Robert Herjavec Headshot

Let's Grow Summit by Keap

Robert Herjavec will deliver a keynote titled, "The Will to Win: Leading, Competing and Succeeding." Drawing on compelling anecdotes from his own experiences and interactions with notable figures such as Oprah, Georges St-Pierre, and Celine Dion, Herjavec will discuss the importance of rejecting mediocrity in pursuit of excellence in various fields of work. His insights are designed to inspire attendees to strive for greater success and happiness in their personal and professional lives.

"Robert's message about the drive for excellence is a perfect fit for our mission to help small business owners excel and grow," said Clate Mask, CEO and Co-founder of Keap. "His keynote will undoubtedly energize and empower our attendees, providing them with the motivation and strategies needed to transform their businesses."

Formerly known as the Keap ikon conference, the Let's Grow Summit is designed to train and inspire small business owners to take control of their growth and lead the way in their industries as well as train them to better use Keap's automation to grow their businesses.

Attendees will benefit from networking opportunities, learning from top industry leaders, and gaining a deeper understanding of how Keap's integrated CRM and marketing solutions can transform their businesses.
