and out-of-town skaters about the near-seamless transition from the pump track into the skate park.

"The pump track is easily the best thing," 2023 Fountain Hills High School graduate JP Cahil said. "You can come in from different directions, you can do it in reverse directions, and you can make up your own routes on it. The previous skate park was cool, but it kind of got old because it was just the same thing every time."

The Town received grant funding for the Capital Improvement Plan (CIP) project and had a budget of $675,000 for renovations. Besides adding new attractions, the Parks and Recreation Department also fixed areas of cracked and chipped concrete and added fencing around the park.

The original skate park was built in 2007, and it did not have any other additions until the Town partnered with Musco Lighting to allow for night-time use in 2021.

Caleb Dassinger was one of several community members to bring ideas to the table for the new skate park designs, and now he leads the Brilliant Victory Skate School for the Town of Fountain Hills' Return to Recess program. Dassinger is a local professional and owner of the skateboard company, Brilliant Victory, and he teaches a four-week program to kids aged 8-14.

Dassinger also helped the town host the first Fountain Hills Skateboarding Classic in early 2022 and hopes to make that a regular competition in town. Additional information about the Brilliant Victory Skate School and other recreational activities can be found at fountainhillsaz.gov/266/Parks-Recreation.

Skateboarding made its Olympic debut in 2020 and is resurging in popularity both locally and globally. If you're a skater, or just looking for a new thrill, pack a helmet and check out Desert Vista Skate Park.

"My favorite part of the skatepark is definitely the pump track," Fountain Hills High School senior Kyan Taylor said. "It's a super fun new addition they added, and I think that alone will bring tons of people. I also really like how they really opened it up to take advantage of all that space. I'd say that I go to the skatepark at least once a week and it's very enjoyable now. There are definitely way more people there than before."

The local skate park has grown over the years and offers fun for riders of all ages.

Paradise for those on two wheels

Whether you're looking to get in a quick ride or are gearing up for a long haul, Fountain Hills has evolved into a biker's paradise.

While plenty of residents like to cruise around on two (or sometimes three) wheels, the varied biking opportunities available throughout the community also serve as a big draw for regular visitors.

Mountain biking is an area favorite. There are numerous trails for bikers of all levels in and around Fountain Hills. Street biking also is popular within the community, with miles of paved roads to explore, many with bike lanes.

While standard bikes are allowed pretty much everywhere, Maricopa County Parks and Recreation Department and the Town of Fountain Hills generally do not allow electric bicycles on the trails at McDowell Mountain Regional Park and the town's McDowell Mountain Preserve trails.

There are bicycle shops serving the Fountain Hills community, offering evervthing needed to get rolling as well as plenty of information about area biking opportunities. Local riders also use "Cycling Fountain Hills" on Facebook to connect with other enthusiasts in a private group totaling nearly 500 members. For information on local bike shops, see page 115 in the directory.

Leave No Trace

Fountain Hills is surrounded by the great outdoors, and there are measures we can all take to make sure the outdoors remain "great."

The Colorado organization, Leave No Trace, features seven principles to educate people so they can provide the most effective and least resource-intensive solution to land protection. Maricopa County Parks and Recreation Department is a partner of Leave No Trace.

Living in the Desert Southwest offers ample opportunity to be outside, to explore, enjoy and experience nature in its truest form. But living here also means an obligation to protect the land, always providing places for new visitors to encounter the beauty in the same way the person before them did.

Maricopa County Parks and Recreation has adapted the Seven Principles of Leave No Trace. For complete details for the principles, visit maricopacountyparks.net/how-to-minimize-your-impact-on-parks-and-preserves/. Here is the general list:

Know before you go
Stick to trails and camp overnight right
Trash your trash and pick up poop
Leave it as you find it
Be careful with fire
Keep wildlife wild
Share our trails and manage your pet

Take a hike: Miles of trails, just around the corner

If someone in Fountain Hills tells you to "take a hike," don't be insulted. Lace up your shoes, grab a water bottle, leash up the dog and head for the hills to enjoy hundreds of miles of hiking trails in and around the community.

Hikers, mountain bikers and the occasional equestrian have challenged themselves on the trails in the Fountain Hills McDowell Sonoran Preserve, Scottsdale Sonoran Preserve and McDowell Mountain Park for many years.

As Fountain Hills was developed and following incorporation there were people in the community who saw the McDowell Mountains as an opportunity to make the Town a destination for outdoor adventure seekers.

Moving through the Sonoran Desert hills on foot is a great way to get close to nature, maybe view some wildlife and get acquainted with the rugged fauna of this harsh terrain. It is a great location for nature photographers to capture the amazing environment in any season.

It took decades of effort to plan, find funding and execute what is fast becoming a destination trailhead in the Valley. Funded by development fees, the Adero Canyon Trailhead was dedicated in 2018. It is at a central location in the Preserve that provides hikers with access to miles of trails just within the Fountain Hills Preserve. Extending out from the trailhead are more than 10 miles of hiking trails that were built by volunteer Trailblazers. They were cut by hand with picks and shovels.

Volunteer trailhead hosts are available at Adero Canyon Trailhead during the cooler hiking months. They report that many visitors consider the trailhead facility a gem among similar amenities around the Valley. Some have taken to making regular visits from as far as their White Tanks Mountains base in the West Valley.

There is additional access to what amounts to hundreds of miles of trails in the Scottsdale McDowell Sonoran Preserve and McDowell Mountain Park.

Adero Canyon is not the only holiday for hikers in Fountain Hills. At the north edge of Town there is the Eagle Mountain Trailhead that provides access into McDowell Mountain Regional Park and Dixie Mine with its history and native rock art. There is also the Lake Overlook Trail that crosses a ridgeline above Fountain Park providing spectacular views. It is a short, but challenging workout for those living near the center of town.

Those who like an urban or neighborhood feel to their walks will find the Town's network of FIT trails laid out to connect parks and other key community amenities. The FIT network is great for an early morning walk and taking the dog out for exercise right in the neighborhood.

Enjoying the great outdoors is where Fountain Hills excels with residents and visitors.

New trails planned for Fountain Hills Preserve

Expanded options for hikers are on the way

By Bob Burns

The Adero Canyon Trailhead, the gateway to the Fountain Hills Mc-Dowell Mountain Preserve (FHMMP), receives tens of thousands of visitors during the peak hiking season. The Town of Fountain Hills' McDowell Mountain Preservation Commission (MMPC) wants to continue to offer those visitors new opportunities to experience the Sonoran Desert surrounding the Town.

Over the past few years, the volunteer Trailblazers have been busy cutting new trails across the Preserve. The popular Ridgeline Trail and its companion Lower Ridgeline have attracted a lot of new visitors. Over the recent season the Trailblazers completed the North Leg Trail and opened it in early March 2023. This trail is a .85-mile spur off the Promenade Trail along a ridgeline between residential subdivisions. The North Leg offers a leisurely out from the Promenade and hikers may not notice the significant elevation change until they turn back. There is a 345-foot rise along the trail from east to west classifying this as a moderate challenge for hikers.

The Trailblazers will keep busy for the next couple of years as the MMPC went to the Town Council in June 2023 seeking approval for additional trails in the Preserve. The shortest project is a trail connection to be known as the Overlook Extension

Local Trailblazers work on another Preserve expansion.

Trail. This trail will extend from the end of the existing Easy Access Trail up the hill to connect with the Ridgeline Trail near the Overlook.

Two more challenging trails are planned to cross the higher elevations along the Town's western boundary above the existing Sonoran and Lower Sonoran trails. The "Middle Trail" would extend from the terminus of the Promenade Trail across the mountainside to connect with the Sonoran Trail.

Likewise, a new "Upper Trail" would extend from an intersection with the Western Trail across the mountain at elevations as high as 4,000 feet, according to trail planners. This trail would end at the Sonoran Trail at the same location as the Middle Trail. This work is to be done by the volunteer Trailblazers over the next three seasons with projected completion during the 2026/2027 winter. Trail planners who have surveyed the trail paths describe relaxing "meadow-like" areas and spectacular views the new trails will offer hikers. None of the new trails will have any impact on residential neighborhoods. With volunteer construction there is no cost to the town on these projects.

New names

Those already familiar with the trails will find some new names to familiar paths within the Preserve. The MMPC and Sonoran Conservancy of Fountain Hills, a volunteer operations group, recommended changes to some of the trail names to provide clarity and remove confusion and redundancy.

The Western Loop Trail has become the Western Trail. The Alternate Bike path is now an extension of the Andrews/Kinsey Trail with which it connects. This change brings the Andrews/Kinsey Trail all the way to the Promenade Trail just above the Adero Canyon Trailhead. With the approval of the Overlook extension the Easy Access Trail will become the Overlook Trail.

Sonoran Conservancy

The Sonoran Conservancy of Fountain Hills (SCFH) is a volunteer group that assists in Pre-

The operations. group includes the Trailblazers (45), Trailhead Hosts (46) and Hike Stewards and event leaders (36). MMPC calculates these volunteers have provided 2.264 hours with a value of nearly $72,000 (based on national volunteer hour estimates of $31.80 value). Using MMPC trail counters, Fountain Hills had 133,467 trail visitors (not unique, but based on passes of counting devices) between October 2022 and April 2023.

Beyond the Preserve

With the 10 miles of trails to explore within the Fountain Hills Preserve it might be easy to forget that the Preserve offers a gateway to hundreds of miles of trails in the Scottsdale McDowell Sonoran Preserve (SMSP) and McDowell Mountain Park. The FHMMP is 824 acres but provides access to the 21,000-acre McDowell Mountain Park (via the Sonoran Trail) and its more than 50 miles of trails as well as the 31,000-acre SMSP and another 285 miles of trails (via the Andrews/ Kinsey Trail). The Maricopa Trail, a 242-mile loop that will eventually provide a beltway connecting nine of Maricopa County's Regional Parks, including McDowell Mountain, also passes through the Scottsdale Preserve.

The three-million-acre Tonto National Forest near Fountain Hills adds an additional 234 trail options including the overland Arizona Trail that stretches from the Mexican border to Utah.

Hiking

More than 100 miles of hiking and mixed-use trails give fountain Hills residents and visitors access to a world-class experience in the Sonoran Desert.

Area trails are intertwined within the boundaries of Fountain Hills McDowell Mountain Preserve, McDowell Mountain Regional Park and the Scottsdale McDowell Sonoran Preserve. These paths lead to unsurpassed views, wildlife habitats and natural beauty not found anywhere else in the world. Hikes range from easy to extremely difficult, providing the kind of walk or ride any lover of the outdoors can enjoy.

The Trails

Few places in the Southwest rival the beauty of the Sonoran Desert. Fountain Hills is in the heart of this unique ecosystem, and the miles of trails allow for exploring flora and fauna firsthand.

Within the confines of Fountain Hills are the Adero Canyon Trailhead, Golden Eagle Trailhead and the Lake Overlook Trail. Nearby is McDowell Mountain Regional Park, while many other trails, including within Tonto National Forest, are within easy driving distance.

Fountain Hills Interconnected Trails (FIT) is a series of urban neighborhood trails for casual walking or bicycle riding in the community. The Civic Center Trail is an approximately 3-mile loop beginning in Fountain Park and returning to the same place in the parking lot off El Lago Boulevard. The Falcon Trail circles the neighborhood around Fountain Hills High School. The trailhead is in Golden Eagle Park. The challenging 3.8-mile Sunridge Trail encircles the SunRidge subdivision using Palisades Boulevard, Sunridge Drive, Desert Canyon Drive and Golden Eagle Boulevard.

Golden Eagle Trailhead

Fee: $2 McDowell Park user fee to be deposited in cash at the "Iron Ranger" post where the trail enters the park. The trailhead is located at the end of Golden Eagle Boulevard.

Hikers must park in the public parking lot behind the "Ranch House" at the Eagles Nest subdivision just outside the community gate house. Hike the half-mile or so through the subdivision to the McDowell Mountain Park boundary.

This trail provides access to the Dixie Mine Trail, inside McDowell Mountain Park. The abandoned, 240-foot-deep mine has nearly 500 feet of tunnels, but access into the mine is now prohibited. State mining officials use the mine to train inspectors. The hike is five miles round trip. The Sonoran Trail leading into the Fountain Hills Mc-

The area offers countless opportunities for dedicated hikers.

Dowell Mountain Preserve intersects with the Dixie Mine Trail inside the park.

The Lake Overlook Trail is an easy to moderate 1.5-mile hike many can reach from their front doors. The trail, which starts and ends on Panorama Drive just across from Fountain Park, is difficult to see from the road, but well worth the investigation. Views of the McDowell Mountains, Fountain Lake, Four Peaks, Red Mountain, the Superstition and Goldfield Mountain ranges all are visible from the highest point of the hike.

McDowell Mountain Preserve and Trails

The Fountain Hills McDowell Sonoran Preserve within the Town's boundaries brings desert hiking right into the backyards – literally, in some cases – of Fountain Hills residents. With the Adero Canyon trailhead, it is much more accessible.

Toll Brothers, the Adero Canyon developer, deeded 82 acres of land to the preserve within the town boundary, which now includes 822 acres owned by the Town of Fountain Hills with an additional 200 acres owned by the City of Scottsdale, providing 1,022 acres of preserve within the town.

The McDowell Sonoran Conservancy of Fountain Hills has a crew of volunteer Trailblazers who, over the past several years, have completed more than 10 miles of different trails. The group has now added volunteer trailhead hosts to Adero Canyon to provide advice and information to hikers.

Adero Canyon Trailhead

The trailhead is at the south end of the Fountain Hills McDowell Mountain Preserve. The location provides access to trails from Fountain Hills into the Scottsdale Sonoran Preserve as well as McDowell Mountain Regional Park with its 50 plus miles of trails. The Adero Canyon Trailhead is located at 14800 N. Eagle Ridge Dr.

Easy Trail/Wayne Tall Loop

Length: .12-mile with flat elevation.

Difficulty: Easy

This trail is a wide, gradual slope with broad views similar to the higher Overlook Trail. The Easy Trail is a spur off the Overlook Trail.

Overlook Trail

Length: .6-mile Difficulty: Moderate

The Overlook Trail begins along the Easy Trail (at .3 miles) and then has a moderate climb to offer spectacular views of the Verde Valley and the Town of Fountain Hills. This trail is different from the "Overlook Trail" above Fountain Park.

Promenade Trail

Length: .93-mile Difficulty: moderate

This old Jeep trail is a wide path and considered a relatively easy hike along the length of the Preserve.

Western Trail

Length: 1.2 miles

Difficulty: Extremely difficult

With a 573-foot elevation change this is a hiker's challenge. The 360-degree views are the reward. The loop connects to the Andrews/Kinsey Trail on the south end and drops back to connect with the Promenade Trail for a cool-down walk back to the trail's beginning.

Sonoran Trail

Length: 2.6 miles Difficulty: Difficult

Connecting the Promenade Trail and the Dixie Mine Trail inside McDowell Mountain Regional Park, this trail is strenuous. Hikers and bicyclists welcome.

A parallel path known as the Lower Sonoran Trail offers alternative routes. There are crossovers between the trails providing loop hikes.

Andrews/Kinsey Trail

Length: 3.5 miles

Difficulty: Moderately difficult

Named for two icons of McDowell Mountain preservation and trail building, Chet Andrews and Roy Kinsey, this trail connects the Promenade Trail in Fountain Hills with the Sunrise Trail in the Scottsdale McDowell Sonoran Preserve. The connection provides access to hundreds of miles of trails in Fountain Hills, Scottsdale and McDowell Mountain Park.

Ridgeline Trail and Lower Ridgeline Trails

Length: 4.5 miles –out and back loop.

Difficulty:

Moderately difficult.

Follows the Ridgeline south from the Adero Canyon Trailhead to a location above the Scottsdale Adero Resort. Provides scenic views east across the Fountain Hills toward the Mazatzal Mountains, Four Peaks and the Superstitions. Looking west views include Scottsdale and the Valley. Can be done straight out and straight back without looping.

North Leg Trail

Length: 1.4 miles out and return

Difficulty: Moderate

This is an out and back trail that begins from the Promenade Trail and runs along a ridge line. There is some up and down climbing with great views into Fountain Hills.

Fountain Hills Desert Botanical Garden

Length: 1.2 miles – out and back

Difficulty: Easy

The Botanical Garden offers an easy hike on eight acres of the native Sonoran Desert. The trail has informative signs about desert plants along the route, and also has an eBird site. The trail is located on Fountain Hills Boulevard about 1.5 miles south of Palisades.

Be Prepared

Whether biking or hiking local trails, it's important to keep a few things in mind to make sure your trip into the beautiful desert landscapes surrounding Fountain Hills is a safe one:

*Drink plenty of water ahead of your time outside and bring more than you think you will need on the trail – one quart for short hikes of two hours or less; one gallon for longer hikes. When your water is half gone, it's time to turn back.

*Dress appropriately. Closed-toe shoes or athletic shoes are a must. Wear loose-fitting clothing – shirts with long sleeves and long pants are recommended to help protect against the sun's rays.

*Let someone know where you are going and when you plan to return.

*Have the proper gear: plenty of water, fully charged cell phone, snacks, maps and sunscreen. Other suggested items include a whistle and a camera. Also, an item recommended by rangers, a fine-toothed comb. It's a great tool to remove cholla cactus, just in case.

*Stay on the trail. You will be safer, and you won't damage the desert.

*If you are hiking with a dog, it's a good idea to give it foot protection. Always clean up after your pet.

*Make sure you know your limits (and your dog's). Know how far you can go, and if the weather is hot reconsider – the desert in the summer can be deadly.

*In spring or during monsoon, sudden rainstorms can mean flash flooding. Stay out of washes or low-lying areas.

Off-roading

A favorite pastime in the great outdoors of the Sonoran Desert is off-roading.

Fountain Hills is surrounded by numerous off-roading options. Popular nearby locations include Tonto National Forest, including the Four Peaks area, Rolls OHV area, Saguaro Lake Cove and the Apache Trail (well-maintained dirt road suitable for passenger cars).

The town also is home to a couple of local tour guides and Jeep rental facilities for those wishing to explore the desert.

Riders should take proper precautions when exploring in the summer months. Bring an adequate supply of dinking water, as well as have a general idea of the time needed to complete the trip. Let someone know where you will be and when you plan to return.

Fishing

Although fishing is not allowed in Fountain Lake, the community is near a number of great fishing sites. Try your luck in a trio of lakes (Saguaro, Canyon, Roosevelt), a couple of rivers (Salt and Verde) and even a collection of urban lakes in the Valley (Chaparral Park, Riverview Park). Check out the Arizona

Game and Fish website for licensing, lake levels, stocking schedules and fishing reports (azgfd.com/fishing-2). Licenses are required for urban fishing, as well. For more information on urban fishing opportunities, visit scottsdaleaz. gov/sports/fishing and mesaparks.com/parks-facilities.

From hotels to campsites, RV parks and beyond, options abound for those planning an extended visit.

Nature in every direction

Here's a rundown of some unique points of interest in and around town for those looking to take in the desert scenery, snap some photos or take a swim:

Fountain Hills Desert Botanical Garden

This local destination began in 1975 and was restored in 2006 as a wildlife preserve and garden between Kingstree Boulevard and Inca Avenue. Sonoran Desert plants are identified along a half-mile trail on the desert slopes with an elevation from 1,696 to 1,800 feet. The trail features an abandoned P-Bar Ranch campsite next to the 1941 constructed dam wall. The botanical garden was founded by the late Jane Haynes. The late Ann Stavely served as the facility's first director.

Four Peaks Wilderness, Tonto National Forest

The road to Four Peaks is located about 15 miles northeast of Fountain Hills off State Highway 87. Take the gravel road about five miles north of the Saguaro Lake intersection, which leads to a four-wheel drive trail that goes to the dominant saddle of Four Peaks. For details, call 602-225-5200 or visit fs.usda.gov/tonto.

Mount McDowell

This 2,550-foot-high landmark is southeast of Fountain Hills. More commonly called Red Rock or Red Mountain for its distinctive coloring, or Gunsight Mountain for its unique feature appearing as a gunsight, the official name is Mount McDowell. Named after Gen. Irvin McDowell, who served as a U.S. Cavalry officer during the Civil War and in Arizona, the mountain is on the Salt River Pima Indian Community and not open to public access.

Fountain Hills' History

More than five decades of that hometown feeling

When the area that is now Fountain Hills was inhabited by Hohokam Native Americans centuries ago, the people made the best of their desert environment, using water from the Verde and Salt rivers for their farming, preparing meals with native plants and taking advantage of a wealth of wildlife. These were peaceful, fearless people who lived in this part of the Sonoran Desert.

Later, the Yavapai migrated to the region, also drawn mainly by the area's two rivers. They remain neighbors to Fountain Hills at Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation.

The two communities share their love for this environment, celebrating the beauty, the bounty, the spiritual sense created by the natural resources.

Fountain Hills is a planned community, started by Mc-Culloch Properties. The town began in 1969 when Fountain Park and the future downtown areas were the first creations. The community was built out from that center.

Fountain Lake has changed a lot over the years. Once an escape from the Arizona heat, today's visitors would be advised to enjoy its beauty, but avoid taking a plunge.

On Dec. 15, 1970, the world's tallest fountain was turned on for the first time. With the startup of the fountain came new residents from far and wide. Work on the first homes began in 1971, and in 1972, new homeowners had moved in. While the Fountain no longer holds its "world's tallest" title, it is still a hallmark and major draw for the community.

Early settlers here in the 1970s were retired, but a building boom in the 1980s brought an influx of younger families. The town now boasts Little Falcons Preschool, McDowell Mountain Elementary School, Fountain Hills Middle School and Fountain Hills High School.

In late 1989 voters approved self-government. The first elected council members took their seats in June 1990. The local government has grown in all areas formerly administered by Maricopa County and has taken on new responsibilities such as parks and recreation, contracting for law enforcement and fire protection, town court, etc.

When many people in the Valley hear "Fountain Hills," they often associate it with its two big art shows, the Fountain Festival of Fine Arts & Crafts in November and February. Large crowds are attracted to these three-day outdoor events.

Fountain Hills has an international flair to it in that it has three Sister City affiliations: Dierdorf, Germany; Ataco, El Salvador; and Zamosc, Poland.

The 1990s saw developer MCO Properties begin establishing new residential communities within Fountain Hills. Among these neighborhoods are Eagle Mountain, SunRidge Canyon, FireRock Country Club, CopperWynd, North Heights, CrestView, WestRidge, EagleRidge, Eagles Nest and Adero Canyon. Most of these areas are now sold out.

Voters approved the Town's updated General Plan at a May 2020 election. The plan provides a guideline for future development within the community.

The Town's central business district continues to evolve, with new retail, commercial and restaurants moving into existing spaces and additional development planned in the coming years.

The Fountain Hills Medical Center emergency room and a local branch of HonorHealth opened in recent years, and new housing projects are popping up in the community

Local facilities have also undergone recent improvements. The L. Alan Cruikshank River of Time Museum and Exploration Center saw a thorough renovation while the Fountain Hills Community Center saw remodeling, new paint, carpet and interior design updates.

The community exudes pride in what its residents and leaders have accomplished. The can-do attitude is apparent wherever you go, and through the years, Fountain Hills has earned its reputation as "the small town with a big heart."

A community for every interest

No matter what your interests are, Fountain Hills is likely home to plenty of likeminded individuals. Above, members of the Fountain Hills Automobile Club show off their rides during one of the many car shows they organize throughout the year. In Fountain Hills, clubs are dedicated to politics, community service, maintaining local trails, not to mention hobbies like coin collecting, quilting, card games, fitness and more.

Explore history

L. Alan Cruikshank River of Time Museum and ExplorationCenter

The L. Alan Cruikshank River of Time Museum takes visitors from the region's early history on up through modern day.

Experience the area's storied past

Much like the community and region surrounding it, The L. Alan Cruikshank River of Time Museum & Exploration Center has undergone some changes over the years. With a rich history, natural beauty and Native American culture right in our front yard, the facility has evolved over time to capture the essence of the area.

Recognizing the need to preserve the rich heritage of the area, in 1989 several Fountain Hills residents gathered to form the Fountain Hills and Lower Verde River Valley Historical Society. Dr. Paul Kolwaite initiated the formation of the historical society. In 1991, Alan Cruikshank, Bruce Hansen and Bonnie Kline created a small museum in a modular building shared with the Chamber of Commerce at Fountain Park. It also served as a visitors center.

Cruikshank also led the effort to build the existing museum, contacting a variety of people who could move the project forward. In the end, he appeared before the Fountain Hills Town Council, requesting a $3.7 million bond issue.

The bond issue passed by a 2-1 margin. In 2003, the museum moved to its current location when the bond issue funded construction of the joint library/museum project on Town property next to the Community Center. The Town of Fountain Hills continues to provide the property, along with building services, which has sustained the museum since its opening.

In 2008, the museum's name was

THE P-BAR RANCH ARTIFACTS ARE FEATURED AT THE MUSEUM.

A DEPICTION OF NATIVE AMERICANS GRINDING CORN ON A METATE.

ONE OF THE FOUNDERS OF THE RIVER OF TIME MUSEUM, L. ALAN CRUIKSHANK, HAS AN HONORED PLACE IN THE FACILITY.

THE RIVERBANKS GIFT SHOP

changed to the L. Alan Cruikshank River of Time Museum, honoring Cruikshank for his 12 years of service as president of the historical society, his efforts to complete the museum project and as publisher of The Fountain Hills Times, now Fountain Hills Times Independent.

In 2021, the name was changed again to reflect the newly renovated facility. Over an 18-month period, the museum evolved to house more interactive exhibits, more history of the area from pre-human to today and information to give visitors a sense of place, history and importance for Fountain Hills and the surrounding areas.

Creative, informative exhibits recount the history of the Lower Verde River Valley and depict the importance of water in the Sonoran Desert, illustrating how water has determined the course of history.

Exhibits preserve the stories of the early Hohokam people, the Yavapai who migrated with the seasons in search of food and water, explorers, trappers who traveled the rivers and prospectors looking for riches. Visitors learn of amethysts mined at nearby Four Peaks and view one of the largest and finest amethyst clusters in the world.

Following the flow of the river through history, visitors will experience the story of water and its importance to the settlement of the Lower Verde River Valley.

The River of Time hosts multiple fundraisers to support its operations throughout the year, which have included everything from dance parties and motorcycle showcases to red-carpet events, live entertainment and more. Additionally, tours of the museum, along with Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation sites, are offered, along with a hiking series, Fountain Hills Exploration Tours and more. The annual Holiday Mart takes place each December.

The current museum staff includes Executive Director Cherie Koss and Director of Operations Yvonne Prater. Dozens of volunteers, including trained docents, provide individual and group tours, event support, office help and assistance in countless other activities. Group tours are available by appointment for a nominal fee.

The International Dark Sky Discovery Center will be a major expansion to the town's Civic Center.

The Civic Center unites the community

With a full view of the world-famous Fountain and many amenities gathered in one location, the Town's Civic Center is the heartbeat of the community.

Located at the intersection of the Avenue of the Fountains and La Montana Drive, Town Hall serves a critical role in hosting municipal offices and services, and is a symbol of local government, democracy and a place where members of the community can voice their opinions, present ideas and ask questions of their elected officials.

Fountain Hills is home to one of the largest public art collections in the state. Located at the center of the Civic Center, the Centennial Circle sculpture garden houses over 30 art pieces where the public can gaze upon striking statues set against Fountain Hills' stunning mountain ranges.

Around the Centennial Circle orbits some of the Town's most adored public spaces. The Community Center serves as the Town's multipurpose cultural center, which boasts 31,000 square feet of space designed to accommodate a host of activities available to the public, solidifying itself as the town's hub for local art, culture and recreation.

The grand ballroom accommodates as many as 800 individuals and the 5,000 square foot lobby is used frequently for staging exhibitions and large receptions.

The Fountain Hills Library, a branch of the Maricopa County Library District, is home to more than 40 public access computers and a resale bookstore. More than 50,000 books, eBooks, videos, DVDs, audio CDs and magazines are housed at the library, and many public events are held here for all ages.

Activities are hosted by the library throughout the year, including events for kids, teens, adults and families.

The Fountain Hills Library is neighbor to the L. Alan Cruikshank River of Time Museum & Exploration Center, a must-see museum for area history which breaks down the timeline of the Town and the lower Verde River Valley.

The Museum invites its visitors to explore the lives of early settlers, Native Americans and present-day figures and events, including rotating exhibits.

Just outside the Museum lies the town's beloved Community Garden. A peaceful respite for gardening and gathering to connect with nature, the Community Garden offers classes in soil hydration, landscaping and even cooking classes that pair garden vegetables in thoughtfully prepared recipes. The Community Garden includes an array of garden beds, pavilions and a gathering area for scheduled events.

Completing the revolution around Centennial Circle will be the International Dark Sky Discovery Center, currently in development. This planned observatory will include a hyperspace planetarium with digital immersive technology to deliver images on an enormous 39-foot diameter, tilted dome.

The facility will house the largest telescope in the Valley and will further STEM education, research and tourism in Fountain Hills, which is the 17th community to earn the prestigious designation of a Dark Sky Community.

The Dark Sky Center was designed by PGAV Destinations, a St. Louis-based firm that has designed education-focused facilities such as the Smithsonian Air and Space Museum and the Kennedy Space Center.

The Community Garden is in full bloom

Celebrating its sixth anniversary in 2023, the Fountain Hills Community Garden has evolved into a desert oasis buzzing with activity, located in the heart of downtown.

Several years ago, organizers set out to create a nurturing space to grow nutritious, organic produce, provide gardening lessons for adults and children and create a sense of social awareness and beauty in the community.

The Community Garden, located next to the L. Alan Cruikshank River of Time Museum & Exploration Center and Fountain Hills Library, took dozens of volunteers to dig in and help it bloom into the garden it is today. A remodel was completed in 2023, adjusting the Community Garden to make room for the planned International Dark Sky Discovery Center.

The garden consists of 130 garden beds, six ADA-compliant beds and four beds dedicated to food bank donations. All beds are leased. A waiting list is available for those interested in obtaining a bed at a later date.

The garden also features a greenhouse, garden sheds, compost bins, picnic tables and umbrellas, as well as work areas and a beehive. A shaded, electricity-equipped demonstration pavilion is a popular spot for cooking demonstrations and informal socials.

While the garden has a waiting list for planting beds, a $10 membership fee to become a "Friend of the Garden" allows attendance at classes and social events. There are some 300 garden members, including "friends."

Visit fountainhillscommunitygarden.com for more information.

The Community Garden is truly a communal effort, with members coming together to teach, learn and grow.

As an International Dark Sky Community, Fountain Hills has its eye on the sky.

At least, many of its residents do. Through the partnership of the Fountain Hills Dark Sky Association and Town officials to gain recognition for our dark skies in 2018, related night sky activities followed. These include the popular Dark Sky Festivals and the Star Dudes, who take people on "sky tours" and plan to build a unique science-based facility in the community that would include a world-class domed observatory.

The initial design and architecture of that observatory, the International Dark Sky Discovery Center (IDSDC), is underway now. Thanks to multi-million dollar contributions from the Arizona State Legislature and generous donors making pledges, fundraising has reached $18.5 million of its $25 million goal.

The IDSDC design is complete and approved by the Town Council. The facility will house the largest telescope in Greater Phoenix, and with its three other state-of-the-art components, will provide STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) education for students and leading-edge learning experiences for all ages. Once constructed, IDSDC will feature four distinct educational attractions including a Dark Sky Observatory, Hyperspace Planetarium, Inspiration Theater and an Immersion Zone with interactive exhibits.

The Town of Fountain Hills was designated as the 17th Dark Sky Community in the world by the International Dark Sky Association in 2018. Based on that designation the IDSDC is privately raising capital to construct an approximately 22,000-square-foot, non-profit facility that will be an international attraction benefiting the entire State of Arizona.

"Our Dark Sky Observatory will have the largest telescope in the Greater Phoenix area," said Ted Blank, IDSDC vice president and NASA solar system ambassador. "We will offer public viewing to present breathtaking views of the Moon, planets, nebula, galaxies and other stellar objects."

The observatory's capabilities for astrophotography and research have already attracted the interest of university leadership.

Tourism officials say IDSDC will be an important part of the state's astrotourism industry, which already brings visitors to the region specifically for astronomy-related experiences.

Dark sky tourism is a major draw for the State of Arizona, and it is believed the IDSDC will be an asset for the state, according to Joe Bill, president of IDSDC.

The proposed site for the IDSDC is in Fountain Hills within the Town's civic center complex, between the library and community garden.

Visit DarkSkyCenter.org to donate to the IDS-DC and for additional information.

A Community of Art

Fountain Hills residents and visitors are exposed to art daily, be it in the form of the community's large public art collection or any of the numerous art-focused events that are hosted around town throughout the year.

Artists are as prolific in Fountain Hills as their art. The Fountain Hills Art League, one of the oldest organizations in the community, complements the public art with some of its own activities including the annual Tour d'Artistes, where visitors can see working artists in studios and galleries throughout town. These artists participate in other events held throughout the year including competitions and demonstrations.

And with artists come art shows. Fountain Hills Chamber of Commerce hosts two award-winning shows each year, The Fountain Festival of Fine Arts & Crafts in February and November. Those shows bring thousands of visitors to the community for three days during the nicest time of the year.

An artisan market takes place during St. Patrick's Day celebrations at Fountain Park and on Avenue of the Fountains each March. Art on the Avenue is another popular event featuring local artists and craftspeople. Visitors can gather each Thursday through April for the Avenue show.

Art galleries also are a mainstay in Fountain Hills. Fountain Hills Artists' Gallery, an artist co-op, has been serving the community for nearly 20 years. Other galleries include Emerson Art Gallery, Nir Art Studio and Gallery and Sudha's Art Gallery and Books. Frame shops also operate in town.

See page XXX for more information about Fountain Hills' public art collection.

Under the umbrella of Fountain Hills Cultural and Civic Association, a Public Art Committee provides oversight of existing art and makes selections for new art based on artistic merit, compatibility with the rest of the collection, availability of an appropriate site as well as the history and provenance of the work.

Public art on display all over town

Fountain Hills has a public art collection few communities its size can boast, adding value to the community while creating a special place for residents and visitors alike.

With more than 150 pieces of sculpture, flat art and fountains throughout the community, residents, organizations and businesses have done their part in adding to the collection over the years. Art is everywhere in Fountain Hills.

Private funding has been used to purchase nearly every piece displayed inside the Community Center, Town Hall, the local branch of Maricopa County Library, in Centennial Circle, the L. Alan Cruikshank River of Time Museum & Exploration Center, Fountain Park, along Avenue of the Fountains and other locations around Fountain Hills. Individual businesses also add to the collection by committing pieces to place on their companies' property.

An active Public Art Committee has created and spurred on this interest for art in the community. Under the auspices of Fountain Hills Cultural and Civic Association, the long-term goal of the Public Art Committee has been to create the finest collection of public art in the Southwestern United States.

These artists participate in other events held throughout the year including competitions and demonstrations.

Volunteerism on constant display

Fountain Hills has developed a well-earned reputation as a community of volunteers. The Town alone has a pool of volunteers that approaches 1,000 devoting their spare time to helping neighbors with numerous opportunities.

The Town has been a participant in the annual nationwide Make a Difference Day for a number of years. Those efforts have earned national recognition for its fall program.

"Our Volunteers are a special and unique group of individuals who share their time, talent and passion making the Town of Fountain Hills a better place for everyone," said Kim Wickland, Town of Fountain Hills volunteer coordinator. "The Town of Fountain Hills is looking for individuals to help with essential Town services, Town projects and special events. Some positions are regular and ongoing while others are one-time special events.

"Opportunities for volunteering a few hours, weeks, or years exist for individuals and groups from youth to active seniors."

Home Delivered Meals provides regular meals to those in need, the Crisis Response Team offers help and comfort to those experiencing a personal emergency and Give-A-Lift provides rides and companionship to those who cannot drive.

Volunteering is not just a Town-centered avocation for many residents. There are numerous service clubs, church organizations and youth programs that provide outreach and assistance in the community and beyond.

Those with an interest in volunteering may contact Wickland for more information at 480-816-5108 or kwickland@fountainhills.az.gov.

A Sister Cities community

No matter where you go around the world, people are basically the same. They go to school, work, play sports, spend time with friends and family, enjoy hobbies and strive to make their communities a better place.

Fountain Hills is part of Sister Cities International, a non-profit citizen diplomacy network that creates partnerships between the U.S. and international communities. Sister Cities' mission is to promote peace through mutual respect, understanding and cooperation – one individual, one community at a time.

Dierdorf, Germany

Fountain Hills Sister Cities Corporation, a 501(c) (3) non-profit organization, was formed to foster such relationships with the Town of Fountain Hills and its citizens. These strong relationships exist between Fountain Hills and three global communities, including Dierdorf, Germany; Ataco, El Salvador; and Zamosc, Poland.

The Sister Cities program was initiated locally by former mayor, the late Jerry Miles, and the late Alan Cruikshank. The organization has grown, with added board members and volunteers. Annual fundraisers and membership drives provide financial support for the group and its various activities, including student exchanges.

The local Sister Cities Corporation is a member of the State of Arizona Sister Cities organization. Town government has also established a Sister Cities Commission to provide liaison and support for the Sister Cities Corporation and its activities.

The mission of Fountain Hills Sister Cities Corporation is to "provide opportunities for the people of our area to develop relationships through volunteers who reach out to interact with citizens of our Sister Cities. We seek to achieve international understanding, cultural sensitivities, humanitarian efforts and encourage trade and tourism. This is accomplished through cultural and student exchanges, educational programs and community events."

Ataco. El Salvador

The Sister City concept was developed in 1956 when President Dwight D. Eisenhower launched a program known as the Town Affiliation Association of the United States, more commonly known as Sister Cities International. The movement created a way for local governments and everyday citizens to help bring together many cultures of the world.

The current Fountain Hills Sister Cities board includes President and Dierdorf Committee Chair, Christine Colley; State and International Director, Carol Carroll; Vice President Elizabeth Matej-Horchem; Recording Secretary and Pen Pal Coordinator, Lisa Ristuccia; Treasurer, Chandra Merica; Director of Social Media, Suzanne Nann; Co-Director of Social Media, Joanne Colella; Ataco Committee Chair, Byron Roman; Honorable Consul to Poland and Zomasc Committee Co-Chair, Bogumil Horchem; Zomasc Committee Chair, Kate Auchanek; Membership Chair, Sascha Jannsen; Membership Co-Chair, Rosa Jannsen; City Commission Chair, Bev Tall; Student Exchange Coordinator, Luke Salzman; Student Exchange Coordinator, Chris Peterson; Student Exchange Representative, Michael Suchanek.

Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation

Mham jik'gah (hello)

Bernadine Burnette

On behalf of the Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation, I'm honored to welcome you to the Northeast Valley and the ancestral homeland of the Yavapai people. There is much to see and do here.

The Northeast Valley is an incredibly beautiful region, where the upper Sonoran Desert meets the mountains. We have lived here since time immemorial. Prior to European settlement, our ancestors roamed a huge area, extending from the Colorado River east to the Mazatzal Mountains, and from the Mogollon Rim south to the Gila River. Today we live on our 40-square-miles reservation established in 1903. The Verde River flows through the center of our Reservation, and Four Peaks surveys the region. The Verde River and Four Peaks are of great importance to our people and play a prominent role in our history.

To help our people and the local community grow and prosper, we operate several enterprises here in Fort McDowell. Our spectacular new We-Ko-Pa Casino Resort features state-of-the-art gaming along with a variety of casual and fine dining establishments, event venues and Native American design elements. The AAA Four Diamond hotel is the perfect getaway, with 246 luxurious guestrooms and suites, two resort-style pools, cabanas and relaxing treatments at the Amethyst Spa.

We-Ko-Pa Golf Club features two golf courses with stunning panoramic views that consistently rank among the top courses in the country. If you're a bit more adventurous – or would like to enjoy our beautiful Sonoran Desert from a different perspective – we offer a venue to host unique events and banquets. Check out our Segway tours, horse trail rides, cattle drives, or come along for a wagon ride and other Wild West experiences only at Fort McDowell Adventures.

We're honored to be part of the Fountain Hills community and hope to see you soon.

Fountain Hills Schools

Fountain Hills Unified School District (FHUSD) is one of 58 districts in Maricopa County.

FHUSD consolidated campuses (see Consolidation story) and added Little Falcons Preschool to the district ahead of the 2023-24 school year.

Students from Fountain Hills, the Fort McDowell Yavapai Nation, Sunflower and Goldfield Ranch make up the student population in the four schools.

FHUSD is able to keep the student/teacher ratios well within board-mandated guidelines with a staff of more than 100 highly qualified teachers. Working together, FHUSD administrators and teachers have molded a strong educational curriculum that has resulted in Fountain Hills High School previously receiving an A+ grade from the Arizona Department of Education and McDowell Mountain Elementary School previously receiving the distinguished A+ School of Excellence rating from the Arizona Education Foundation.

Fountain Hills High School received an "A" rating each year from 2018-2021 and was also named to the U.S. News & World Report National Best High Schools list three years in a row from 2019 to 2021.

Administration

The district's administrative office is located at 16000 E. Palisades Blvd., adjacent to the high school campus. The telephone number is (480) 664-5000. The district maintains a website at fountainhillsschools.org.

For newcomers

- Entrance age requirements -- Pupils entering kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Aug. 31. A certified birth certificate must be presented at registration so a copy can be made.
- Immunization -- All enrolling students must provide proof of immunization as required by Arizona state law. Residents should make sure their child's records are forwarded to the appropriate school in Fountain Hills.
- Open enrollment -- Children who do not live in the district may be admitted through open enrollment. Parents must provide transportation for pupils not living within the district.

- Students living in designated areas are provided bus transportation. Residents can contact the administration office for specific information, bus routes and schedules. A bus with a wheelchair lift is available for students with special needs.
- Each school has an equipped nurse's room staffed with an accredited nurse's aide. The district's registered nurse serves all three campuses, visits each on a regular schedule and is available within minutes when needed.

- Accommodations for those with disabilities -- All facilities are handicap accessible; each school provides state-mandated special education for children with special requirements.
- Crosswalks and crossing guards are provided at main intersections near the elementary schools, and bicycle racks are installed at each school.

Consolidation

Understanding recent changes in FHUSD

Fountain Hills Unified School District (FHUSD) changed significantly by consolidating campuses ahead of the 2023-24 school year. The district added a preschool, moved two schools entirely, and administrators hope to cut costs and increase enrollment after consolidation.

McDowell Mountain Elementary School (MMES) switched facilities with Fountain Hills Middle School (FHMS), and FHMS returned to its original location adjacent to Fountain Hills High School (FHHS). Little Falcons Preschool was established in the former MMES kindergarten wing, and the district can regulate HVAC units and other utilities in the unused parts of the former MMES building to save money.

The elementary school is now a standard kindergarten through fifth grade model (K-5), and the middle school is sixth through eighth grades. FHMS and FHHS border each other, like the schools did in the late '90s and early 2000s, but the students are separated by different class, lunch and bus schedules.

"Middle and high school students will be on two independent campuses on the same plot of land, sharing the cafeteria, band room, football field, and possibly art," FHUSD Superintendent Dr. Cain Jagodzinski wrote in a Falcon Focus weekly newsletter to parents. "However, there will be very few interactions between the two schools as our cafeteria is centrally located to serve both schools independently at different times. As a former teacher who taught in this model, I can say with certainty that the model works, and the benefits are numerous."

Together We Can

FOUNTAIN HILLS

Middle school students are closer to high level teachers and courses in the new location, and they will have opportunities to better prepare for high school AP and Capstone classes. The middle and high schools also transitioned to a trimester schedule that allows 58 more instructional hours per year to help stagger class times and keep interactions to a minimum.

Jagodzinski thinks that consolidation and changing schedules will help lead to improved academics. Teachers have more planning time to prepare material for students, and students can focus more on less, since they have one less class per trimester than in a semester.

MMES also received an update to their schedule, building in "Intervention and Enrichment" time to revisit subjects and improve their understanding. Elementary students were upgraded to the newest district facility, and now they have a gym and a grass field for P.E. class, outdoor learning spaces and better lighting throughout the whole building.

The elementary students will also receive new playground equipment and a revamped library. Those projects could not be completed during the summer in the first phase of consolidation, but Jagodzinski said the new planetarium themed library will help create a fun and engaging learning environment focused on innovation and discovery.

FHUSD promoted special education coordinator Leah Gleason to Little Falcons Preschool site director and updated licensing this summer to serve more pre-K children. Parents were on waitlists and preschool enrollment was limited prior to consolidation, but FHUSD saw immediate growth in preschool enrollment after Little Falcons Preschool was introduced.

Community volunteers repainted middle school classrooms and hallways during the spring while the buildings were unused. Most of the consolidation was carried out in-house, with teachers, bus drivers and office staff moving boxes, setting up new rooms and putting in the finishing touches over the summer.

Other Education Opportunities

For those who do not wish to utilize traditional public schools, Fountain Hills is home to a variety of educational options for local youth.

Homeschool

Fountain Hills families have an option for education through the Fountain Hills Christian Home Educators (FHCHE) group. The organization offers resources for parents and guardians seeking alternative education outside of traditional institutions.

FHCHE provides a support system formed by local home school families. The group is a Christian-rooted organization, but families of any faith are welcome to join activities throughout the year.

Students come together several times a month for learning and social opportunities including field trips; science, geography, biography and fine arts fairs; meetings, Mom's Night Out, P.E., yearbook, celebrations and more.

For more information, visit the group's website, fhche.com.

Adamo Education

Adamo Education, a micro school serving children in grades K-8, opened in 2021 in Fountain Hills.

Adamo is partnered with EdKey, Inc., a large charter school network that provides "engaging digital curriculum aligned to state standards." The digital curriculum allows for remote learning, but teachers also do hands-on learning and personalized activities with the students.

The micro school might meet for a few hours each week, or for three full days a week depending on the needs of students, families and teachers. The school is described on Adamo's website as "similar to the one-room schoolhouse from decades ago." In the small learning space, kids across multiple ages learn and socialize together.

For more information or to enroll a child, visit adamoeducation.org or call 480-209-2429.

The school operates out of 16837 E. Palisades Blvd.

The Inspiration Academy

The Inspiration Academy is an innovative K-12 private school that opened in 2022. The school was founded by Lisa Ristuccia, a former Fountain Hills Charter School teacher. Classes are taught in a multi-age collaborative environment, and the students rotate campus locations through the "Community Campus" initiative.

The students rotate between the Fountain Hills Community Center and Library, the River of Time Museum and Shepherd of the Hills church. Academic subjects are taught through interdisciplinary thematic units, hands-on activities, field trips and collaborative projects.

The Inspiration Academy partners with 4-H for meaningful, hands-on activities. 4-H projects are incorporated into the school day and in after-school programs. The school also uses "Community Models," where local professionals come and share their expertise with the students.

For more information about tuition, enrollment, etc., visit the school's website at theinspirationacademy.org or call 480-294-0193.

Living in a desert community filled with critters of every shape and size, awareness is the name of the game.

Nestled along the edge of the McDowell Mountains. Fountain Hills lies within the Sonoran Desert, one of the harshest and most beautiful environments on Earth. The arid climate is home to a wide variety of unique plants and animals that can withstand extreme conditions, which means residents and visitors must take precautions to live in harmony with the natural world around them.

Desert critters are more common in this area due to the undeveloped land in and around the community. People may be surprised by how many kinds of living things inhabit this part of the Sonoran Desert. Following are some of the desert neighbors everyone should keep an eye out for.

Rattlesnakes

Greatly feared and frequently misunderstood, 11 species of rattlesnakes have been identified in Arizona.

The most common include the western diamondback, Mohave, sidewinder, black tailed. speckled and tiger. The bites are rarely fatal to humans but are extremely painful. Caution and common sense should be used when enjoying Arizona's great outdoors. Most bites happen when the victim disturbs or attempts to handle the snake. It's far better to walk around or avoid it. Snakes like to curl up near entryways, so watch your step when you're on your way out the door. Look carefully before placing hands or feet in rocky areas or under bushes or debris.

Scorpions

There are approximately 36 species of scorpions in Arizona. All scorpions can sting, but in the United States only the bark scorpion causes medical problems.

Unfortunately, this venomous scorpion is the most common one found in and around houses in the Sonoran Desert. It chooses to live in defined geographic areas. If a dwelling is built on that geographic area, scorpions will most likely come inside.

The bark scorpion measures from 1 to 1½ inches in length, making it one of the smaller species of scorpions.

Bees

The everyday business of honey bees is generally not too much to buzz about, even when they settle down under the eves or the deck of a home. A significant exception is the Africanized honey bee, which is more aggressive than the European honey bee and is commonly known as "killer bees."

The sting of the Africanized bee is no more potent than that of the European bees, and they also can only sting once. The danger is that they may attack in great numbers at one time.

Black Widow Spiders

A mature female black widow spider has a large, black, shiny body and measures approximately 3/8-inch-long, with one-inch legs. An hour-glass shape in bright red or orange color can be found on the abdomen. Males are smaller, brown in color and non-venomous.

Black widow spider webs are very irregular and strong. They're most often found in areas where water and insects are readily available. Around the home, they can be found under outdoor furniture, barbecue grills, pool pumps, and in storage areas, garages, wood piles, block fences and the corners of porches and patios.

Javelinas

Javelinas can be destructive, making quick work of trash receptacles and other items left outside. They should be given their space. They have weak eyesight, but they are aware of their surroundings and will get aggressive if they feel threatened. And as the book says, "don't call them pig." Javelinas are collared peccaries.

Gila Monsters

This large, heavy-bodied beaded lizard displays contrasting markings of pink, yellow, orange and black. It measures up to 24 inches in length and weighs up to two pounds. While it is the only venomous lizard in the United States, it is a shy creature. Bites to humans usually happen when it is cornered or picked up. The Gila monster prefers canyon bottoms, rocky areas and outlying desert residential areas. It spends less than two weeks per year above ground.

Poison Control Center

People may consider calling the Poison Control Center for advice or direction in the event of a bite or sting from one of these desert dwellers. That telephone number is (800) 222-1222. However, in Fountain Hills, Fire Department medics will respond to bites or stings as a medical emergency. A response is activated by calling 911.

Other Precautions

- Remove debris from the yard.
- Wear heavy work gloves when working in the yard.
- Keep doors and windows sealed tight with weather stripping.
- Make sure openings are sealed, closed or encircled with double-sided sticky tape.

- Fill cracks in the foundation and around water faucets.
- Look before placing a hand under or into something.
- Make regular checks for beehives or swarms. If found, have them removed by pest control or beekeeping experts.
- Operating equipment that produces sound vibrations could disturb beehives or wasp nests.
- Check clothing or linens dried outside before bringing them in the house.
 - Do not leave shoes, boots, clothes or towels outside.
- Wear shoes outside, especially at night around the pool.
- Call the local fire department for help in removing rattlesnakes or Gila monsters that don't leave on their own.

Wildlife

People in Fountain Hills often see wildlife in their own backyards. The four-legged desert denizens include coyotes, javelinas, bobcats, mountain lions and even bears have been known to wander down from the mountains and into Fountain Hills. In general, these animals pose the greatest danger to small pets and children. While an encounter to small pets and children. While an encounter with a wild animal can be exhilarating, they are wild animals and should not be approached.

Don't run away from an animal; it could go into an instinctive chase mode and pursue you.

Stand and face the animal, look it in the eye and raise and wave your arms to appear larger and more intimidating.

Throw rocks if they can be obtained without crouching or bending over. Keep children close and don't allow them to run.

Desert animals come into populated areas looking for food, water and shelter. Don't invite them in. Covotes and javelinas will tear up the garbage and look for dog food or bird seed. Bobcats have been known to curl up on the patio furniture and lounge by the pool on a sunny afternoon. Don't intentionally feed wild animals. When they become accustomed to people, they are most dangerous.

Don't keep pet food or water where it is easily accessible by wildlife. Take steps to prevent rabbits, rodents and other potential food sources for bigger animals away from your property.

DONTFEED

With Fountain Hills nestled within the Sonoran Desert, there is a great temptation for residents to feed or leave food out for the wildlife that shares the community. Local authorities remind everyone this is not only a bad idea but, if done intentionally, it is also illegal. Please, do not feed the wildlife.

Anyone living close to wildlife should do everything possible so that the animals do not become too comfortable around people. This can lead to wildlife attacking people or pets and possibly leading to the animals having to be killed.

Food should never be left out for wildlife. Do not feed outdoor pets more than they need, as simply leaving a dish outdoors with dog food will attract wildlife. All trash should be kept in proper receptacles to avoid attracting curious critters.

Fountain Hills Fire Department, MCSO and more work together to keep the community safe.

Public Safety

As of January 2024, the Town of Fountain Hills began the operation of the Fountain Hills Fire Department, discontinuing its long-time contract arrangement with Rural/Metro Corp. for fire and emergency medical services. The town continues a contract arrangement with the Maricopa County Sheriff's Office for law enforcement services. These arrangements provide the citizens of Fountain Hills with professional, state-of-the-art public safety services 24 hours a day.

Law Enforcement

The Maricopa County Sheriff's Office maintains a squad of patrol deputies in Fountain Hills at all times, with units on the street to respond to emergencies and complaints. MCSO has established Fountain Hills as an administrative district with a command level officer in charge. A lieutenant is second in command and sergeants oversee patrol squads.

Sheriff's deputies assigned to the community provide assistance with community programs and traffic complaints. A school resource officer serves the high school/middle school campus.

A deputy service aide provides deputies with assistance with minor incidents and follow-up reporting, allowing certified deputies to be available for priority calls.

The Sheriff's Office full-service substation in Fountain Hills is in Town Hall on the first floor adjacent to the Municipal Court.

Anonymous Tips

Anonymous tips may be placed to the Maricopa County Sheriff's Office through the "P3 Tips" app.

The P3 application-based format allows residents to remain anonymous when reporting an incident if they choose. The application is available on Apple and Android devices. Simply search for "P3 Tips" where you would normally download an app to your smart device. Users are guided through the setup process, including adding MCSO as the primary law enforcement agency.

Once the application is set up, users can choose from categories before sending a tip, allowing the information to be more easily channeled to the proper authorities. There's even a school category, allowing students to provide anonymous tips directly affecting their school campus.

If the authorities need to get back in touch with the person sending the tip, it will also be handled through the application, anonymously. The P3 app should not be used for emergencies. In those instances, dial the proper authorities directly.

Local first responders are ready to roll, no matter the emergency.

Town moves to take control of fire, emergency medical service

Ends Rural/Metro agreement

By Bob Burns

The Town of Fountain Hills has moved forward this year with taking control of the fire suppression and emergency medical services for the community. Effective Jan. 1, 2024, the Town completed its separation of contract services with Rural/Metro Corp. and opened for business

The major component of the transition was the personnel aspect. The Town has been the owner of the fire station facilities and the rolling apparatus for years. Some firefighter personal safety equipment that was owned by Rural/Metro has been replaced, but a big part of the effort has been bringing most of the former Rural/Metro employees under the Town umbrella. Fire Chief Dave Ott was the first to transfer his employment, with everyone else on board as of Jan. 1.

The changeover also means that the Town has had to obtain dispatch services, which was done through the Mesa Regional Dispatch System with the radio infrastructure part of the TOPAZ system. The Town also has a new agreement with the City of Mesa related to equipment servicing.

In 2022 the Town hired McGrath Consulting to conduct an evaluation of costs and needs associated with the Town taking over fire service. The company came back with recommendations related to personnel needed to comply with National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) standards to qualify for the Phoenix regional automatic aid system. Initially the Town will continue to operate as it has with the same personnel level and continuing backup coverage through individual mutual aid agreements with surrounding fire departments.

The Town has brought in additional staffing for separate human resources and IT needs specific to the fire department as recommended by McGrath.

Initially the budget is slightly higher than the ongoing Rural/Metro contract, however, Town management has stated that costs will level out in ensuing years and contracting with Rural/Metro was likely to get more expensive with updated agreements. Also, Town management said having control over the system will outweigh and additional costs.

Rural/Metro, a private emergency services provider based in Scottsdale, has what amounts to a half-century history in Fountain Hills. The original developer, Mc-

Firefighters respond to a dump truck fire.

Culloch Corp., hired the private firm in the early development stages, primarily as a security contractor at the time. By the late '70s the community had formed a Fire District which took the fiscal responsibility for emergency services and retained the contractor. The district managed the contract through the '80s and '90s and in 2000 the District Board decided to sever its agreement with Rural/Metro and operate fire service itself. By this time the Town had incorporated, and the Town Council believed the District was in error for ending the contract and took over the fire service contract for another 20-plus years until the current decision was made. Rural/Metro cooperated with the transition by one of its best clients.

Local firefighters regularly interact with local youth to make sure the kids are comfortable in the event of an emergency.

Firefighters respond quickly to put out a local blaze.

Transportation

There are several alternatives for Fountain Hills commuters looking to get around the Valley without always relying on a personal vehicle. The metro area has a network of freeways, expanded bus service and a light rail system.

Here are some of the transportation options:

Valley Metro Bus

Fountain Hills is part of a Valley Metro bus route with service access into downtown Phoenix.

The route uses SR 87 (Beeline Highway) to Gilbert Road and south to the Park-and-Ride location at McDowell Road at Loop 202. From that location, riders have access to express service into Phoenix or other routes to the light rail station farther south on Gilbert, as well as bus routes into Mesa and Tempe.

The bus route offers two departures and returns to Fountain Hills. The bus departs the Park and Ride at the library on La Montana Drive at 6:04 and 7:04 a.m. each weekday and returns, leaving for Fountain Hills at 5:06 and 6:20 p.m.

Carpooling

Share The Ride is a free commuter ride-matching service available to residents of Fountain Hills. Call 602-262-7433 for more information or visit sharetheride. com.

Vanpooling

Valley Metro also provides vans to qualifying groups of six to 15 commuters. They share a ride in a van driven by one of the members. Passengers share the cost of operating the van by paying an equitable monthly fare. The fare covers all costs including gas, insurance and van maintenance. Visit valleymetro. org/commute-solutions/vanpool.

Light Rail

Metro light rail operates seven days a week. Trains generally arrive at stations every 12 minutes during daytime hours and every 20 minutes at night, weekends and holidays.

There are a variety of fare options. Transit fare can be purchased from vending machines at all Metro light rail stations and from numerous fare outlets throughout the Valley.

For information, visit valleymetro.org or call 602-254-RAIL(7245).

Give a Lift

The Town of Fountain Hills coordinates a volunteer-based program called "Give a Lift," in which non-handicapped residents with local transportation needs can be serviced by volunteer citizens. These trips are for medical appointments only. Contact Town Volunteer Coordinator Kimberly Wickland at 480-816-5108 or visit fountainhillsaz.gov.
